HOUSE KILLS DEBENTURE

Plan Beaten by Heavy Vote

Speedy Enactment of Farm Relief Bill Assured by Action

Voluntary Conference and Ten-Day Delay Now Remain

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—A farm relief bill drawn to meet the views of President Hoover was assured today by House rejection of the export debenture plan by a 250-to-113 vote.

The vote had been demanded by the Senate. After debenture leaders, sure beforehand of the overwhelming majority against their proposal, had declared to further obstacles in the enactment of agricultural legislation would be interposed by them.

SENATE MAKES MOTION

The remaining procedure necessary to send the farm bill to the White House will be perfunctory. A joint conference committee will be named and again report to the branches of Congress asking approval of the administration bill which Tuesday by the Senate. Leaders were hopeful this final action would be accomplished Saturday and the farm measure sent to the President before nightfall.

The House vote was taken on a motion by Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the majority leader, that the conferees to insist upon the retention of the debenture plan. Tilson was supported by 217 Republicans and 33 Democrats, while 99 Democrats and 13 Republicans who joined with the Democratic leaders in favor of debenture were Hall, Browne, Lampert, and Schneider of Wisconsin; Campbell of Iowa, Christgau and Kvale of Minnesota, James of Michigan, Johnson and Williamson of South Dakota, Lambertson of Kansas and Shallenberger of Nebraska.

DEMOCRATIC VOTE

Democrats not voting, but paired in favor of debenture were Christopherson of South Dakota, and Langley of Minnesota, the only Democratic member in the House who was paired in favor of the measure.

Those who voted to sustain President Hoover's opposition to the debenture plan were Aswell of Louisiana, Auf Der Heide of New York, Bacon, Boylan, Carpenter, Fitzpatrick, Fulbright, Lanham, Lindsay, Mead, Quayle, Sollenberger and Sullivan of New York, Connery of Massachusetts, Douglass of Arizona, Douglass of Massachusetts, Gasque and Yon of Florida, Gilbert of Kentucky, Lea of California, Montague, Moore and Woodruff.

Hoover Scores Two Victories, One Defeat

WASHINGTON, June 13. (Exclusive)—President Hoover scored two victories, one of them of tremendous proportions, and suffered one defeat at the hands of Congress this afternoon in the most eventful day of the special session to date.

The House of Representatives killed the export debenture farm relief plan by the overwhelming majority of 250 to 113.

The Senate ratified the conference report on the reapportionment-census bill, completing enactment of the measure.

Then the Senate reverted to form and again rebuffed President Hoover by rejecting repeal of the national origins immigration quotas.

Senate Majority Defeats Nye Effort to Get Immediate Action on Repeal

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—The recommendation of President Hoover for suspension of the national origins immigration quota basis was laid aside today by the Senate and it appeared certain tonight that the new and stricter immigration system will go into effect July 1, next.

The Senate refused, 43 to 37, to adopt the resolution of Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, to bring up for immediate consideration his resolution for repeal of the new quota basis. The resolution consequently is left with the Senate Immigration Committee and the committee has voted to postpone its consideration indefinitely.

REVERSAL OF STANDS

Party lines were swept aside on the immigration vote. Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, led the opposition to the Hoover proposal. He had the support of twenty-four Democrats, including the solid southern representation, and eighteen other Republicans.

The vote developed an interesting

Chicago Police Ban Negro Show

CHICAGO, June 13. (Exclusive)—Censorship of stage plays in Chicago by the police department went a step farther today when Commissioner Russell ordered "Harlem," an all-colored production at the New Apollo, to close after tonight's performance. This is the second show closed this week by Commissioner Russell, "Frankie and Johnnie" being forced to discontinue yesterday.

The commissioner's action was taken after the board of motion-picture censors had reported to him that "Harlem" was indecent.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Have you been reading about the disgraceful way the Senate has been carrying on lately? You know our old forefathers that laid out the time that our Congress was to meet knew something. They always held Congress in cool weather. They knew a Senator couldn't stand up under the heat and his position, too. When hot weather hits him not only his body but his brain perspires, and the discharge from both is equally useless. This has been a great lesson to Mr. Hoover. If he held office as long as Queen Victoria he would never call 'em again when the thermometer is high.

Yours,

WILL.

CENSUS BILL TO HOOVER

Reapportioning in Measure

Senate Votes Its Approval After Battle on Civil Service Feature

States' Seats in House to be Fixed Automatically by Enumerations

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—The eight-year-old effort for reapportionment of the House of Representatives was terminated successfully today by Senate approval of the revised bill authorizing the 1930 census and reapportionment of House seats on basis of that census.

It is the first of the four legislative proposals recommended to the extra session by President Hoover to be sent to the White House. Senator Jones of Washington, the assistant Republican leader, directed Senate attention to that fact after it had voted, 48 to 37, for the measure as finally formulated in conference with House members.

PROTEST CHANGE

Elimination by conferees of the Senate and House of the Senate provision placing the 100,000 employees required for taking the census under the civil service was protested before the vote was permitted. Eight Democrats joined the Republican majority in supporting the bill and as many Republicans voted with the Democratic minority against it.

The measure not only authorizes a reapportionment of the House before March 4, 1931, on the basis of the 1930 census and on the basis of the present membership of 435, but it also provides for automatic reapportionment of the House after every decennial census.

CARRIES $40,000,000

The House never has revised its membership since the 1920 census as is required by the Constitution.

The bill carries $40,000,000 for the taking of the census and stipulates that the census shall be begun April 1, 1930.

Under the legislation, the President is directed to transmit to the House at the short session beginning in December, 1930, the results of the census and the allotment of members of the House to which each State shall be entitled under that census. If Congress does not approve the reapportionment in that session, the Presidential decree then goes into effect.

WAGNER BATTLES

Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, author of the Senate provision placing the census employees under civil service, led the protest against elimination of this amendment in the final draft of the bill. He was joined by Senators Norris, Republican, Nebraska, and Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who contended it amounted to a surrender to the "spoils system."

The bill does stipulate that the special agents required for taking the census be employed under civil service regulations but the vast army of enumerators will be left to appointment.

Northwestern Develops New Anesthetic

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—A local anesthetic which produces anesthesia in from one-half to one-third the time required by drugs formerly used was demonstrated successfully today at Northwestern University dental college.

The new solution is ethyocaine borate. It was said to be much faster and safer than other drugs. H. C. Benedict, assistant professor of chemistry in the dental college, and Dr. Harold C. Dailey, instructor in oral surgery and pharmacology, proved the efficiency of the new anesthetic with experiments on gold fish and white mice during the past two years, the announcement said.

REDS MOVE ON CHINA

Troops Invade Manchuria

Action of Soviet Result of Raids on Russian Consulates

Occupation Intended to Force Satisfaction for Wrongs

LONDON, June 14. (Friday) (AP) The Express today prints a dispatch from Peking, China, saying that soviet Russia has launched the first direct war move against China following the recent raids on soviet consulates in Manchuria. Soviet troops are reported to have crossed the Siberian border and to have established outposts east of Manchouli.

The soviets are said to be rushing reinforcements in special trains over the Trans-Siberian Railway.

Chang Hsueh-Liang, dictator of Manchuria in succession to his father, the late Chang Tso-Lin, has sent an urgent appeal to Nanking advising that measures be taken to protect his territory.

A plenary session of the central executive has been convened hurriedly to consider the situation.

The Express says that outer Mongolia already may be considered diplomatically the ally of Russia, whose next move probably will be occupation of part of Manchuria to be held until satisfaction for recent raids on soviet consulates is received and the ownership of the Chinese Eastern Railway settled.

The government of Nanking is said to have been notified by its consuls in Russia that the consulates are surrounded by Russian troops.

The Russian outposts are said to be at Khailar, Northwestern Manchuria. Provincial troops are under arms at Heilungkiang and others are available at Kirin and Pengtien.

Kurds Reported to be in Revolt Against Turkey

JERUSALEM, June 13. (AP)—The newspaper L'Orient of Beirut published a dispatch from a special correspondent in Kurdistan yesterday stating that Kurd tribes have organized an armed revolt apparently seeking to set up a Kurd government.

After the defeat of the first Kurd revolt in 1925, says the dispatch, some of the Kurd tribes fled into the mountains of Ararat and have now organized a revolt whose purpose seems to be the separation of the southeastern part of Turkey between Lake Van and the Persian and Irak boundaries from Turkey.

Harry Frazee Leaves Estate Set at $50,000

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Harry H. Frazee, theatrical producer and former owner of the American League baseball club of Boston, left an estate of approximately $50,000 at his death on the 4th inst., his widow, Mrs. Margaret Frazee, estimated today in applying for letters of administration.

Mrs. Frazee, who said that no will had been found, was appointed administratrix by Surrogate Foley. The estate will be divided between her and a son, Harry H. Frazee, of New Rochelle, N. Y.

"What So Proudly We Hail"

LONDON SEES NEW DISEASE

Deaths Following Vaccination Spread Alarm; Attacks Have High Fatality

LONDON, June 13. (Exclusive)—Has a new disease appeared in London?

That is what doctors here are asking today as the result of two inquests into deaths following vaccination.

The Coroner at one of the inquests remarked that seven cases of death following vaccination had come to his notice within the last few weeks, and that there had been thirty-two deaths since July, 1928.

Death following vaccination was very rare in the past, but when the recent smallpox scare occurred in England hundreds of persons were vaccinated, and a number of deaths followed. The cause of death is given as postvaccinal encephalitis—inflammation of the brain. A suggested explanation is that virus of sleeping sickness dormant in the victim was brought out by vaccination, as is known to happen occasionally as the result of primary vaccination or measles.

FEARED NEW AILMENT

The number of cases, however, led to the suggestion in the medical profession that a new disease had appeared. This suggestion is less fantastic than it seems. Diseases, like animal and plant species, are apt to become extinct. A study of the classics leads to the belief that some plagues and maladies of ancient times now have vanished, while certain modern diseases appear to have been unknown until fairly modern times.

That the vaccine is not faulty is shown by the fact that in every case the same vaccine was used as in other vaccinations from which the patients did not acquire the disease.

A servant girl, who died after being vaccinated a few days ago, with twenty-seven others, was vaccinated with the same government vaccine and none of the others felt any ill effects.

SWIFT AND DEADLY

Encephalitis, which develops after vaccination, is swift and deadly. Nearly 50 per cent of the cases are fatal. One of the cases investigated today is typical. A 10-year-old girl was in good health when vaccinated May 11. On May 24 she became drowsy and showed typical signs of sleeping sickness, she lost consciousness on the following day and died on May 27.

The number of cases has thrown a scare in England, people hesitating to have their children vaccinated.

NEW METER SAFEGUARD IN SUNBURN

Perfection of Scientific Gauge for Ultra-violet Rays Announced

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Creation of a sunburn meter, an outstanding scientific achievement, was announced tonight to the New York Electrical Society by Dr. H. C. Rentschler, director of research for the Westinghouse Lamp Company, and newly elected president of the society.

The meter uses a photo-electric cell to make an automatic, written record and measurement of the presence of ultra-violet rays, the invisible wave lengths of light that cause sunburn.

These same rays possess curative powers which have come into such wide use with artificial sunlight lamps that recently medical authorities have broadcast warnings against overdoing. The danger has been in lack of any sure way of measuring the invisible but powerful rays. The new meter is designed to furnish a safeguard.

A slight modification of present photo-electric cells is the basis of the new meter. The modification is use of uranium, a rare metal, as the sensitised coating inside the cell. The function of this coating is to react to light by emitting a stream of electrons—that is, a measurable electric force. The uranium is specially sensitive to the wave lengths of light that cause sunburn.

AID RUSHING TO BESIEGED DESERT POST

Pick of French Foreign Legion May Reach Scene of Moorish Attack Today

RABAT (Morocco) June 13. (AP)—Relief for the besieged French outpost at Ait Yakoub, surrounded by 3000 well-armed Moorish tribesmen, is expected within thirty-six hours.

Eight thousand shock troops, the pick of the hard-fighting French Foreign Legion, under the command of Gen. Freydenberg, advanced rapidly today on the beleaguered desert post. Gen. Freydenberg expects to relieve the post before Saturday. He is prepared to strike a smashing blow at the tribesmen in their lair.

Within three days, he counts on killing, capturing and dispersing the besiegers of Ait Yakoub, who are well organized and equipped with arms of modern warfare.

The latest official figures for the casualties in the fighting on the 8th and 9th inst. were eighty-one killed and missing.

Official advices said that a hot attack launched against the post yesterday morning was broken up by three squadrons of airplanes from the field at Rich, which dropped 600 bombs besides using machine guns vigorously on the attackers. Observers this morning reported seeing groups of the tribesmen apparently wending their way toward home.

The strength of the garrison is said to be staill about 300 men with two field guns. Since the attacking strength has not increased the post is believed reasonably safe from capture.

PARIS PLANE EN ROUTE

Yellow Bird Last Reported 1050 Miles Southeast of Old Orchard

Green Flash Cracks Up in Take-off Attempt But Crew Escapes

NEW YORK, June 14. (Exclusive)—At 1:08 o'clock this morning (eastern daylight saving time) the French monoplane Yellow Bird had been fifteen hours at sea on its flight to Paris. At its calculated average speed of 100 miles an hour the plane was reckoned as being more than 1500 miles on its way.

The last report of its exact location, however, was timed 6:45 p.m. yesterday, when the steamship Wytheville sighted the plane about 1050 miles east by south from Old Orchard, Me., its starting point. Numerous ships are in the path of the plane, but are not expected to sight the Yellow Bird during the dark night hours.

OLD ORCHARD (Me.) June 13. (AP)—Somewhere over the Atlantic tonight three young Frenchmen are thought to be driving their plane—the Yellow Bird—on toward Paris.

The huge single-motored monoplane, shipped from France for the flight, sped down the beach here and at ninety-four miles an hour lifted gracefully into the air at 10:08 a.m., (eastern standard time.)

While the French plane sailed on its way to the capital of the European republic—and glory for its crew, Armeno Lotti, Jr., sponsor and copilot; Jean Assolant, pilot, and Rene Lefevre, navigator—the Green Flash, groomed for a hop to Rome, crashed in an attempt to take off and was wrecked.

Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, pilot and navigator, respectively, of the plane, escaped uninjured when the wheels spread and the plane nosed over and whirled about.

POSSIBLE STOWAWAY

There was a possibility that a stowaway was aboard the Yellow Bird. Two men told of seeing a youth clamber aboard while the motor was being warmed up and the parents of Arthur Schreiber of Portland, Me., were advised by two of his friends that he had secreted himself in the plane.

The Yellow Bird was reported passing over Matinicus Rock Light twenty miles off the coast from Rockland, a little more than an hour after the take-off, flying fast and about 1200 feet high.

When the Coast Guard amphibian which started with the French plane last saw her she was at an altitude of 3400 feet and speeding on at 115 miles an hour.

ALTERNATE COURSES

Before the take-off Lotti announced that he would touch the tip of Cape Sable and then head for the "corner," the junction of the ship lanes approximately 1200 miles east southeast of Old Orchard.

From there he had two courses in mind. The southern would take him over the Azores and make the flight over 4300 miles; the northern would take them to longitude 47, latitude 29, and thence east to St. Nazaire and Paris, a total distance of only 3700 miles. Conditions when he reached the "corner" were to determine the course.

If the plane maintained an average speed of 100 miles an hour, which was considered probable, it should have been far beyond Cape Sable at 6 o'clock tonight.

The Yellow Bird also should have made its way through the "thick" weather which covered the ocean for about 200 miles off the coast.

Dr. James H. Kimball, New York weather man, said they would have "as near perfect" weather as would ever be found over the north Atlantic.

BRIDE SEES START

Lotti, who also acted as radio man, said he would not send any messages until the ship had traveled at least 1000 miles.

To Jean Assolant fell the responsibility and the honor of tak-

NEGRO GUEST SENATE TOPIC

News Item on White House Tea and Attendance of Mrs. De Priest Read on Request

WASHINGTON, June 13. (Exclusive)—Washington's choicest bit of gossip, the fact that Mrs. Hoover entertained Mrs. Oscar De Priest, wife of Chicago's colored House member, at a White House tea yesterday, today provided the Senate with a few minutes' diversion.

While southern Democrats chuckled at what they believed was the discomfiture of their northern Republican colleagues, the reading clerk, at the request of Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, read an item appearing in a local paper today as follows:

"Washington society is enjoying a little excitement over the fact that Mrs. Hoover yesterday afternoon entertained Mrs. Oscar De Priest at tea. Mrs. De Priest is the wife of the colored Representative from Illinois. Society still is mindful of the storm of discussion that resulted from President Roosevelt's action in entertaining Booker T. Washington, the great colored educator, at dinner.

"That a similar teapot tempest will follow Mrs. Hoover's course is regarded as altogether unlikely, but the incident appears to have provided a subject of absorbing conversation today.

"Others at the small tea party included Mrs. James W. Good, wife of the Secretary of War; Mrs. William Mitchell, wife of the Attorney-General; Mrs. Arthur M. Free, wife of the California Representative; Mrs. Clyde Kelly, wife of the Pennsylvania Representative, and Miss Grace Burton, niece of the Ohio Senator.

"At the White House it was explained that the tea, an informal affair, was the last of a series of similar functions given by Mrs. Hoover in honor of the wives of Representatives since the special session convened and that more than 100 guests attended."

BRITISH GASP AT DAWES PEP

(Copyright, 1929, Chicago Tribune)

LONDON, June 13. (Exclusive)—Charles Gates Dawes, Ambassador to the Court of St. James, who arrives in England tomorrow, is setting an example of Yankee hustle which is causing Britons to gasp.

He is due at Southampton at 3 o'clock Saturday morning he will go to Windsor to present his credentials to the King and then, a full-fledged Ambassador, will take the night train for Forres, Scotland, where he will meet Premier MacDonald for a couple of hours of lunch and conversation and return to London the same night.

No such energy in Ambassadors ever has been known here and officials do not know what to make of it. In justice to the new government, it must be said that Mr. MacDonald welcomes it and is disposed to meet Mr. Dawes half way in cutting out the unnecessary red tape and getting down to the essential business of clearing up Anglo-American misunderstandings.

The meeting of the Prime Minister and Mr. Dawes was arranged by radio on Mr. MacDonald's initiative.

In an interview today Mr. MacDonald said:

"In this short space of time three or four great questions of Anglo-American co-operation in the cause of disarmament and permanent peace will be opened. I hope nothing will stand in the way of this attainment. My talk with Gen. Dawes will be the most informal thing that ever happened. At this lunch, which will be one of the most informal lunches ever held in politics, Gen. Dawes and I shall discuss the great question of Anglo-American co-operation in the cause of disarmament and permanent peace.

That the determination exists on both sides of the Atlantic to come to a firm understanding is well known. In the ordinary course of events it would not be necessary for Gen. Dawes to call on me at once, but the condition of affairs is such that neither he nor I is anxious that there should be any delay in talking over this vital question."

into the eagerly waiting craft into the air with his bride of three days excitedly watching the huge airplane gain momentum as it traveled down the beach. He took it aloft with a run of less than a mile and a half, gained a few hundred feet of altitude and swung it about to the east.

LINDBERGH WITNESS?

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, first to make the west-to-east flight across the Atlantic to Paris, may have been a distant spectator of the start of the flight of the Yellow Bird.

The Coast Guard station at Fletcher's Neck reported that a boat answering the description of the cruiser in which Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh have been honeymooning along the Maine coast, was sighted off Biddeford Pool a few miles from here, at 2:20 o'clock this afternoon.

The colonel could easily have laid off shore and with binoculars viewed the run down the beach and the start of the flight.

SWEDISH FLYERS SET FOR DASH FROM ICELAND

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, June 13. (AP)—The three Swedish flyers tonight, after a trial flight demonstrating the efficacy of repairs to their seaplane Sverige, are ready here for a fourth attempt to reach Greenland on their Stockholm-to-New York flight.

Capt. Albin Ahrenberg awaits only late and favorable weather reports from Ivigtut to set out westward again. Preliminary information is more optimistic than on yesterday and the flyers are hopeful that they will not have long to wait.

The radiator of the Junkers monoplane required their attention most of the morning, but showed no sign of weakness when they went up for a brief party in the afternoon.

A high hurricane reported at Ivigtut this morning was said to be moving southeastward and the aviators [illegible] seem to understand delivery of their consignment of mail to New York.

POSSIBLE TIME OF ARRIVAL SET FOR THIS MORNING

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Should the Yellow Bird follow the course of the two routes under consideration when it left Old Orchard and if it could maintain its maximum speed of 150 miles an hour throughout the flight, it would arrive in Paris shortly before 11 a.m. eastern daylight time (7 a.m. Pacific standard time) tomorrow.

The length of this shorter route is 3700 miles, which could be covered at the plane's maximum speed in slightly less than twenty-five hours. At the same speed over the 4000-mile alternate course by way of the Azores and Portugal, arrival would be delayed until shortly before 2 p.m. tomorrow E.D.T. (11 a.m. Pacific time.)

It was not believed likely, however, that anything like maximum speed could be maintained over the whole distance. At the plane's cruising speed of 120 miles an hour the flight would be completed in between twenty-eight and twenty-nine hours along the shorter route, or by 3 p.m. tomorrow. On the longer route thirty-three hours would be needed, placing the arrival between 7 and 8.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took thirty-three hours and a half for his 3600 miles flight to Paris. Col. Clarence D. Chamberlin took forty-two hours for his flight of 3790 miles. Both of these flyers, however, had ships of less potential speed than the Yellow Bird.

YOUTH BELIEVED TO BE YELLOW BIRD STOWAWAY

PORTLAND (Me.) June 13. (AP)—Arthur Schreiber, 22 years of age, tonight was believed to be a stowaway aboard the Yellow Bird as it winged its way to France.

A letter written to his parents here have convinced them that he stowed away before the huge monoplane raced down the sands on the take-off.

"God will save my boy," Mrs. Schreiber said as she walked the floor of her home awaiting some word from the plane.

The letter was given to the Schreibers this afternoon by a chum of young Schreiber. The envelope carried the instruction, "not to be opened until three hours after the departure of the Green Flash for Rome."

The letter indicated that the young man first intended to stow away in the American plane, which cracked up when it tried to take off. It was believed that he discovered there was no room in the Green Flash and accordingly climbed into the Yellow Bird.

A youth known only as Clark told Mrs. Schreiber over the telephone that he and their son had flipped a coin to see which should attempt to stowaway and that Arthur won.

Canadians Raid Wet Gun Club

WINDSOR (Ont.) June 13. (AP)—The Shawnee Gun Club of Tecumseh, scene of the grand international trapshooting tournament, was raided today by Provincial police who seized two pitchers of whisky and three quarter-barrels of beer, they reported.

British Miners to Press Claims

LONDON, June 13. (AP)—The Miners' Federation is understood tonight to have decided to press the new Labor government for early fulfillment of its campaign pledge to strive in the first session of Parliament for repeal of the eight-hour act passed by the Conservative government after the miners' and general strike.

The miners want restoration of the seven-hour working day.

Driver Asleep, Car Hits Pole

SAN RAFAEL, June 13. (AP)—A nonstop automobile run from Phoenix, Ariz., to Clear Lake ended in disaster today for O. C. Knight, 50 years of age, and C. R. Sabin, 51, when their touring car struck a telephone pole and overturned near Ignacio, eight miles north of here. Knight was seriously injured, while Sabin suffered minor cuts.

Sabin said Knight apparently fell asleep at the wheel, losing control of the car. The men had been driving continuously for nearly twenty-four hours, he said. Both are from Lake county.

Cyclone Ruins Black's Plane

CALCUTTA (India) June 13. (AP)—As if the damage done to the monoplane Maryland Free State, in landing at the Dum Dum airdrome Monday were not enough, a cyclone last night destroyed the luxurious craft of Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher.

reversal in the attitude of the Senate, the majority of the insurgent Republicans who voted against President Hoover on the farm relief bill supporting his position on the origins issue, while nineteen, more than half of the Republicans who stood by the President against the debenture, opposed his request on the origins measure.

President Hoover already has issued the proclamation putting the new quota basis into effect July 1, as required by law, but he did so with a protest and an appeal for suspension.

The national-origins provision was made a part of the 1924 act, which called for restriction of immigration to 2 per cent of the nationalities represented here in the census of 1890, while the national-origins basis was being worked out. Three times Congress has postponed putting the new basis into operation.

The national-origins provisions call for allowing immigration to this country from other countries in proportion to the representation of those populations in the American population of 1924.

REDUCTION INFLUX

Under the new basis, annual immigration would be cut from the 165,000 now allowed to about 153,000. Great Britain, Scotland and Northern Ireland would be given the preponderance of the immigration while Germany and the Scandinavian countries would lose from their present quotas.

Most of the debate hinged around arguments that the new quotas would discriminate against Germany and the Scandinavian countries.

Senators Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, and Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, joined the demand for repeal of the new basis. Senator Allen, Republican, Kansas, asked that the question be postponed another year to permit a "scientific study."

A comparison of yearly quotas under the present basis and under national origins for countries around which most of the controversy centered, follows:

	Present	National Origins
England, Scotland, Wales	34,007	65,721
Germany	51,227	51,227
Ireland	17,853	17,853
Denmark	2,789	1,181
Norway	6,453	2,377
Sweden	9,561	3,312
France	3,954	3,954
Italy	3,845	5,802
Belgium	512	1,563

Creager Senate Tirade Renewed by Brookhart

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Chairman Brookhart of the Senate Patronage Committee resumed his attack on R. B. Creager, Republican National Committeeman for Texas, in the Senate today by calling attention to "newspaper reports" that Creager was collecting a $100,000 campaign fund in his State this year.

Brookhart declared that "this referee named Creager who selects Federal appointees in Texas" collected notes amounting to $680,000 in 1921 and $38,000 in 1925. This, he said, was developed in testimony before his committee.

"Now newspaper reports," he said, "declare that he is collecting $100,000 this year."

The two are under arrest in the coast city jail. Officers say that Monohan and Black are the heads of a ring of car thieves who operated throughout the western States.

DEBENTURE DIES IN HOUSE VOTE

rum of Virginia, O'Connell of Rhode Island, Smith of West Virginia and Whittington of Mississippi, twenty-five in all.

Democrats paired against the debentures were Spearing and De Rouen of Louisiana, O'Connell and Corning of New York, Norton of New Jersey and Connery of Massachusetts.

CHEERS GREET RESULT

The vote was taken without debate. Representative Tilson, in offering his motion, said by voting upon it the House would assure farm-relief legislation in the quickest manner. None of the leaders raised the constitutional question whether the Senate had the right to initiate debentures. This was the question against which the House had stood firm, after it was voted into the farm bill by the Senate.

Cheers greeted the announcement of the vote and Speaker Longworth immediately named the conferees to make formal notification of the House's action to the joint conference committee.

Senator McNary of Oregon called a meeting of this committee for tomorrow. It probably will last only long enough to vote to return the administration farm bill to both houses tomorrow and ask its approval. Under the rules of both the Senate and House, the measure then must lie over a day before it can be considered.

VINEYARDISTS WILL CELEBRATE BILL SIGNATURE

FRESNO, June 13. (Exclusive)—Acting on the belief that Congress will within a short time adopt a program of farm relief through which the grape growers of the San Joaquin Valley will be able to carry out the stabilization program which is now before them as the result of efforts of the California Vineyardists' Association and other agencies, a local advisory committee today laid plans for a vigorous drive for grower support of the plan.

Passage of the farm-relief bill by Congress is to be the signal for the start of an intensive drive for grower signatures to the raisin purchase program, and signing of the document by President Hoover will be marked by a valley-wide celebration, according to the plans mapped out today.

Suspension of business with closing of stores from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the day the bill is signed and holding of mass meetings in every city and town in the valley as a means of relaunching the grower campaign, is the program as proposed by the committee. The major celebration will be held in Fresno, with T. T. C. Gregory, chief counsel for the Stabilization Corporation, as the speaker. Gregory has been in Washington for several weeks working out details of the stabilization program.

RAIL OFFICIAL DENIES FARM DEPRESSION

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—A denial that American farmers are suffering from agricultural depression was made today by A. B. Enoch of Chicago, representing western railroads, before the Interstate Commerce Commission in its investigation of freight rates on grain and grain products.

The investigation is being made under the provisions of the Hoch-Smith resolution whereby Congress directed the commission to put into effect the lowest possible lawful rate consistent with service as a farm-relief measure.

When Enoch made his statement, Commissioner Eastman inquired:

"Do you think we can accept that statement when Congress is in special session at the present moment at the call of President Hoover to enact farm-relief legislation."

"You can," Enoch replied. "I think the record in this case shows there was complete recovery in 1925."

REPUBLICAN WOMEN DENOUNCE DEBENTURE

The so-called debenture plan, proposed as a part of the farm-relief bill, yesterday was characterized as "iniquitous and vicious" and "contrary to sound economic principles," in a resolution adopted by the women's advisory committee of the Los Angeles City Republican Committee at a meeting in the Hotel Clark. Mrs. H. G. Redwine, chairman, presided.

Church Officials Meet With Portes Gil Again

President Gives Out Little on Negotiations

MEXICO CITY, June 13. (AP)—A hint that the world may know by the end of the week whether religious peace has been made in Mexico was given by Bishop Pascual Diaz tonight as he left Chapultepec Castle with Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz after talking for an hour and a half with President Portes Gil.

Asked when a statement on the conference could be made, the bishop replied, "Perhaps within three days." The conference was the second long one within two days and, as after yesterday's opening meeting, the bishops left the council room in seeming good humor. They posed for photographs but seemed anxious to get away.

Bishop Diaz said the time for the next conference had not yet been fixed. In response to a question whether the conferences were proceeding satisfactorily he replied only, "We are talking."

President Portes Gil said he did not know whether there would be another conference, but beyond that refused comment.

The Catholic churches throughout the capital tonight were visited by constant streams of devout, many carrying lighted candles and all praying for prompt settlement of the church question.

VATICAN CITY, June 13. (AP)—The Vatican today still maintained silence regarding the reported negotiations in Mexico City concerning the religious question.

CHARITY AIDED BY MRS THAW

Philanthropist's Kind Hand Stopped by Death

Bequests Left to Relatives, Churches and Schools

Several Californians Get Cash or Property

PITTSBURGH, June 13. (AP)—In death, as in life, the helping hand of Mary Copley Thaw, philanthropist, today was extended, through her will and testament, to various charities and church organizations in the United States and abroad. No estimate of the value of the vast estate was given in the will filed for probate today. Mrs. Thaw, 86 years of age, died last week.

After setting down scores of bequests to relatives, friends, employees, charities, church organizations and schools, Mrs. Thaw's will called attention to the fact that her children, Harry K., Josiah C., Mrs. Alice Thaw Whitney, the former Countess of Yarmouth, and Countess Margaret Carnegie De Perigny, received large financial legacies from their father. She therefore determined to administer her own estate during her lifetime and steadily gave "to such benevolent work as providence has from time to time indicated."

ESTATE REDUCED

"Knowing the minds of my children as to this determination," read the will, "I designate no specific sum to any of them, and expect to leave, as my residuary estate, little more than enough to provide for payment of my debts and such legacies, bequests and devises as are designated."

The residue of the estate is to be divided as follows: Four-fifths to her children, and one-fifth in three parts to the Third Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Omaha, Neb., and to Washington College, Tenn., the latter to be used in maintaining the college as a memorial to a deceased son, Edward.

DEBTS CANCELED

Mrs. Thaw ordered that the debts of all relatives owed her be canceled or cut in half, and that all debts in excess of $50,000 due her from Harry K. Thaw be canceled.

Mrs. Theodore Lee, Berkeley, Cal., was left $5000; Rev. A. Grant Evans and Mrs. Evans of Santa Barbara, $4000; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McIntyre, Berkeley, $5000, and to Jane Copley, a sister and Carrie Copley and Margarette Stoner, nieces, subject to the life interest of Anna C. Copley, were given a house and grounds in Riverside, Cal.

To Helen Keller, deaf mute and blind genius whose pluck Mrs. Thaw admired, the aged philanthropist left $50,000.

FOUR STUDIOUS YEARS BRING HER ONLY DEATH

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Death has given Thelma Brewerton the diploma life denied.

A university education beckoned to the Clarence (Mo.) girl four years ago. There was not enough money to send her to the University of Chicago, but Thelma Brewerton was willing to earn her degree. For four years she was a waitress, a check-room girl, a rooming-house keeper, a candy clerk, earning her way through school.

Last Friday there came a letter from the university. She lacked one hour's credit, it said. She could not graduate.

Tuesday was convocation day—day of days for her classmates, day of poignant grief, bitter disappointment for Thelma. Her heart was weak and doctors had warned her against overexertion, but she felt that on this day she must get away, to be alone.

She went to the Indiana sand dunes. Disregarding caution, she tramped the steep hills and raced across the sands. She came back to Chicago weak, sick, broken.

Yesterday she died. Heart disease, the doctors said; excitement, overexertion.

TARIFF'S FOES LAUNCH BATTLE

Senate May Ballot Soon on Revision Limits

Democrats and Independents Join for Fray

Group Would Deal Only With Farm Products

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—A Democratic-Republican Independent drive against the House tariff bill got under way in the Senate today with indications pointing to an early vote on a proposal to limit tariff revision to farm products.

After the Senate Finance Committee had rejected a resolution by Senator King, Democrat, Utah, directing the committee to confine revision to agricultural products, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, made the same motion in the Senate and asked for a vote tomorrow.

WATSON OBJECTS

Senator Watson, the Republican leader and a member of the Finance Committee, objected to the Idahoan's unanimous-consent request, but paved the way for consideration of the resolution tomorrow by agreeing not to continue today's business over until that time. Watson announced privately his "violent" objection to the plan.

While Senator Borah appeared confident of gaining support of the Democrats, the outcome of the vote—if such is to be had—was in doubt tonight.

SOUTHERNERS SPLIT

Some Democrats, especially those from the South, are understood to favor protection for many of the nonagricultural commodities of their section and also to desire an opportunity to seek a downward revision of some industrial rates.

Some of the Republican Independents, too, are seeking relief for some of the industrial interests of their States as well as farming interests and their votes for a revision restricted to agriculture also were in doubt.

Senator Watson, who declared in the Senate yesterday that revision to the extent of that provided in the House measure is inevitable, was marshaling his forces tonight to vote against the Borah resolution.

DIRECTS COMMITTEE

Senator Edge of New Jersey, a Republican member of the Finance Committee, described the proposal as "revolutionary" in that it directed a standing committee of the Senate what to do.

Referring to rejection of the King resolution in committee by the administration Republicans on a strict party vote of 11 to 7, Senator Harrison of Mississippi, a minority member of the committee, asked Senator Watson if he thought the Borah proposal would be voted down with like precision.

"I don't know anything about that," replied Watson, "but I intend to find out."

FOREIGN VIEWS SENT TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—More than a score of communications from foreign governments on the proposed tariff increases, now before Congress, have been delivered to the State Department by various embassies and legations here during the past month.

During the preliminary discussions before the House Ways and Means Committee considerable material was submitted by the various governments to the State Department for transmission to the committee. Of late, however, formal representations by the governments themselves against the proposed rates have been delivered almost daily at the State Department.

The Austrian, Swiss and Uruguayan legations have filed the latest formal representations with the American government.

Material which is submitted by foreign governments, including these governments' views, is placed by the State Department in the hands of Congressional leaders. Other material which is made available to the department through American embassies and legations abroad is forwarded to the Treasury and Commerce departments and the Tariff Commission. It is available for Congressional scrutiny.

Among other nations from which communications have been received are France, Spain, Norway, Persia, Denmark, Italy and Great Britain on behalf of the Australian, Bahama and Bermudian governments.

SUTCLIFFE CONVICTED OF ATTACK

Private Detectives in Slashing Case Awarded Freedom by Jury

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13. (AP)—Walter J. Sutcliffe, Los Angeles hotel man, was convicted tonight of assault with a deadly weapon. Frank Thorpe, Robert Shore and Claude Colly, private detectives accused of aiding Sutcliffe in a knife attack on Carl Bengstein, were acquitted. A jury sat in the case three hours.

The charges were the result of an attack made by Sutcliffe when he asserted he found Bengstein with Mrs. Sutcliffe in a downtown hotel, February 5.

Mexican Rebel Chief Executed

MEXICO CITY, June 13. (AP)—A special dispatch from Palhira, on the railroad between Mexico City and Juarez, today said the rebel chief, Candelario Romero, alias "Black Hands," and nineteen of his followers were executed by a firing squad at dawn yesterday after a summary court-martial.

They were captured after a conflict in which forty of the outlaw band were killed. Several days ago the rebels had attacked a work train and a detachment of cavalry was sent against them.

SACRAMENTO, June 13. Young affixed today to Senate Bill No. 23, by Handy.

The bill makes an autoist no longer legally responsible for injuries incurred by non-paying guests except where the driver is shown to have been proceeding recklessly.

VENEZUELAN FILIBUSTERS LOSE AGAIN

Further Defeat Reported as Federal General Wins Clash at Coro

WILLEMSTAD (Curacao) June 13. (AP)—A further defeat by the Venezuelan authorities of the Venezuelan filibusters who raided Willemstad Saturday night was reported from Coro on the Venezuelan coast today.

Advices from the seaport, which is directly south of the island of Curacao, said that Gen. Leon Jurado, president of the State of Falcon, in which Coro is situated, has returned to the seat of his government with a large contingent of troops carrying a machine gun and rifles in addition to other war trophies taken from the force of Gen. Rafael Urbina, leader of the filibusters.

Urbina previously had been defeated when he attempted to capture Coro and was driven off with the loss of many prisoners.

Gen. Jurado's return to Coro followed a march to the near-by State of Lara, where he inflicted a serious defeat on Gen. Gabaldon, a revolutionary leader who has been in revolt for the past six months.

It was during Gen. Jurado's absence in the State of Lara that the filibusters made their descent on Coro, apparently hoping that the town would fall easily in view of his absence.

Contractor Bill Signed by Young

SACRAMENTO, June 13. (Exclusive)—The Senate bill providing for registration and licensing of contractors was signed today by Gov. Young. The measure, provisions of which place control of its execution under the State Director of Vocational Standards, fixes the license fee at $5 and expressly exempts from its operation government agents, irrigation, drainage and reclamation districts, agricultural industries, public utilities and sole owners of property where the construction is for their private use.

LLOYD GEORGE STATES POLICY

Support of Laborites Along Certain Lines Assured

Hostility in Other Directions Also Determined Upon

Stand Cited on Re-election as Liberals' Leader

LONDON, June 13. (Exclusive)—Watchful co-operation with the government along certain lines and certain hostility along others, is the policy of the Liberal party in the new Parliament, according to David Lloyd George, who today was re-elected leader and chairman of the party, at a meeting held at National Liberal headquarters.

At a luncheon afterward he outlined the Liberal policy, after saying that he is not downhearted but really encouraged at the known success the party has won. "The elections elevated our party to a position of responsibility in national affairs, second to that of the government. During this Parliament, the final word on all controversial issues between the other two parties rests with us. We must not use the power given us by the electors in a paltry spirit.

"We shall await with interest the forthcoming declaration of the ministerial policy, but we must declare that so far as it lies in our power the mandate of the government ends when it fails to pursue the Liberal policy. At the very hour when the ministry decides to become a Socialist administration its life ends, for it has no authority from the nation to embark on Socialist experiments."

It is learned that Mr. Lloyd George has sent a message to Mr. MacDonald saying that he will support the government in recognition of the soviet government, but not in any loan or credit arrangements.

San Diego Publisher Denies Reputed Affiliation

Trade Commission Refuses to Accept Statement

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—A heated denial of charges made by Senator Norris in Congress that he is linked with the power industry was made today before the Federal Trade Commission by Ira C. Copley, newspaper publisher, who declared he would take court action if the Nebraskan would repeat his statements off the privileged Senate floor.

The publisher, who testified at the commission's inquiry into public-utility activities at his own request, issued his challenge to the Senator in a statement submitted to the commission.

Chairman Edgar A. McCulloch refused, however, to allow Copley to read his statement or to introduce it in the record.

In his testimony, Copley reviewed his former ownership of the Western United Corporation and its subsidiaries which served rural districts of Illinois with gas and electric power and explained he had sold his entire $7,470,600 block of securities in that concern when he entered the newspaper publishing field.

He declared that he does not now own a single share of public-utility stock.

PROPAGANDA PLAN

The other witness of today's session, W. J. Sylvester of Chicago, secretary and organizer of the Industrial Conservation Board, Inc., described a plan of his organization to utilize newspaper publicity, the lecture platform, radio broadcasting, the school rooms and the moving-picture screen in a campaign to oppose government ownership of industries in competition with private interests.

He said this program, most of which had not yet been placed in operation, would cost between $500,000 and $600,000 a year, contributed by big industrial interests of the country.

STOCK HOLDINGS

While asserting he owns no utilities securities, Copley testified that he held in his name 12,500 shares with a par value of $1,250,000 belonging to his wife, his sister, and W. W. Tracy of Springfield, Ill. He said there also are 50,000 shares held under escrow in a Chicago bank for which he had been paid one-fifth of the purchase price and at present is drawing the dividends.

In concluding his testimony, Copley declared he is "an old-fashioned American citizen" and does not believe "a Senator of the United States or an agency of the government of the United States has a right to injure my reputation or my business by making or publishing reckless and baseless charges affecting me and my business integrity."

CITES INSTANCE

He cited an instance of what he described as damage to his reputation which had occurred in San Diego, Cal., following Senator Norris's charges in the Senate against him last May 20.

"While my wife, her sister and a friend and I were in an automobile," he said, "a newsboy shoved a paper into our car and said: 'Latest edition; all about the new scandal on old man Copley.'"

He added the newsboy was selling one of the papers which he published.

In reply to questioning by Robert E. Healy, chief commission counsel, the publisher testified that he had favored the construction of Boulder Dam and went "farther than most people by supporting it with or without power."

He said his newspapers support municipal ownership of power plants in cities where it is the best method but oppose it when this operation is less efficient.

The newspapers, he added, also have a favorable attitude toward power companies if the concerns are "right" but are unfavorable to them if they are "wrong."

ESCAPES IDLENESS

Copley described how he retired from the utilities industry three years ago and after a rest of about a year decided he "would die" if he did not enter some business activity, so he entered the newspaper profession.

He already for some time has owned three Illinois newspapers. But he decided to sell his entire utility stock holdings, and invest his fortune in purchase of newspapers.

He testified he now controls twenty-three newspapers in California. He said not a single utility owns "a dollar's worth of my newspaper's stock." He denied he had at any time written articles in favor of private ownership of utilities.

The witness explained he had remained until late in 1927 as president and director of the Western United Corporation for two years after he had placed his securities in the hands of a financial syndicate to be sold.

He declared, however, when he learned Samuel Insull, Illinois utilities magnate, had bought his securities, he resigned both positions and severed all connection with the concern and its subsidiaries.

DEFENSE FORCED

In March, 1928, when Senator Norris first made his charges against him, Copley testified he was in Naples, Italy, and immediately cabled him a protest and denial. A month later, John Callan O'Laughlin, vice-president of the Copley Press, the publisher testified, "out of loyalty to me wanted to smash a United States Senator" and appeared before the commission to challenge the Senator's charges.

"I knew he couldn't," Copley added. "If he had followed my instructions, it would not have happened."

He declared had his wishes been carried out, the controversy between him and Senator Norris probably would not have developed. He said he had not wished an investigation by the commission, but circumstances made it necessary for him to present his case.

TEXAS FLIGHT RECORD SET

Stock Plane Hops From Here to Fort Worth in Less Than Nine Hours

What is believed to be an unofficial world's airplane speed record for the hop between Los Angeles and Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday was announced as having been established by E. O. Rhenstrom in negotiating the distance in 8h. and 20m. News of the elapsed time was contained in a telegram received by Lockheed officials here.

As operations manager of the Texas Air Transport Company, Rhenstrom on Wednesday accepted delivery of and took to the air in a new Lockheed air-express model at Metropolitan Airport here. Carrying as passengers George A. Neal, Lockheed representative, and Mrs. Neal, he completed the trip to the Texas city in an average of 150.6 miles an hour. The best previous record for strictly stock airplanes over this distance, according to Lockheed officials was nine hours.

Congressional Group to Study Samoa Affairs

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—A joint Congressional commission, headed by Senator Bingham, Connecticut, will sail from Seattle on the cruiser Omaha the 28th or 29th inst. for Samoa to study the island government and make recommendations on possible needed changes.

The commission includes Senator Robinson, Arkansas; Representatives Keiss, Pennsylvania, and Williams, Texas; and three native chiefs. High Chiefs Magalei and Tufle and Chief Mauga. The native chiefs will join the group at Samoa, accompany them on an inspection tour of the islands, lasting about ten days.

The commission was appointed for the purpose by Congress through a joint resolution last year.

THE COST OF LEADERSHIP

By David Bingham

The cost of leadership demands a heavy toll—the price exacted is a mighty sum—but worth the cost. In the contest for supremacy men sacrifice and suffer much—and give unstintedly of time and thought and substance to uphold ideals and in hard work find inspiration for still greater things, and, after the great price is paid and leadership attained, alertness and more thought must be maintained to hold the leadership that has been won. In leadership the name of Hardman stands alone—creator of the instrument that bears his name, the ultimate of all pianos. Its leadership is earned.

RIVER HARMONY UP TO DONOVAN

Commission Will Present Amity Plan Today

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Tri-State Boulder Dam negotiators, weary from days of debating the long-deadlocked Colorado River water division question, tonight looked forward with some hope to a significant session tomorrow.

Their chairman, W. J. Donovan, promised to present his proposed solution of difficulties standing in the way of the Arizona-California compromise at the Friday session.

After a day of considering the matter, the commissioners were still at a loss to predict what the Donovan development might be. But they expressed great respect for his ability as a strategist.

Every suggestion thus far offered by the conference, which has been in session since May 28, had speedily resulted in a deadlock, partial or complete.

Contending commissioners today agreed that if Chairman Donovan succeeds in producing a compromise basis which will satisfy the States as even a "starting point," he will deserve great credit as a conciliator. John M. Ross of Arizona praised Donovan's methods. "Statesmanship is 99 per cent patience, and Donovan has that much patience," he said. "He won't give up. Even though we adjourn here without agreement, I expect him to continue as our chairman. When we hold another meeting back home, I believe he will come out to us."

John L. Bacon, chairman of the California delegation, was equally complimentary. "So long as Col. Donovan is at the helm, I shall sound the note of optimism," he said. "I haven't the slightest idea what he is working out, but I expect it to be helpful."

SENATOR PUTS MENU IN RECORD

Relation Between Food Prices and Rates on Freight Shown by Blease

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP) Menus of a Washington restaurant and the Senate dining-room have been put into the Congressional Record by Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, as evidence that freight rates have raised the prices of the food listed.

Roast beef was priced at 85 cents and mashed potatoes at 15 cents.

"If you will notice the prices that we pay for the farm commodities on those bills of fare and what the farmer gets for them," Blease said, "you will see proportionately how much we pay for freight rates."

NATURAL GAS PLEA OFFERED

Change of Supply Proposed for San Joaquin Area

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13. (AP)—Substitution of natural for manufactured gas in the Southern San Joaquin Valley today was proposed by the Southern California Gas Company at a hearing before the State Railroad Commission.

The company, testimony of Roy Bauer, engineer, revealed plans to bring in gas of a double heating capacity from the Kettleman Hills district to Hanford, from which point it would distribute to both domestic and industrial users in the counties of Merced, Madera, Kings, Kern, Tulare and Fresno.

The new gas, Bauer said, would mean a saving of approximately half the price the consumers are paying at the present time, due to the higher heating capacity of 1150 British thermal units against the 550 B.T.U. now in use.

The gas also would be served to industry in the Mojave Desert region, including cement and potash plants, according to Bauer. The gas would be supplied without increase in the present rates.

The Southern California Gas Company, Bauer said, plans to enrich the gas it serves to Los Angeles at the present time from the Elk Hills district with gas from Kettleman Hills through construction of a pipe line to its compressor.

SWING UNAWED BY BORDER ROW

Retaliation on Closing Order Not Taken Seriously

Reprisals Will Hit Tia Juana, Representative Says

Railroad Man Alarmed Over Effects on Trains

WASHINGTON, June 13. (Exclusive)—Mexico's threat to bar movement of American trains across the international border at night unless the United States agrees to lift its own border restrictions, will not be carried out for the reason a war of retaliation would injure Mexico worse than this country, Representative Swing of El Centro declared in a statement today.

Swing said that retaliatory moves on the part of the two governments would be especially harmful to Tia Juana, whence comes the latest agitation for a liberalization of the present border restrictions.

He pointed out that similar threats were made by Mexico in 1928, when the 6 o'clock closing hours at Tia Juana were first put into effect, but that nothing came of them. He issued his statement after he had called at the State Department to enter personal protest with Secretary Stimson against American acceptance of the Mexican demands for a twenty-four-hour day on the border.

MESSAGES OF PROTEST

Representative Swing and the two California Senators received numerous telegrams from Southern California today on the border-closing controversy, among them being messages from Hal Hotchkiss, president of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, and A. T. Mercier, president of the San Diego and Arizona Railway Company, expressing considerable alarm over the possibility of American trains being held up at the border, with their cargoes of mail and perishable fruits.

According to their wires, both Hotchkiss and Mercier had received formal notice from Gov. Rodrigues of Lower California that the order closing the border to American trains would be put into effect July 1, unless this government meanwhile reverses its stand against a wide open border.

A telegram from Mercier quoted Gov. Rodrigues as notifying him that he was doing "nothing but co-operating with orders from the government at Washington directed toward making more effective the restrictions that have been established along the border line" and that the people of his district would "consider unjust" any solution which did not make the border restrictions work both ways, and apply equally to both nations. Under the circumstances he said no amendment of the Mexican July 1 order was possible.

SWING'S STATEMENT

Representative Swing, however, did not take Rodrigues with any too much seriousness. The statement of the El Centro Representative follows:

"I have just been advised that Gov. Rodrigues of Lower California has threatened retaliation because our government did not grant the request of the Tia Juana interests to open the international boundary line for later hours for crossing the border.

"Mr. A. T. Mercier, president of the San Diego and Arizona Railway, wired me yesterday that he has received an official communication from Gov. Rodrigues to the effect that after July 1, trains of the San Diego and Arizona Railway will not be permitted to cross the international boundary line between Yuma and San Diego after the border is closed to other traffic by American authorities. This is obviously a threat to cause legitimate business to intercede with the American government to secure concessions for the illegitimate business of Tia Juana. It will not succeed. I am confident that our government will meet this move with firmness and dignity. Gov. Rodrigues and the present Mexican officials are the last persons in the world to threaten retaliation against the United States government after our government so recently saved the political fortunes of the present Mexican administration."

RAIL PRESIDENT TELLS EFFECT OF CLOSING ORDER

SAN DIEGO, June 13. (AP)—President A. T. Mercier of the San Diego and Arizona Railway, in a statement today said that if trains are not permitted to cross the Mexican border on schedule delivery of United States mails will be affected and that supplies now going into Mexico by rail will be curtailed. Business of the railroad will be greatly hampered, he said, as a night train now operates between San Diego and Yuma, forty-four miles of which is in Mexican territory.

MRS. OWEN TO AID YOUTHS

Congresswoman Will Take Group to Washington for Study of Governmental Affairs

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Representative Ruth Bryan Owen has a new idea—distinctly feminine in flavor—to introduce to her people on her home ground in Florida during future Congressional recesses.

She is planning to bring to Washington next year a group of thirty-six boys and girls to study government. She will look after them personally.

NO SENATE AMBITIONS

Attributing to a "confusion of names" reports that she is looking forward to a senatorial toga, Florida's representative made it clear today that her job in the House is so fully occupying her that she has no time to look along the corridor to the other chamber.

Since the recent announcement by Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois that she will enter the Senatorial campaign next fall, reports have been circulated repeatedly to the effect that a similar announcement would be made shortly by Mrs. Owen. She said today, however, that she had "no such plans."

SHE'LL EXPLAIN BILLS

She will explain in public meetings and in small conferences all of "What has been done, legislative and otherwise," as it touches the individual county. She emphasized her plan to discuss "everything" rather than merely the measures in which she has participated actively.

At the same time, she will discuss her governmental study plan. She will offer the trip as a reward to the boy and the girl who display the finest "school citizenship" in each of the eighteen counties of her district.

Standard Files Pipe-line Deeds

SAN LUIS OBISPO, June 13. (AP) The Standard Oil Company today filed here the first right of way deeds for an oil pipe line from the Kettleman Hills field to a San Luis Obispo county port.

The line will follow the Cottonwood pass route from Kern county and terminate at Tidewater. Surveyors are studying Port San Luis, the present terminus of the Union Oil Company's pipe line, and Cayucos, on the north county coast, for possible terminal sites.

SHORTAGE IN SCHOOL THOUSANDS

Sacramento Grand Jury Reports on Finances of Jailed Galt Principal

SACRAMENTO, June 13. (Exclusive)—That shortages in the school accounts at the Galt Joint Union High School may reach at least $30,000 as the result of the activities of William A. Rutherford, principal and instructor of aviation, was the announcement made today by Guy G. Foulkes, foreman of the Sacramento county grand jury. Rutherford is now in the County Jail on charges of issuing a bad check and grand theft, the latter resulting from a transaction with a student in which it is said Rutherford defrauded him of $1200. Rutherford formerly resided in Los Angeles.

Earl Desmond, clerk of the school board, informed the faculty and student body of the school at a meeting today that all money given by them to Rutherford as deposits on lockers and science department equipment also is missing.

"It looks like you and the teachers are out," Desmond said. He said that what will be done with the aviation course is problematic, although he gave the intimation that flying will be continued under a competent instructor.

Rutherford is being held in jail under $3500 bail.

Lea Proposes New Vote Plan

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—A resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution which will abolish the present system of voting by Electoral College and will provide for the election of President and Vice-President by "the people of the several States" was introduced in the House today by Representative Clarence F. Lea, California.

The resolution provides for the retainment of the present system of election by electoral vote, but will revise the manner of casting these votes.

BIG BEAR LAKE

The "California of the Pioneers" lives on at Big Bear—for Big Bear is off the beaten trail. The stage coach of the early days has given place to the luxurious motor coaches and fast, comfortable airplanes, or you can drive your own car to a mile and a half above the sea to this last, most beautiful and highest of the Southland's mountain playgrounds.

Come to Big Bear for your vacation. There are rambling home-like lodges and cozy log cabins at prices to suit your purse. There are miles of forest trails leading to streams, glens and enticing retreats—and Big Bear is steeped in the romance of the early days.

There are golf courses, tennis courts, fishing, boating and riding horses.

Come to Big Bear—you will not regret it.—

JAPAN OUTLINES DISARMING VIEW

World's Policy on Cruisers Seen as Bar to Pact

United States Holds Key to Problem, Okada Says

Nippon Not Agreeable to Abolishing Submarine

[This is the third of four important interviews with Japanese statesmen written by Barnet Hoover, exclusively for The Times and associated newspapers of the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

TOKIO, June 13. (Exclusive)—Solution of the problem of reducing naval armaments beyond the limits agreed upon at the Washington conference more than eight years ago will be determined largely by what action is taken with respect to 10,000-ton cruisers, in the opinion of Admiral Keisuke Okada, Japanese Naval Minister.

As this type of craft is regarded by the United States as peculiarly important in its scheme of national defense the American attitude, the admiral suggested, may decide the future progress of disarmament discussions.

In considering the problem of reducing the number of 10,000-ton cruisers as part of the general problem of limiting all types of naval armament not touched by the Washington agreement, Admiral Okada argues that the only really essential thing is to reach an agreement with respect to 10,000-ton cruisers alone. For that reason, he said, the position of the United States becomes all-important, for at Geneva in 1927 and since it has taken the position that the large cruiser is a type of naval craft best suited to its needs.

DEPENDS ON FITNESS

"It takes from two to three years, at least, to built a large cruiser," Admiral Okada explained to me. "This means that the fighting strength of a nation, so far as 10,000-ton cruisers are concerned, depends to a considerable degree on the number of ships ready for service when the war breaks out.

"Of course, if the war should last a long time a nation beginning an extensive program of cruiser building at its outset would change the balance after two or three years. But during these first two or three critical years its strength in large cruisers would be the strength it enjoyed before the war.

"On the other hand, the time required to construct smaller ships, light cruisers, submarines, etc., is not so great. A great industrial power such as the United States or Great Britain could quickly and easily build a large fleet of such auxiliary ships. The importance of limitation in those categories, therefore, is not as vital as in the case of cruisers.

"Japan is not averse to any agreement which will include them in a general limitation agreement. We favor any reasonable plan which will help reduce the burden of armaments weighing down the world. But the most important necessity, we feel, is an agreement concerning large cruisers."

"Will Japan be willing," Admiral Okada was asked, "to extend the 5-5-3 ratio arrived at by the Washington conference for capital ships down the line to smaller ships?"

PLACED ON PARITY

"No," he replied. "For a number of reasons, largely technical, a 5-5-3 ratio in the global tonnage of capital ships possessed by the great powers was acceptable to us in 1921. The effectiveness of the British or the American fleet in the waters of the Western Pacific is reduced to an extent which places it only in a position of parity with respect to the Japanese fleet.

"Because of the greater mobility of types of craft other than capital ships this does not hold for them. A 5-5-3 ratio extended down the line to cruisers and auxiliary ships would mean not effective parity for Japan, but actually inferiority. We feel it necessary, therefore, to insist on an arrangement which will do Japan justice."

In replying to a question regarding the official Japanese attitude on the project to abolish the submarine Admiral Okada said:

"The submarine goes against the spirit of Bushido, the old code of chivalry in Japan. For that reason we regret its use. At the same time Japan is not a rich nation. In defense of the empire we must look to methods which do not further impoverish us. The submarine, which cannot well be used as an instrument of aggression, but is primarily defensive, is the poor nation's battleship. We must, therefore, oppose its abolition."

WOULD HURRY MEETING

In Admiral Okada's opinion it would be much wiser for the great naval powers to have the meeting for the revision or extension of the Washington treaty in the near future rather than wait until 1931, when the treaty expires. Before that time, he pointed out, the naval powers, including Japan, will be faced with the necessity of replacing those of their capital ships which have become obsolete or worn out. In order to be protected properly in the event that the 1931 conference (if it is called at that time) ends in no agreement, the nations soon must actually begin laying the keels of capital ships intended for replacement. To avoid that expense it would be wise were the Washington conference to be called within the next year.

The admiral also expressed the thought that there, or at some other international conference, the general problem of neutral rights and freedom of the seas might well be considered in connection with the problem of naval limitation.

"I want to say," said Admiral Okada, "that I am not pessimistic about the ultimate outcome of the negotiations that have been going on among the powers on this great problem of limiting armaments. I am, on the whole, optimistic. It is a problem for statesmen, and statesmen everywhere are agreed that something should be done. Japan now, as at Washington and at Geneva, is always ready to do its share to bring to a successful conclusion any negotiations having that great object in view."

PEN CAN'T LURE COOLIDGE

Writing Career Has No Appeal for ex-President, He Tells New York Reporters

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Calvin Coolidge in an interview published in the New York World today discloses that writing as a career has no appeal to him. Mr. Coolidge, who was in New York to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the New York Life Insurance Company, was asked whether he liked to write.

"I don't," he said. "Oh, I don't find it so difficult to sit and write about something that I know very well, such as my own life, but a career of writing"—and he left the sentence unfinished.

The former President also disclosed that all his writing is done in long hand.

He said he had heard of persons who couldn't write a word unless they sat at their typewriters.

"They always said that President Wilson had that habit," he added. "He would use just two or three fingers at his own machine. At least that was the story about Washington. I don't know whether it was true or not."

Mr. Coolidge carried his left hand bound in a black silk handkerchief as a result of a sprain he suffered while on a fishing trip last week.

"I was just trying to land a big trout," he said, "and in my excitement during the battle I slipped over a large rock and hurt my hand. The doctor says it's a bad sprain."

He was asked whether he got the fish.

"Oh, yes," he replied, "I landed him all right, and I guess he was worth it."

DILL WARNS ABOUT R.C.A. MONOPOLIES

Senate Urged to Deal Cautiously With Radio Industry in America

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Asserting that the Radio Corporation of America "has built up the most gigantic monopoly in the history of the country" Senator Dill, Washington, today urged the Senate to be cautious in dealing with the radio industry.

Dill declared the Radio Corporation "has not only a monopoly in the patent field, under which virtually every manufacturer is required to take out a license, but it has obtained exclusive contracts with foreign countries."

"The Radio Corporation," he said, "sits down with the Cabinets of Europe on an equal footing. No other American company can obtain the right to build wireless stations in England, France and Germany."

Dill added he was not "criticising" the corporation, but "I do say," he declared, "this is an indication of the tremendous value of the monopoly and the care that the government and Radio Commission should exercise in granting wave lengths."

SMUTS HAS HEAVY LEAD IN ELECTION

South Africa's Early Poll Returns Unfavorable to Premier Hertzog's Party

CAPE TOWN (Union of South Africa) June 13. (AP) — Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, staunch Imperialist and former Premier, held a heavy advantage over Prime Minister James Barry Hertzog when one-third the results in the South African general elections had been counted today.

With forty-seven seats reported out of a total of 148 the standing was: South African party (opposition,) 34; Nationalists (government,) 6; Creswell Laboritas, government,) 4; National Council Laborites, 3.

The seats reported are largely urban and were expected to return opposition members, but out of them the South African party gained seven seats from the government. The issue will be decided when returns roll in from the country districts.

Meningitis Hits Jail at Phoenix

PHOENIX, June 13. (AP)—One death and the removal of another victim of spinal meningitis to a hospital today resulted in steps being taken by authorities to prevent the spread of the disease in the County Jail here, where 160 prisoners are held.

Jose Alvarez, who was to have been tried for murder, died Monday, six hours after he contracted the disease. His trial was scheduled for Tuesday. John W. Vance, 19 years of age, convicted on a bad-check charge, was removed to a hospital today when symptoms were described by doctors as spinal meningitis.

Bank Messenger Robbed on Bus

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 13. (AP)—A messenger of the First State Bank of South San Antonio was held up on a bus here today and robbed of $18,000.

Herbert Flack, the messenger, obtained the money at a bank here and started for South San Antonio. When the bus he boarded reached a point on South Laredo street a man who had followed Flack drew a revolver and forced him to hand over the money. Compelling the driver to stop, the robber left the bus and entered a car parked near by, in which a second man waited. The escape was made without any shots being fired.

EVANS ASKS AID ON POSTOFFICE

Representative Makes Call at White House

Hoover Urged to Support Building Program

Bill for Additional Funds Up in December

WASHINGTON, June 13. (Exclusive)—At the White House today Representative Evans of Glendale urged the President to support legislation authorizing an additional $75,000,000 to the current Federal building program, so that first-class postoffices with annual receipts of more than $300,000 and other classes of postoffices as well as Federal buildings can be provided for, including a new Federal structure at Los Angeles.

An additional $19,000,000 is required for projects not now under the Federal building program allocations. One hundred and forty-one first-class postoffices with annual receipts above $40,000 require an additional sum of more than $16,000,000, while 170 postoffices with annual receipts of less than $40,000 would need more than $9,000,000 to carry out the projects recommended by committees. The largest item in the proposed additional appropriation is $27,900,000 to be used for buildings in 339 places where the postal receipts run from $20,000 to $40,000 annually and including forty-two sites-owned places.

HOOVER CAN HELP

Although the matter will not come up until the December session of Congress Representative Evans believed that early enlistment of the President's attention would be of benefit to the program. Mr. Evans said that he is much pleased with the interview today and encouraged in his stand, as the President appeared impressed and indicated that he will give the subject extremely careful consideration.

Representative Evans will push the program for the additional authorization as soon as the regular committees are organized in the House at the beginning of the session next December.

California cities which would be benefited by the additional authorization include: A new postoffice and Courthouse at Los Angeles; Federal building additions in Alameda and Berkeley; new quarantine stations and hospital in San Diego, and the remodeling of the San Francisco building.

OTHER POSTOFFICES

In addition, postoffices in the following Southern California cities are included in the additional sum to be asked for in December:

Glendale, Alhambra, Huntington Park, Santa Monica, Whittier, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Inglewood, Ontario, Anaheim, Culver City, Monrovia, San Rafael, South Pasadena, Wilmington, Fullerton, Redondo Beach, Redwood City, Sawtelle, Venice, Brawley, Compton, Hayward, Mountain View, Orange, Oxnard, San Fernando, Sebastopol, Van Nuys, Avalon, Bell, Calexico, Colton, Corona, Covina, Huntington Beach, La Jolla, North Hollywood, Oceanside, San Gabriel, Torrance and Yosemite National Park.

COST OF SANTA ANA LOTS SAID TO BE TOO HIGH

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—The Treasury Department today telegraphed owners of lots in Santa Ana, Cal., which were selected as sites for a new postoffice, that unless they are willing to accept what the Treasury believes is a reasonable price the land will be condemned.

Names of the owners were not made public, but it was learned that three lots had been offered and the price of one offered by Agent Mickey was $18,500, while adjoining parcels were held by the Treasury to be priced too high. Pending replies from persons interested the Treasury withheld details of negotiations.

SPAN EXERCISES SET FOR TODAY

Bridge Over Colorado Will be Dedicated

Indians, Governors and Many Others at Scene

Direct Route Opened to New Mountain Region

MARBLE GORGE (Ariz.) June 13. (AP)—Indians and white men of the Southwest who have viewed with awe the yawning chasm of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River gathered here today for the dedication ceremonies tomorrow of the bridge which spans the picturesque expanse.

Governors of Utah, New Mexico, Nevada and Arizona, together with many prominent citizens and thousands of others of the Southwest; are here to witness the official opening of the span which makes accessible one of the most scenic sections of America.

DISTANCE REDUCED

The bridge, believed to be the highest vehicle structure of its kind, opens a direct route between the Southwest and the central Rocky Mountain regions. The distance from Salt Lake City to Phoenix has been reduced to approximately 800 miles—about 900 miles shorter than the old route.

Medicine men of the Hopi and Navajo tribes, who looked upon the canyon and the turbulent thread of a stream hundreds of feet below as something of a god to be feared and worshiped, are trekking here for the ceremony from their villages many miles around.

Ancestors of the hardy Mormons will return to the site where their forefathers first crossed the muddy, treacherous stream on rafts. Scientists who have attempted to wrest from the river and its rocky walls the story of life and the history of its wanderings also will be there to see the dedication of the span of steel that at last has bound the sides together and allowed man to cross.

GOVERNORS TO PRESIDE

Gov. Phillips of Arizona and Gov Dern of Utah will preside at the ceremonies, which includes a brief speaking program and flag day exercises.

On Saturday a pageant depicting early settlement of the West, in which more than 1000 Indian braves will participate, will be given as part of a pioneer day program in connection with the dedication.

Among those to participate in the dedication is Mrs. A. E. Roberts, who half a century ago crossed the Colorado River by way of Lee's Ferry in a covered wagon, journeying from Picche, Nev., to Fort Apache, Ariz. Tomorrow with her grand-daughter, Miss Betty Kastner, she will cross the river again by way of the bridge, which is only a short distance from the old ferry site.

RYAN PAYS FRENCH DEBTS

American Scion of Banking Family Gets Out of Bastille After Bad-Check Escapade

PARIS, June 13. (Exclusive)—Thomas Fortune Ryan II bought himself out of the French bastile tonight with a check sufficient to satisfy his Montmartre creditors.

With the help of a doctor and lawyer, the scion of the large banking family managed to explain to the examining magistrate how he happened to commit such a bad banking practice as to give bad checks. The chief complainant, Pepe D'Albros, manager of the famous Chez Florence since Florence herself went back to Broadway, said that Ryan heavily patronized his night club and usually paid in checks drawn on the Paris branch of the Guaranty Trust, in which the Ryan family is pretty much involved.

TIME HUNG ON HANDS

"Sometimes the checks were good, sometimes not," said D'Albros, "but, of course, when I learned that he was sailing on the Ile De France, I had the police at Le Havre inform him of bills unpaid."

Ryan and his wife, Mrs. Margaret Moorehead Rea, of Pittsburgh, came to Paris in January and went on to Egypt. On their return his wife fell ill and went to the American hospital at Neuilly. Time hung heavy on Ryan's hands, his friends say.

D'Albros said that Ryan was always alone in his place, and spent most of the money he got on his checks in making presents to the orchestra. It seems some nights he blew as much as $975. When Mrs. Ryan came back from the hospital, she found a line of creditors at the door, so to speak, and paid all of hubby's bills with the exception of what he rung up at Montmartre.

WIFE SKEPTICAL

"I don't see how he could possibly have spent so much in one evening without somebody's kind assistance," she is reported as saying.

But the officers got Ryan at the boat. Mrs. Ryan stayed aboard, asserting that she guessed he would come out all right. Whether her money or his was produced today, Ryan did not reveal. He says he is taking the first boat for New York.

KIP TELLS PLANS FOR NEW LIFE

Young Rhinelander Hasn't Yet Filed for Divorce from Negress Wife

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) June 13. (Exclusive)—Out in the wildest of the wild desert towns of the western frontier, Leonard Kip Rhinelander today discussed his marital affairs as he sat in the office of his attorney, Charles A. Harmon. Kip, with a newly grown mustache, unfolded plans which he hopes will allow him to fight his way back to the wealth that was once his and was lost to him through his choice of a negress for a wife.

"I married Alice Jones as a beautiful Spanish girl," he said. "I loved her then. She turned out to be a negress. Well, it's all done now. Maybe I made a mistake, but what is that to the world? I'm tired of being pointed out as the man who married a negress. I want to forget. I've traveled all over these United States and here, finally, I have found the peace I desired.

"Love for Alice? Well, now, I'm not planning to divorce her yet. Every month since I left her I have sent her a check for $302.62, one-third of my income, and I will continue to do so.

"I have no plans for any further marital ventures at present. I want to forget and I have found the country in which to do it, here. I want to grow with your city and the Boulder dam. I'll try to make your city a good citizen, and I think I can do it. You know I'm on my own now."

Harmon, in discussing the possible divorce proceedings declared that no suit had been filed as yet and any statement on that subject at this time would be premature.

Observe Laws, Good's Word to West Pointers

WEST POINT (N. Y.) June 13. (AP)—Secretary of War Good told the members of the graduating class of the United States Military Academy today that one of their greatest opportunities for service will be the voluntary observance of the laws of the State in which they live and "of the nation whose laws you will take oath to obey."

The Regular Army officer's life is no longer confined to the performance of military duties, Secretary Good said, but the times are making many varied demands upon the officers. The government is using the army officer more and more at home and abroad as its representative and realizes he makes a tactful and capable agent, he said.

CRUCIAL LEAGUE MEETING QUIET

Minorities Question Fails to Ruffle Delegates

Better Representation for Small Nations Voted

More Careful Scrutiny of Their Petitions Assured

MADRID, June 13. (AP)—The crucial session of the meeting of the League of Nations Council passed off today like a family party.

The moot question of minorities, which has threatened trouble since the special committee of three prepared a report on the subject in London, a few months ago, did not ruffle the amiability of the delegates. They unanimously voted a resolution granting minority peoples better representation on the minority committee of the League and insuring a more careful scrutiny to their petitions.

Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, and Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, expressed their sympathy for the cause of European minorities. The British representative, Ambassador Sir George Dixon Grahame, at Madrid, also cast oil on what might have been troubled waters.

JURY CONVICTS TORCH SLAYER

Appeal Will Delay Execution Until Late Fall

Campbell Expected to Die Before That Time

Wife Grief Stricken When Verdict Comes In

ELIZABETH (N. J.) June 13. (Exclusive)—"Jersey justice" triumphed again today when a jury, heeding Prosecutor Abe David's adjuration to set aside their scruples against capital punishment and their sympathy and convict Henry Colin Campbell, torch slayer, returned a verdict of guilty after four hours' deliberation.

Although they might have accompanied their first-degree murder verdict with a recommendation for mercy, which would have sent Campbell to prison for life instead of the electric chair, they did not do so.

Justice Clarence A. Case, sitting on the bench with two Common Pleas judges, Lloyd Thompson and Alfred A. Stein, called the trembling prisoner to the bar and passed sentence immediately. Justice Case sentenced the slayer of his bigamous wife, Mrs. Mildred Mowery, to die in the electric chair in State's prison at Trenton during the week of July 15, next.

Campbell has been, from a complication of diseases, a doomed man for some time. He will keep his rendezvous with death before the State has decreed, it is believed. He left the courtroom looking the part of a living corpse. As he turned from the bar and shambled to the door leading to the corridor, his wife, Mrs. Rosalie Campbell, mother of his three children, fought off court attendants and had reached Campbell's side before they caught up with her. Campbell seemed not to see her.

A court attendant intervened and led Mrs. Campbell gently back to her seat. There she stayed, sobbing, for a full half-hour after all the thrill-seekers had left.

Francis Gordon, Campbell's attorney, told Mrs. Campbell he will file an appeal from the verdict within forty-eight hours. This will automatically stay Campbell's execution until late fall and long before that, in the opinion of physicians who have examined him recently, the wasted 61-year-old man, who was born a member of a wealthy banking family of New York and New Jersey, which disowned him many years ago, will have cheated the chair by succumbing from natural causes in his death-house cell.

SHRAPNEL HE GOT IN '64 REMOVED

Tattered Bit of Blue Also Taken from Back of War Veteran

CANTON (Ill.) June 13. (Exclusive)—A piece of shrapnel as large as a quarter and a bit of tattered union uniform today were removed from the back of John E. Murphy, 84 years of age, Civil War veteran. Dr. J. E. Coleman performed the operation at Graham Hospital when the shrapnel began to cause the aged war veteran extreme pain.

It with a bit of cloth had been imbedded in his flesh since 1864, being received during one of the thirty-eight battles in which he participated.

BANK STATUTES PLAN COMPLETE

Tax Commission Joined in Rehearing Fight

Situation Reviewed for California Bankers

New State Association Officers Elected

SACRAMENTO, June 13. (AP)—Bankers of California today completed plans to aid the State in gaining the enactment of Federal statutes that will permit taxation of incomes of banks derived from tax-exempt securities and joined the Tax Commission and other States in an effort to win a rehearing in the United States Supreme Court case in which the decision invalidated California's Bank Tax Act.

Vincent K. Butler of the American Trust Company, San Francisco, and nationally recognized bank-tax expert, laid the situation confronting State bankers and the predicament of the State and the Tax Commission before the association.

TWO MOVES UNDER WAY

"Two attempts to meet the situation are already under way," he said. "Saturday the Attorney-General, tax authorities of California, Oregon, Washington, Wisconsin, New York and Massachusetts meet in Boston to prepare a petition for rehearing of the MacAllen case by the Supreme Court.

"Counsel for the American Bankers' Association, will be present at this meeting. There is no better evidence than this of the good faith which the California Bankers' Association is showing and the expert assistance it is giving in its attempt to reach an equitable solution of bank-tax problems."

Edward Elliott, vice-president of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles and chairman of the bankers' legislative committee, declared it true, that in view of the Supreme Court decision, that some banks would temporarily "escape taxation but this is not a desirable situation and in the long run will doubtless be changed through an amendment to the Federal statutes. It seems hardly practical for this State to place on banks any heavier taxes until there is some such amendment. The thing to be feared is an amendment that would make it possible to tax the banks far more heavily than at present or even under the plan just declared illegal," he stated.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Officers of the association were elected, Arnold J. Mount, senior vice-president of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Bank of San Francisco being chosen president; Lane D. Webber, vice-president of the First National Trust and Savings Bank of San Diego, vice-president; Paul A. Dinsmore, vice-president of the American Trust Company of San Francisco, treasurer.

Four new members of the executive council of the association chosen were C. Sumner James, vice-president of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles; G. A. Marsh, president of the Colton National Bank of Colton; Harris C. Kirk, vice-president of the American Trust Company, San Francisco, and W. H. Bridges, vice-president, First National Bank of San Leandro.

Rumors current through the convention mentioned Herbert H. Smock, vice-president of the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles, for the post of chairman of the executive council premeditating the report of the nominating committee which will be rendered tomorrow.

SHANGHAI, June 13. (Exclusive) Sir Miles Lampson, British Minister to China, has notified the Nationalist government of Great Britain's desire to open negotiations for the retrocession of the British naval port of Wei-Pai-Wei to Chinese control, according to a report from Nanking.

Wei-Pai-Wei is located on the northern coast of Shantung Peninsula, and was acquired by Great Britain for a naval base in 1898.

Lord Balfour, head of the British delegation to the Washington conference, promised to restore Wei-Pai-Wei to China when Japan agreed to evacuate Shantung, but the British promise was never carried out.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13. (Exclusive) — Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, who will make the principal address at Stanford's commencement, does not intend to resign the Stanford presidency.

President Paul Shoup of the Southern Pacific, who was one of the first to hurry away from the trustees' conference, stated unequivocally that there is no thought of Dr. Wilbur resigning from the presidency of Stanford.

Fiance Hunted for Girl's Death

PORT HURON (Mich.) June 13 (Exclusive)—Alfred Loune, 22 years of age, strangled his 17-year-old sweetheart, Beatrice Fry, with a lamp cord during a lover's quarrel, local police charged today. Authorities all through Michigan are hunting him.

Loune and the pretty telephone operator had planned to wed this month. The quarrel which the police indicate brought about the girl's death came about over the girl's attending a dance without the accompaniment of Loune.

We are interested, of course, in showing you the picturesque town of Girard and Walnut Acre Farms. However, I cordially extend you this invitation whether you care to invest or not. You will incur no obligation.

You will thrill to the dramatic activity in this romantic valley of the old Mission fathers, now a hive of Twentieth Century activity. In four short years the town of Girard has taken form. More than $2,000,000 have been spent in improvements.

Walnut Acre Farms, located just across the boulevard, was once the largest walnut grove in the world. Now divided into parcels of various size, some for as little as $1600—and planted to six-year-old Placentia Budded Walnut trees. Abundant pure, cheap aqueduct water for domestic and irrigation purposes.

This land can be bought at very reasonable prices—small first payment, the balance arranged for your convenience over a long period with no interest for three years.

You need not live on the land. After the initial payment is made we will care for it if you wish, accepting the crop as our pay. You will certainly never find a safer, surer investment than this.

Kermit Roosevelt Brings Back Specimen of Rare Panda From Near W

The First Complete Specimen of a Panda Ever Brought Out of Wilderness of Tibet reached San Francisco this week in the custody of Kermit Roosevelt who shot the animal during an expedition into the hinterlands of the Near West. Civilization's only other concrete evidence of the existence of the panda, which weighs approximately 300 pounds and resembles a bear, is a fragment of pelt procured by a French priest in 1869 and now in a European museum. The animal does not hibernate. Above is an authentic likeness of the rare animal, and at left is Kermit Roosevelt as he appeared upon arrival. (P. & A. photos.)

HOPE IN FLY FIGHT SEEN

California Quarantine Chief, Back from Florida, Says Heroic Battle May Defeat Insect Foe

Florida has a fighting chance to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly, a chance calling for the most heroic battle ever waged, in the opinion of A. C. Fleury, senior quarantine supervisor for the State of California, who passed through Los Angeles yesterday after visiting the infested State.

"The biggest problem today," he said, "seems to be the numerous wild hosts of the fly, growing in an almost impenetrable jungle, such as the wild persimmon, sour orange, wild cherry, maypops, cacti and such. Much of the State is such a jungle.

"To wipe the fly out in so vast an area calls for extraordinary effort."

BITTER BATTLE RAGES

Fleury said that considering the short time since the infestation became apparent, the Federal government has developed an efficient, capable organization of competent officials who are determined on eradication. "They have 4000 to 5000 men now employed in this program, and they are determined to go through with it, regardless of cost, with the assurance that sufficient money always is available."

Fleury went to Washington first with a committee appointed by Gov. Young. It called on President Hoover, the Secretary of Agriculture and many members of Congress and administration officials having direct charge of eradication. All, he said, are thoroughly imbued with the thought of the necessity of eradication, realizing it is a national and not a State problem.

PERIL FROM MEXICO

Incidentally, Fleury on his way home stopped over at El Paso, and found in the fruit markets of Juarez, mangoes from inland Mexico heavily infested with maggots of the Mexican fruit fly, which he called a close relative of the Mediterranean fruit fly. It attacks citrus fruits, peaches, apples, pears and many other important fruit crops such as are grown in California.

"While every effort is being made by border inspectors to keep these pests from the United States," he declared, "there is great danger."

Vatican Today Signs Treaty With Prussia

BERLIN, June 13. (AP)—The treaty between Prussia and the Vatican (the word "concordat" has been avoided) will be signed tomorrow. Premier Braun of Prussia and Papal Nuncia Pacelli merely will initial the agreement so that the treaty will have only temporary force until ratification by Parliament.

The treaty stipulates that henceforth in appointment of bishops the Prussian chapter will submit a list of candidates to the Pope, who will select three candidates from the list. The chapter will then appoint the bishop, who will be confirmed by the Pope only if the Prussian government has no political objections to him.

By the treaty the Catholic Church also renounces the right held since 1921 to donations of real estate from the state but monetary donations will be increased from 1,800,000 marks (about $432,000) to 2,800,000 (about $672,000.)

Students Agree to End Strike

MEXICO CITY, June 13. (AP)—Striking students of the National University, who seized the main building of the institution Tuesday and ran a red flag up over it, agreed to evacuate today.

Their strike, however, will not end until the university autonomy measure authorized last week by a special session of Congress but not yet promulgated has been put into force by President Portes Gil.

The agreement to evacuate the building followed a conference of the President and student leaders, in which he told them the autonomy measure is being drafted and will be invoked shortly.

The students struck more than a month ago in protest at the innovation of monthly examinations, replacing term examinations.

FIRE ROUTS OCCUPANTS FROM HOTEL

Crew Leader Collapses in Basement of Building But is Rescued by Aides

BAKERSFIELD, June 13.—Fire, starting in the basement of what in bygone days was the old Windsor saloon, sent occupants of the Windsor Hotel scurrying from smoke-filled rooms, threatened a block of business buildings and nearly cost the life of Assistant Fire Chief T. W. Pinnell.

Leading his men into the smoke-filled basement of the burning building, Pinnell collapsed, but was carried from the structure by other firemen. He was revived and, although ill throughout the night, seemed little the worse for his experience this morning.

The building, which housed the hotel on its upper floor and two vacant storerooms and a barber shop on the ground floor, is owned by Mrs. Frances Littlejohn, fire department officials reported.

Broken Back Man's Reward in Bridge Leap

MILWAUKEE, June 13. (AP)—For twenty minutes Edward Kluge, 56 years of age, carried on an argument with Raleigh Palbe, motorcycle policeman, as to the advisability of jumping from a viaduct. Kluge won, and today is in a hospital with a broken back and internal injuries.

Hundreds of motorists stopped at the viaduct and, before them all, Kluge, poised on the railing and talked with those who sought to dissuade him from making the leap.

Palbe called the fire department, asking that a net be spread for the man.

The siren of the fire truck was heard. It roared to a stop.

"They won't catch me with a net," Kluge shouted. Then he leaped to the ground, forty-five feet below.

ENTANGLED CASE ENDS SPEEDILY

Contempt of Court, Dry Law Conspiracy and Bad Check Charges Involved

FRESNO, June 13.—Contempt of court, conspiracy to violate the State prohibition law and bogus check charges were interwoven here today in one of the most complicated though brief criminal cases with which the Superior Court has had to wrestle for many months.

L. C. McLauchlin, Oakland salesman, was accused by Mrs. W. W. Parks, hera, of giving her a fictitious check for $40. McLauchlin countered her charge with the declaration that he gave it to her for bootleg liquor, which, attorneys held, was not property, and that, therefore, he was guilty of no crime as no one was defrauded.

Mrs. Parks in no uncertain language applied the "short and ugly" word to his statement, whereupon Presiding Judge Strother fined her $5 for contempt of court.

McLauchlin's brother-in-law, J. R. Peak, also of Oakland, corroborated McLauchlin's testimony, and added that he, too, had purchased liquor from Mrs. Parks.

This statement brought from Judge Strother the demand that the District Attorney's office immediately take steps to prosecute the brothers-in-law for conspiracy to violate the Wright Act.

The jury found McLauchlin guilty and the judge set Monday afternoon for sentencing.

DRY SHOOTINGS INQUIRY ASKED

Latest Instance Denounced as "Assassination"

Schafer Brings Subject Up in Congress

Treasury Defends Arms Use by Enforcers

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—While the Treasury today declared two of its agents who shot persons in enforcing prohibition were justified in firing, Representative Schafer, Republican, Wisconsin, characterized a third shooting as an "assassination" and asked Congress to investigate law enforcement by Federal officers.

Denouncing the slaying at International Falls, Minn., he asked appropriation of $35,000 to meet the expenses of the proposed investigation.

The Treasury made public orders issued two months ago to prohibition agents by Commissioner Doran which warned them that a prisoner escaping custody is not justification for using weapons. Doran's order was issued after the passage of the Jones-Stalker Act, which made transportation or sale of intoxicants a felony.

Assistant Secretary Lowman, in a statement, said investigation of the shooting of Archibald Eugster at Detroit by Jonah Cox, a customs border patrolman, showed that Cox fired in the performance of duty.

The shooting of J. J. Thompson at Silver City, N. M., by a prohibition officer and a deputy sheriff was upheld by Lowman on the ground that Thompson was caught delivering ten gallons of whisky and opened fire upon the officers. Thompson may live.

No reports have been received at the Treasury upon the shooting at International Falls of Henry Virkkula by Customs Border Patrolman E. J. White.

The Treasury reiterated today its statement that it could not comply with requests that it disarm in law enforcement officers. It was said that because the officers deal with desperate men, their efforts would be impotent without arms.

Statistics purporting to show that 135 persons have been killed by Federal prohibition officers during the ten years of prohibition, while fifty-five prohibition officers have been killed in line of duty, were introduced in the Congressional Record today by Representative Florence P. Kahn of California.

FIRST-DEGREE MURDER CHARGE NOW SOUGHT

INTERNATIONAL FALLS (Minn.) June 13. (AP)—Efforts will be made to charge E. J. White, border patrolman, held for the slaying of Henry Virkkula, with first-degree murder, David Hurlburt, Koochiching county attorney, announced tonight. White is held on a second-degree manslaughter charge.

Virkkula was slain by the border guard while he was riding along a road with Mrs. Virkkula and their two children. The guard was on the lookout for rum runners.

HUGE FORCE TO COVER STATE

Census Plans Announced; More Than Third of Districts Here

WASHINGTON, June 13. (Exclusive)—Following final enactment of the reapportionment census bill today, officials at the Census Bureau announced that California has been divided into 4175 enumeration districts, nearly 1500 of them in Los Angeles county. In most cases each district will be in charge of one census-taker.

Overseeing the count in the State will be twenty-one directing officials in charge of as many "supervisory districts." This bears out forecasts that California will have upward of 4000 on the census pay roll.

DEBT-PACT RATIFYING HITS SNAG

French Decree Proposal Rejected by Chamber of Deputies Commission

PARIS, June 13. (AP)—The Finance Commission of the Chamber of Deputies today rejected proposals to ratify by decree the Franco-American and Franco-British debt settlements.

Premier Poincare at one time favored ratification by decree, but was opposed by important groups in the Chamber of Deputies, which insisted that the ratification, when it comes, must be by formal parliamentary procedure.

A commission of jurists, to whom the matter had been referred by M. Poincare, yesterday reported that ratification by decree of the debt settlements is constitutional.

Deputy Jacques Stern, secretary of the Foreign Affairs Committee, recommends that Parliament ratify the Mellon-Berenger agreement, providing that such ratification is conditional on safeguards against the financial security of France being jeopardized by failure of Germany to keep her undertakings under the Young plan of payments.

He said, however, "ratification of the Washington agreement would bring great improvement to relations between France and the United States and also would be a serious step toward restoration of the international credit of France."

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Plans to established the largest cancer research institute in the world were announced today by prominent physicians and Chicago officials who have been carrying on preliminary negotiations for several weeks.

Research experts will be assigned to the clinic by the medical schools of Northwestern, Chicago, Loyola and Illinois universities. Dr. Mayo explained, while he will act as a "general adviser."

A local board of directors will be headed by Edwin N. Hurley, philanthropist and former president of the United States Shipping Board.

Lasky Sues for Insurance on Burned Studio

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13. (AP)—A $72,400 suit against three foreign insurance companies was filed in United States District Court here today by Paramount-Famous Lasky Corporation. The film company asserted it had not been recompensed for damages by fire last January to three Hollywood sound-proof stages for which the Norwich Fire Insurance Society, Ltd., allied underwriters of the Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ltd., and the Commercial Union Assurance Company, Ltd., London, Eng., had issued policies.

Six other insurance companies holding policies on the stages have paid their share of the loss.

Four Accused in Counterfeiting

MUSKOGEE (Okla.) June 13. (AP) Four indictments against asserted members of a counterfeiting ring which operated throughout the Southwest were included among forty-six true bills returned today by the Federal grand jury here. The operations of the ring were thought to have amounted to several millions of dollars.

Arthur Applegate, foreman of a Muskogee engraving plant; Thomas Fanatamas, owner of a sign shop at Sand Springs, Okla., and W. C. Crabb and Harley Dean of Tulsa are those indicted.

Applegate is said by officers to have assisted in the making of plates from which spurious $20 bills were printed in Mexico and distributed throughout the Southwest. Plates and about $20,000 in counterfeit currency were found buried in Arizona.

RADIO RELAYING TO BE WATCHED

Foreign Broadcast Creates New Problem

Restriction Aimed Against Alien Propaganda

New Rules Also to Prevent Theft of Programs

WASHINGTON, June 13. (Exclusive)—If European radio programs are to be relayed across the Atlantic and rebroadcast by American stations, the Federal Radio Commission wants to keep a close check on their content and character. With such supervision in view, and also in order to curb local "bootlegging" of the programs being relayed by some American stations via the short waves, the commission has issued a general order imposing certain restrictions on rebroadcasting activities.

Stations engaged in relay broadcasting must obtain written consent from the commission before any stations within the United States may pick up and rebroadcast their programs. Thus the Federal authority goes directly to the source of the program, for this restriction applies equally to the British, French and German stations, which propose to send over their programs for reception in the United States.

BOOTLEGGING PREVENTED

Whether the order is aimed at possible propaganda uses of radio internationally, the commission did not undertake to say. This is believed to be its purpose, at least in part.

Domestically, the order is important in that it demands permission from the government before several rebroadcasting projects, proposing to use the short waves in lieu of telephone lines to link stations in networks, can be undertaken. It is also important because it should prevent certain stations from picking programs off the short waves and rebroadcasting them as their own without the permission of the transmitter.

This practice is known in radio as "bootlegging." Owners of short-wave broadcasting stations like WGY and KDKA, have frequently complained of it. There has been no way in law, however, to prosecute such infringements.

TRANSOCEAN RELAYS POOR

Relays of programs from England have several times been attempted with only fair success by the National Broadcasting Company. Recently relay short waves were also granted the New York and Philadelphia stations of the Columbia Broadcasting System for programs promised from England, France and Germany.

With respect to relays to foreign countries, the commission's order only requires the licensee to report quarterly the stations abroad which are regularly receiving and rebroadcasting the programs originated here, and also to submit certain other technical data about reception conditions abroad.

Another order just passed by the commission fixes restriction upon seaboard and lake port broadcasting stations, covering the absolute priority that must be given radio signals coming from ships or aircraft in distress. Not only must the stations sign off immediately upon notification of SOS calls, but these stations on the seacoast or Great Lakes operating on 550 to 1000 kilocycles must maintain an effective and continuous watch for distress signals by employing a licensed operator.

SOS HAS RIGHT OF WAY

The order applies not only to shore stations of five kilowatts and upward operating on these wave lengths covering the upper half of the broadcast spectrum, but it also applies to all stations of these waves or power which are within from thirty to 100 miles of the shores.

Thus, the broadcasting stations on or near the coasts are made veritable "watchdogs of navigation." They must have receivers tuned in to the distress waves and manned by competent operators. Whenever an SOS call is heard, they must cease broadcasting, so as not to interfere with distress traffic. They may not go back on the air with their regular programs until all distress traffic has cleared.

Cupid Plays Sly Part in World Game

CLEVELAND, June 13. (AP)—The approaching marriage of Miss Esther Christensen, Cleveland debutante, exerted an unexpected influence at the reparations conference in Paris and its effect now has been permanently left upon the negotiations there, she revealed today.

Miss Christensen is the fiancee of Charles J. Young, eldest son of Owen D. Young, head of the American delegation to the conference and while the negotiations lagged, it appeared for a time that Mr. Young would be unable to attend their wedding here Saturday. But while still engaged in the meetings, Mr. Young sent Miss Christensen a radiogram that by all means he would bring the delegates to some kind of an agreement in time.

Mr. Young sailed from France last week and probably will fly here from New York to be present for the ceremony.

Rancho Santa Fe

The Horseman's Paradise

HORSEMEN discovered great riding country at Rancho Santa Fe a year or so ago, and the horse colony suddenly grew amazingly! Not since the days of the Dons, when the Osunas, Alvarados and Utts found greatest pleasure astride their steeds in this same smiling country, has the horse so monopolized people's attention. Here are some of the outstanding reasons:

Over 10,000 acres within Rancho Santa Fe itself, extending from mountain foothills to the sea.

Over 50 miles of roads and paths within Rancho Santa Fe winding through orchards, eucalyptus groves and native parks...crossing little barrancas ...skirting a golf course...dipping down into valleys...climbing to picturesque mesas...passing great estates with colorful Spanish homes and sweet-scented gardens.

An irritable empire of riding country surrounding ...far-flung plateaus traversed by the original El Camino Real.

Freedom from traffic. You can ride all day near Rancho Santa Fe and never hear the honk of a horn.

Climate is the finest in America for both man and mount. Constant cool ocean breezes. Mountains protect from desert winds. Temperature varies little winter and summer.

Ownership. Rancho Santa Fe was started 6 years ago by the Santa Fe Railway, which has now been succeeded by the Rancho Santa Fe Corporation.

Environment. Protective restrictions and required improvement of property have attracted unusually high type of people. A quiet dignified country estate atmosphere.

Improvements. Over $5,000,000 has already been invested in homes, roads, orchards, village, inn, school, water distribution system, etc. All needed conveniences the same as in the city.

Recreational. Besides bridle paths, you can enjoy every typical California sport. The new $200,000 golf course has just been opened.

Your name on coupon below will bring our monthly magazine.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

KEEFE TO HEAD ORGANIZATION

Monrovia Man Voted Second Honor Within Week

Merger With Development Association Defeated

Charles P. Bayer of Los Angeles Named Secretary

MONROVIA, June 13.—Just two days following the annual election of the Monrovia Chamber of Commerce of which he was elected president, Walter E. Keefe, manager for a local gas company, was yesterday elected president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at its annual meeting in Los Angeles.

Keefe succeeds George Dake of San Gabriel, who has guided the destinies of the Associated Chambers during the past year. Others elected to the board include T. H. Lambert, of El Monte, first vice-president; Dr. J. H. Batten of Claremont, second vice-president; Charles P. Bayer of Los Angeles, secretary-treasurer.

The organization, which is made up of twenty-one chambers throughout the San Gabriel Valley is considered one of the largest organizations of its kind in the State.

An effort to merge the San Gabriel Valley Development Association with the Associated Chambers before the election of officers met with defeat.

J. L. Mathews, Covina publisher, is president of the development association.

New Officers of Inglewood Club

INGLEWOOD, June 13.—With District-Governor Samuel Carpenter of Los Angeles as installing officer and Past District Governor Emery Tundit of that city present to felicitate the officers of the club to which he handed its charter five years ago, the Inglewood Lions' Club last night installed Ernest W. Gould as president, and the other officers and directors for the coming year.

Past presidents of the local organization were prominent on the program, among them being E. S. Dixon as toastmaster and Newcomb Cendee, who not only showed moving pictures taken by himself of notable events in the local club's history, and incidents of district and national conventions, but also presented the retiring president, Gerald F. Sparling, on behalf of the club, with a gift in the form of a similar motion-picture camera, which the latter will take with him to record events of the forthcoming Lions' international convention at Louisville, Ky.

In addition to the new president, officers installed at the banquet given at the Potrero Country Club were: Ralph F. Lamb, first vice-president; Lee Calkins, second vice-president; Louis B. Hardin, Jr., third vice-president; B. K. Richardson, secretary; N. J. Salyards, treasurer; Bud Ton, tail twister; Josephus D. Barrett, lion tamer; Roy L. Hill and Horace C. Follett, directors. Dr. Russell C. Letson and Dr. Horace S. Gushing, directors elect, were unable to be present, the former due to a professional engagement and the latter because he is now on a European tour and armed with credentials from Lions' international as "ambassador to Lions' clubs in foreign lands."

Mr. Lamb led the community singing and offered the invocation, accompaniment to the songs being played by Miss Ethel Johnson. The committee that planned the highly successful occasion was made up of Mrs. E. S. Dixon, Mrs. J. Frank Garrison and Mrs. Reginald K. Francis. E. E. "Hack" Miller, another past-president, gave a five-minute resume of his year in office, Secretary Richardson told of Mr. Dixon's year, and Mrs. Harry Beaver and Louis B. Hardin, Jr., told of Mr. Beaver's administration, he being in hospital recovering after an operation.

WILL CASE DECIDED

Beaumont Man Loses Fortune in Litigation Instigated by Heirs of Cult Leader

RIVERSIDE, June 13.—From the $350,000 estate of the late Murray Schloss, religious cult leader of Beaumont, the Superior Court ordered apportioned today two inheritances totaling $87,500 for a brother and a sister, who cut off without a cent in the now famous Schloss will, have been plaintiffs in the sensational action for revocation of the instrument because of asserted "manipulation" of the 50-year-old Beaumont man before his death.

The fortune, to be paid on an order by Superior Judge F. A. Leonard to Albert W. Schloss of Grass Plains, Mich., and Clara Schloss Adler of Milwaukee, was agreed upon as a compromise in an agreement signed between the trustees named in Schloss's will and attorneys for the brother and sister. A final hearing is scheduled for July 1.

Besides the monetary consideration, the brother and sister are to receive $100 worth of the family silverware, according to the agreement.

Signing of the agreement is believed to terminate the sensational court action that charged Guy Bogart, former Mayor of Beaumont, with flattering, unduly influencing and manipulating the elderly Schloss during the last years of his life to such an extent that his entire fortune was left either to him or strange hill cults over which Bogart was installed as trustee. Mr. and Mrs. Bogart were asserted to have persuaded Schloss to eat almost raw vegetables by telling him this practice was among the tenets of the strange cults, among which were the Church of the Dawn, Heart of the Hills and the Murray Schloss Fund for Hothan Pioneering.

The brother and sister charge they doubted the authenticity of their brother's will, asserting that it was written by some one else and signed by Schloss when he was too ill to be aware of his act. In the instrument all heirs were forever cut off from a part in the estate and if ever any made any attempt to share the fortune, they were to be allowed but $1 each.

Bogart was asserted in the complaint to have guarded Schloss carefully everywhere he went, care being taken that he did not talk with anyone alone. The wealthy invalid was flattered and made to believe that he was the moving spirit in the organizations to which most of his estate was left.

Principal part of the $350,000 fortune is in cash and securities, there being some land and property as well.

HELPING HAND TO MEXICO

Pomona College Official Chosen Head of Inter-America Foundation

CLAREMONT, June 13.—Organization of the Inter-America Foundation by a committee of ten leading Southern Californians was announced here today. The foundation is organized for the purpose of developing cultural inter-relations between Mexico and Southern California and will seek to complement in an educational way the trade relations which are so rapidly uniting the interests of these two races, and is based on the conviction that the Mexican people have a rich culture to contribute to our American life, and that the largest service America can render Mexico is in the contribution of educational influences to the life of the common people.

James Hoffman Batten, for several years head of the Pomona College department of regional service, will resign his work at Pomona August 31, to take up his new position as executive director of the Inter-America Foundation, with offices to be retained in Claremont. Close affiliation will be maintained with Claremont Colleges.

James Hoffman Batten

THE FOUNDERS

The organization committee behind the foundation is composed of Dr. David P. Barrows of the University of California, Berkeley; Dr. James A. Blaisdell, president, Claremont Colleges; Mr. Batten; Harry Chandler, publisher, Los Angeles Times; James S. Edwards, president, East Highlands Orange Company, Redlands; Robert E. Dorton, president, Foreign Trade Club, Los Angeles; George W. Marston, president, the Marston Co., San Diego; John G. Mott, attorney, Los Angeles; J. A. Rosenkrantz, president, National Automotive School, Los Angeles, and Paul Shoup, president, Southern Pacific Company, San Francisco.

For the initial impulse to organization of this foundation, it is indebted to Pomona College, which pioneered cultural exchange between the two nations through organization of the Friends of the Mexicans conference, held annually for seven years with J. H. Batten as director. The exchange of students between Pomona College and the University of Mexico summer schools inaugurated three years ago; the attendance of Mexican public school teachers at Pomona summer sessions; the sending of visiting professors to teachers' institutes of Mexico; the combined summer school study and tour of Mexico inaugurated two years ago and the maintenance of a general bureau of information on Mexican affairs.

EXCHANGE PROFESSORSHIPS

In addition to continuing the above lines of activity the foundation proposes to inaugurate exchange professorships between the National University of Mexico and California colleges, provide scholarships for Mexican students for the regular college year, and co-operate with preparatory and high schools through attendance of Mexican students preparing to enter college in this country.

A minimum amount of $10,000 a year for five years is being provided to carry on the functions of the foundation and it is proposed to carry on the campaign until $25,000 yearly is assured.

LEAVES FOR MEXICO

Executive Director Batten leaves Southern California July 7 to spend a month in Mexico, where he will confer with government leaders, educational leaders and State governors regarding the foundation program and the sending of Mexican teachers to institutions in this country. While in Mexico City he will take steps to organize a committee of prominent American residents and Mexican citizens to co-operate in the educational work of the foundation. The fourth annual seminar in Mexico, conducted by the Committee on Cultural Co-operation with Latin America will conduct a round-table discussion on the problem of emigration and immigration as relating to Mexico and the United States as a feature of its sessions between July 13 and August 3. This round-table discussion will be led by Mr. Batten.

Batten also hopes to arrange for the bringing of distinguished Mexican educators and men in public life to California for a series of addresses to be given at educational institutions and other organizations.

Indians Held on Suspicion at Escondido

ESCONDIDO, June 13.—With Romaldo Calac, 26 years of age, Rincon reservation Indian, dead here as the result of either a knife fight or automobile accident on the Valley Center grade yesterday afternoon, his cousins, Alexander and "Billy" Calac, are being held by authorities pending official investigation of the affair. The injured Indian died at 4:55 o'clock this morning in the local hospital, where he had been taken last night bleeding profusely from a jagged cut on the head and what was described as a small stab wound in the throat.

According to reports from A. F. Andreason, city marshal, the three young Indians were driving up the Valley Center grade yesterday afternoon in an asserted state of intoxication. "Alexander and Billy Calac say that their companion fell out of the open car twice on the way up causing the head injury which is thought to have caused his death," said Andreason. "But he had a small slash in his throat that looked as if it had been inflicted by a knife."

A small pocket knife was found on one of the jailed cousins, it was reported from an unverified source. The wounded Indian died of loss of blood, according to word from the hospital. His body was taken to the Rogers funeral parlors and Coroner Kelly notified.

An inquest probably will be conducted later. No action has been taken by the District Attorney's office, as no complaints have been filed against either of the two Indians held here.

CEREMONIES MARK PLAYGROUND OPENING

GLENDALE, June 13.—Children's Day, marking the opening of the summer playground season, will be held at nine Glendale schools and two of the city parks on Saturday, the 22nd inst., following the close of the present school term.

Patriotic exercises, including flag exercises, addresses by the presidents of the various parent-teachers' associations, and a program of sports, will be held, with members of various civic organizations acting as judges.

Summer playgrounds have been chosen to provide supervised recreation for the children during their vacation, each one being located to furnish a recreation center for as many children as possible at the shortest distance from their homes. Trained supervisors will have charge of the activities at the playgrounds and will carry out sports programs, pageants, folk games and dances. According to John W. Norviel, supervisor of recreation, the summer playgrounds have been found to be one of the most effective methods of combating juvenile delinquency by keeping children of school age off the streets during the time they are freed of school restraint.

NEW HOSPITAL FOR SAN BERNARDINO

SAN BERNARDINO, June 13.—With $72,000 pledged toward a $100,000 fund, the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce today called a "victory dinner" for next Monday night to mark the close of the Sisters of Charity Hospital drive which will establish in the city a $500,000 institution.

The city has pledged itself to raise $100,000 of the $500,000 fund, the Sisters of Charity contributing $400,000. The sisters, a nation-wide organization, will erect and maintain the hospital, a 100-bed institution, to be erected on a site near the center of the city. More than 200 campaigners have been in the field for nearly a week collecting subscriptions to the $100,000 fund and today when it appeared that the campaign would go over the Chamber of Commerce issued its "victory dinner" call. More than 2500 residents have contributed to the fund. The campaign is the greatest peacetime drive in the history of the city for a civic enterprise.

NEW NAME FOR OLD HABIT

Mexican Attempts to Use Proper Language But Comes Far from Truth

SANTA BARBARA, June 13.—Judge Van Zant of Kings county scratched his head this morning as he sat on Judge S. E. Crow's bench in Superior Court and heard Gabriel Saldevila ask for a divorce on the grounds that his wife was "in a taxicab."

"Do you mean she drives a taxicab?" asked the puzzled judge, who in his many years of court experience has heard taxicabs and taxicab drivers called almost everything except grounds for divorce.

"No, no," gesticulated the plaintiff. "She is always in taxicab."

She rides in a taxicab all of the time?" queried his honor.

"No, no," denied the Mexican. "Always she is in taxicab."

At that moment a lawyer came to the rescue. In typical attorney vocabulary he suggested that perhaps the man meant his wife was inebriated, intoxicated, crocked, pie-eyed, or stewed.

"Do you mean she is always drunk?" asked the court.

SKY RIDE FOR MAYOR OF ARCADIA

City Officials Guests of Crew of Dirigible at Ross Field

ARCADIA, June 13.—On board the Goodyear dirigible Volunteer, stationed at Ross Field, which made its initial passenger trip today, were Arcadia city officials including Mayor A. N. Multer, City Clerk Meade and City Treasurer Baldwin.

With Pilot Karl Lange at the wheel, assisted by F. B. Campbell, co-pilot, the blimp made a half-hour flight over foothill cities including Pasadena, Altadena, Sierra Madre, Monrovia and Arcadia.

Mayor Multer described the peculiar sensation while up in the dirigible as "just floating along in space." "You feel as though you are suspended in mid-air while the earth is passing you by." Multer breathlessly explained, still dizzy from his flight, but declared that he was ready to go up again.

The trip was made following breakfast at the Foothill Breakfast Club with the two pilots as special guests.

Following a demand by the breakfasters for speeches, Lange responded to the request with a six-minute talk on lighter-than-air maneuvers.

Lange explained that the blimp is being stationed here in preparation for establishing a commercial line between Los Angeles and the Hawaiian Islands and declared that climatic conditions here are excellent for lighter-than-air craft.

County Superintendent of Schools Upjohn was also seated at the speakers' table along with Albert Chamness, Mayor of Whittier; James Fiske, Mayor of San Gabriel, and Mayor Campbell of Alhambra.

Railroad Man Tells Effects of Recent Order

MEXICALI, June 13.—All towns along the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad in Imperial Valley will be penalized if Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez carries out his order limiting railroad traffic across the international border between California and Mexico to the same hours as pedestrian and motor traffic, according to the assertion made today by E. G. Burdick, general manager of the Inter-California Railroad. According to notice received by company officials, the Governor's order will become effective July 1, next. It would stop the border to both freight and passenger travel on the Southern Pacific and San Diego and Arizona between the hours of 9 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Burdick pointed out that this restriction would necessitate the rerouting of transcontinental trains of the Southern Pacific, which now operate over the Inter-California lines for a distance of fifty miles through Mexico. Two trainloads of Imperial Valley cantaloupes which are now being shipped daily over the Mexican line to Eastern United States would have to be directed to the main line at Niland instead of Yuma, as at present. Following Burdick's address before the local Chamber of Commerce today members of the organization decided to call representatives of all Imperial Valley towns together for the purpose of discussing a solution that may involve a direct appeal to Gov. Rodriguez to modify or rescind his order.

New Air Mail Service From Alhambra Field

PASADENA, June 13.—Within a month air mail planes bearing letters stamped with "first flight" seals will roar up from the new airport which the Western Air Express Company is constructing on land formerly owned by this city along the Valley Boulevard, it was announced today, following a survey of the field by officials of the concern.

The formal dedication of the airport will not be held until September as many of the buildings will not be completed until after the field is in daily use by air mail planes, according to William Tate, Western Air Express public relations director.

Seals commemorating the first flight from the new field will be affixed upon mail posted for the initial delivery, Postmaster William F. Knight asserted this afternoon.

In order to obtain the seals, stamp collectors should mail orders for them in care of the Western Air Express Company, 113 West Ninth street, Los Angeles.

EASTERN STAR HOST AT FORMAL DEDICATION

CULVER CITY, June 13.—Preceded by a banquet at which the Culver City order of the Eastern Star was host to Blue Lodge Masons, the Order of Ila Molay and Order of Job's Daughters, the new $50,000 Culver City Masonic Building was formally dedicated today. The fine new structure includes complete equipment, with lodge rooms, club facilities reading and recreation rooms, dining-room and other features. It is located at the intersection of Venice Boulevard and Watseka avenue, this city.

On the formal dedication program for the evening, Lawrence H. Wilson, Worshipful Master of Culver City Lodge, presided. The ceremonies were conducted by a delegation of Grand Lodge officers headed by Past Grand Master Gustav A. Hutaff. Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe was on the program for the dedicatory oration. The speakers included practically every prominent Mason who participated in the cornerstone-laying ceremonies last November.

CHAMBER FLAYS OFFICIAL

Calexico Body Asks Removal of Deputy Collector at International Line

CALEXICO, June 13.—Asserting that "unnecessary delay and inconvenience to international traffic at this port of entry has been caused by the autocratic administrative methods of Harvey F. Shepperd, deputy collector in charge of the local customs office," directors of the Calexico Chamber of Commerce by unanimous vote today asked the Treasury Department to remove the official.

In a resolution containing specific charges against Shepperd the chamber accused him of having humiliated Mexican government officials to such an extent that many of them refused to cross the line into the United States and that the result has been a boycott on American merchants.

Two instances were cited in which Gov. Abelardo Rodrigues of the northern district was held up at the line and in one case ordered to leave his car while inspectors conducted a rigid search for contraband. Shepperd in explaining his violation of the courtesy generally accorded high officials of the neighboring country, placed the blame on his subordinates.

The customs official is further accused of failure to keep traffic lanes open for legitimate business between Calexico and Mexicali and "of frequent blunders which have served to break down the friendly relations between the American and Mexican communities."

According to directors of the chamber a number of protests have been filed against the local official and members of the organization finally decided that his removal is necessary to clear up the local situation at the line.

Shepperd expressed a general denial of the accusations against him and declared that the action of the chamber was the outgrowth of personal animosity on the part of certain citizens.

Long Trail of Forged Checks Causes Arrest

ALHAMBRA, June 13.—Walter S. Rudisell, 44 years of age, whose asserted bad-check activities in Southern California during the last few weeks caused a State-wide hunt, was arraigned before Police Judge R. S. Farrell here today. His preliminary hearing was set for Friday and bail was fixed at $4000.

When arrested in Los Angeles Tuesday night, Rudisell gave his name as A. G. Graham, but admitted today that Rudisell is his right name. He gave his home address as 7902 Prospect avenue, Cleveland.

Rudisell appeared in Alhambra prior to the Shrine convention and, posing as a visiting Shriner, formed the acquaintance of several local business men. Several checks were cashed. Among his asserted victims were Charles H. Munson, druggist; Leo Asher and the Rex Hotel. At the Owl Garage Rudisell made a deal to trade in his Nash roadster on a new Auburn coupe. He tendered a check for $1815 to cover the difference in price. The following day he returned, called the deal off and removed his car. The check had been deposited and a few days afterward was returned marked "no funds."

Jack Johnson, one of the Owl Garage proprietors, recognized the Nash car in Los Angeles Tuesday night and followed it to a South Figueroa-street hotel. He called the police and Rudisell was placed under arrest.

Rudisell was to have been married yesterday to a Los Angeles waitress, Miss Mary Willingham, 21 years of age, after a whirlwind courtship. Rudisell told the woman he was a Shriner and a wealthy oil man from Canton, O.

During his stay in Alhambra Rudisell is said to have become acquainted with an Alhambra girl and to have invited her to a Shrine dinner party in Los Angeles. The girl purchased a $50 evening gown for the occasion, but her "boy friend" failed to appear.

The Nash car Rudisell was driving is said to have been stolen in Burlingame, Cal. He is also said to have been sent to the Washington State prison as an habitual criminal, but was pardoned by the late President Wilson.

Police Failed to See Joke

GLENDALE, June 13.—Clarence Atkins, 2524 North Highland avenue, Hollywood, while riding along San Fernando Road in the rear seat of an automobile, solaced himself with a large, juicy slice of watermelon. The disposal of the rind presented a problem, but only for a moment.

As Atkins and his companion, James Fox, 5524 North Highland avenue, passed another car going in the opposite direction, Atkins flipped the watermelon rind into the lap of a passenger in the other machine and considered that he had perpetrated a delicate piece of humor. Unfortunately, a car containing Detective Lieutenant F. C. Williams and Officer Johnson was close behind Atkins and Fox and the former was tagged for violation of the Penal Code and sentenced by Judge F. H. Pupils on Job Despite Fire

OWENSMOUTH, June 13.—Flanked on all sides with the ruins of the Owensmouth High School building, which was almost totally destroyed by fire yesterday, the 350 pupils in the various classes assembled for study this morning in the gymnasium in the Greek Theater building and on the lawns on all sides of the burned main building.

Within two weeks from today sixty-two of the pupils will be graduated and it is the purpose of the teachers, under trying circumstances, to keep up the study programs until the end of this term.

The Owensmouth school was built about fifteen years ago at a contract price of $115,000. This price does not include numerous other buildings that have been added to the original structure.

Firemen today say that it is their belief that the burned building will have to be entirely rebuilt.

HUSBAND FINDS BODY OF WIFE

WILMAR, June 13.—When Reynold Pressy returned to his home at 2228 Kelburn avenue last night he found his wife, Maude, lying dead on the kitchen floor in a pool of blood.

Deputies from the Temple City Sheriff's substation were called and reported that a trail of blood extended through the house to where the body lay near a kitchen cabinet. The only visible injury was a scalp wound in the back of the head.

Pressy found the door locked from the inside when he arrived home and was obliged to force entrance, he said.

An autopsy conducted today at the undertaking chapel of F. A. Utter & Son, Alhambra, revealed that the woman died from natural causes, the scalp wound having been caused when she fell to the floor.

ARREST OWNER OF DANCE HALL

"Taxi" Resort at Ontario Declared Nuisance

Proprietor at Liberty Under $500 Bond

Charge White Girls "Rented Out" to Filipinos

ONTARIO, June 13.—Charged with maintaining a nuisance, A. O. Ballard, proprietor of Ontario's "taxi" dance hall was at liberty under $500 bail today to appear before Judge George R. Holbrook's court July 8.

Ballard called at the police station late yesterday to ask that he be given police protection at his dance hall, not knowing that Chief of Police Arthur Axley was prepared to place him under arrest last night, in response to a number of protests lodged with him against continuance of the dance hall in the community.

Complaints lodged with city officials declared that only Filipinos and Mexicans were allowed to enter the dance hall where white girls were available to them for 10 cents per dance. The place was declared a menace to the youth of the community, as well as a general nuisance.

The girls were "rented out" to the Filipino and Mexican patrons for 10 cents per dance, it was charged, the house and girl splitting the dime. Plain clothes men gained entry to the place and upon making the claims. The arrest of Ballard followed.

Recently the city police organization paid a visit to the taxi dance hall to gain information on the situation. A "lookout" was reported observed their approach. When the commission entered the place there were no men present, but girls were dancing among themselves.

It is said the girls used at the dance hall came from Pomona and Los Angeles.

Arraigned today before Judge Holbrook, Ballard entered a plea of not guilty to maintaining a nuisance, and demanded a trial by jury. He was released on $500 bail pending date for his trial set for July 8.

The same dance hall management is said to have been forced out of Pomona, when their dance hall license fee was set at $500 per day.

Blue Sky Chief Issues Warning

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) June 13. (AP)—Forty stock and securities companies, many of them offering oil investments in Idaho, Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Washington and Delaware and New York, were today ordered to cease and desist selling in Missouri by Commissioner Fenton T. Stockard of the State Securities Department.

In a notice to the public the Blue Sky commissioner warned against buying stock, interests or other securities of the concerns because they have failed to register their securities to be sold in Missouri and failed to comply with the Missouri securities law by having some one authorized to accept service upon them.

NEW CURRENCY PLANS LAID

Distribution Will be Completed by July 10, Next; Federal Reserve Branch in Charge

BY EARLE E. CROWE

By July 10 the Los Angeles branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco expects to complete its distribution of the first allotment of new currency. Approximately 500 member banks in Southern California and a portion of Arizona will receive the new bills from the Los Angeles branch, and thereafter the tellers in the banks and the customers will have a busy time trying to distinguish between legal tender and cigar-store coupons.

Instructions have already been sent to member banks informing them of the procedure to follow in exchanging old currency for new. In exchange for old currency sent to the Los Angeles branch of the Federal Reserve Bank, the 500 member banks will be allotted new bills in the ratio of $4 for each $1000 of resources. This means that a bank with $1,000,000 in resources will receive $4000 of the new bills as its first quota.

TO RETIRE ALL

As rapidly as possible the transition from the old to the new will go forward until the old bills are entirely replaced. In preparation for this task the force of the Los Angeles branch has been rehearsing for the last several weeks in order that the program will be conducted without a hitch. Old bills will be received from the member banks, sorted for fitness and forwarded to Washington; new bills will be shipped in, classified here and then reshipped to various points in this district. Old bills unfit for circulation will be cut up and bailed for shipment to Washington where the material will be used again in the manufacture of currency.

In allocating the first quota to member banks, the Los Angeles branch of the Federal Reserve Bank, according to officers, will restrict the issuance of bills in the smaller denominations. Twenty per cent of each bank's initial allotment will be divided into $1 and $2, 50 per cent in $5 bills, and the remainder in $10 and $20 denominations.

BILLS DISTINGUISHED

In common with the program arranged for Southern California and Arizona banks all over the United States will be going through the same process of exchange. Approximately 900,000,000 pieces of paper currency now in circulation are affected by the exchange, comprising United States and Federal Reserve currency and national bank notes of denominations ranging from $1 to $10,000.

Smaller than the bills now in use, the new currency measures 6 5-16 by 2 11-16 inches, and is lighter in weight. The face of each denomination is engraved with a portrait, and contains variations in text, and color in which the seal and serial number are printed. Seals and serial numbers will be printed in red for United States notes; in blue for silver certificates; in green for Federal Reserve notes; and in brown for national bank notes.

Instead of eight or nine portraits which now appear on $5 bills of different types of issue, the backs of the new bills of that denomination will all bear an engraving of the Lincoln Memorial as a predominating feature. On the face of the bills the denominations will be engraved with the following portraits:

One dollar, Washington; $2, Jefferson; $5, Lincoln, $10, Hamilton, $20, Jackson, $50, Grant; $100, Franklin; $500, McKinley; $1000, Cleveland; $5000, Madison, and $10,000, Chase.

Exchange Adds Pickwick Stock to Trading List

Governors of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday approved the listing of 654,967 shares of $10 par value common stock of the Pickwick Corporation, 639,458 shares of which will be called for trading on the 24th inst., according to an announcement made yesterday by Carl P. Miller, secretary. Applications were also approved for the listing of additional stock by the International Reinsurance Corporation and the Union Bank and Trust Company.

Listing of the Pickwick Corporation stock will mark the first time the stock has been traded on any organized exchange. The company recently participated in a consolidation with the Southern Pacific Motor Transportation and Motor Transit Company under which the Pacific Transportation Securities Company, Inc., was formed, the Pickwick company retaining, however, certain of its assets. The company's capitalization, in addition to the common, includes 109,288 shares of 7 per cent and 100,000 shares of 8 per cent preferred.

Additional listings by the International Reinsurance Corporation and the Union Bank cover 50,000 shares of the former and 10,000 shares of the latter.

Coast Brokers Acquire Seats on Big Market

Election of two more Pacific Coast brokerage houses to the New York Stock Exchange was announced yesterday in dispatches telling of the admittance to the exchange of Dean Witter & Co., and William Cavalier & Co. Both houses operate branch offices in Los Angeles, and are members of the Los Angeles and San Francisco exchanges.

Dean Witter, head of the house bearing his name, and William Cavalier, also head of his own company, are the individual purchasers of the seats. The Cavalier seat was purchased for $414,000.

Dean Witter & Co., originally organized as an investment house, entered the brokerage business last year after having established branches of its bond business in Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, Tacoma, Sacramento, Oakland, Pasadena, Long Beach, San Diego and Honolulu. Arizona Melon Crop Estimated PHOENIX, June 13. (AP)—Arizona this season will market a $2,691,150 cantaloupe crop, according to an estimate made today by D. B. Wiley, head of the Maricopa County Farm Bureau, after a brief survey of acreage planted to cantaloupes in the Salt River and Yuma valleys and of the growing and price conditions predominating at the present time. The Salt River Valley project with 11,435 acres produces practically the entire State crop, though Yuma with 275 acres is expected to reap near $60,000 from its yield.

With first carlots to roll eastward from the Salt River Valley tomorrow, according to J. M. Foote, supervisor of fruit and vegetable inspection for Arizona, the valley is preparing for its greatest season. Though retarded slightly by cool weather, the cantaloupes are declared to be in good condition by local growers.

Alcohol Units May Make Deal

NEW YORK, June 13. (Exclusive) Negotiations are understood to be under way between the United States Industrial Alcohol Company and the National Distillers' Products Corporation for the latter's 50 per cent interest in the Eastern Alcohol Corporation, the balance of which is held by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

This would establish a close alliance between United States Industrial Alcohol, the largest industrial alcohol company in the country and the diversified Du Pont interests, large chemical manufacturers. It is considered likely that Kentucky Alcohol Corporation, also a subsidiary of National Distillers, will be included in the proposed transaction.

Millar Put on Giannini Board

Richard W. Millar, vice-president, Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, yesterday was elected to membership on the regional board of the Bank of Italy's Los Angeles division.

According to the bank's officials, Mr. Millar's election to the regional board is evidence of the close affiliation existing between the former Blair & Co. organization, the Bank of America, New York, and the Bank of Italy. It is said to also be in line with A. P. Giannini's plan of having interlocking representation on the boards of institutions controlled by the Transamerica Corporation.

THREE BAY CITY BANKS COMBINE

Crocker, American Trust and Trust Unit Join

Total Resources in Excess of $400,000,000

Trio Involved Rank Among Oldest in State

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13. (AP)—Consolidation of the American Trust Company, the Crocker First National Bank, and Crocker First Federal Trust Company, whose combined assets total in excess of $400,000,000, was voted by boards of directors of the three companies, it was announced today.

Formal announcement of the consolidation was made by William H. Crocker, president of the Crocker First National and the Crocker First Federal, and John D. McKee recently elected president of the American Trust Company.

The plan of consolidation will be submitted to the stockholders for their approval in the near future, it was announced.

DEPOSIT TOTAL LARGE

Besides the large combined resources of the three banks, the deposit liabilities are in excess of $330,000,000, bank officials stated. The institutions involved are among the oldest in California history. The merger was said by banking officials to be one of the largest of recent years.

In announcing the consolidation, Crocker and McKee issued the following statement:

"The general principles underlying the merger are highly satisfactory to both sides, and committees have been appointed to perfect the details. We are convinced that a most constructive step has been taken. The consolidation should prove beneficial to the stockholders and should offer depositors unexcelled banking facilities."

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

The committees named to perfect the details are William H. Crocker, James K. McPitt, William W. Crocker, Ralph W. Kinney, Atholl McBean and Walter S. Martin, representing the two Crocker institutions, and John D. McKee, C. O. G. Miller, Fred T. Elsey, Milton H. Esberg, Frank L. Taylor and Robert B. Henderson representing the American Trust Company.

Crocker and McKee said the amalgamation represents a forward movement of these banking interests into a stronger position, designed to keep pace with and serve the growing economic area in which the merging banks are operated. This area centers about San Francisco Bay and extends on the north as far as Santa Rosa, and on the south to Modesto, Los Banos and Gilroy.

The three banks now involved in the consolidation, through their predecessor institutions, date back into California history as early as 1850.

More detailed information on the consolidation arrangements must await the action of the committees appointed to perfect the details, it was announced. These committees have been empowered to act by the respective boards of directors, and will seek consummation of the consolidation as rapidly as possible, it was said.

Crawford, Jr., vice-president of the Curtiss company, who has been in San Francisco for the last several days negotiating the purchase. He was assisted in the negotiations by Thomas B. Eastland, director of the Curtiss company and vice-president of Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc.

The Alameda airport is situated at the Alameda mole, about twenty minutes by ferry from the foot of Market street, San Francisco. The terminal is now used by the Maddux Air Lines, and will shortly be used by Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc. It is understood that the Curtiss Flying Service, Inc., has made arrangements to conduct a flying school aviation-taxi service at the terminal, starting about July 15.

Curtiss Airports Corporation, according to Mr. Crawford, now controls directly or through subsidiaries airports and airport sites in more than a dozen strategically located cities throughout the United States.

RAIL LINE OUTWITS RIVALS

Purchase of Terminal by Pennsylvania May Spoil Van Sweringen Merger Program

NEW YORK, June 13. (Exclusive)—The Pennsylvania Railroad stood revealed today as having successfully stolen a march on its competitors by acquiring Baltimore's most important independent terminal. The Pennsylvania paid $13,000,000 for the property, thereby thwarting the Baltimore and Ohio of an addition which would have been invaluable to it now and also under the merger plans which it has put forward.

The Pennsylvania, B. & O. and Western Maryland all use the terminal acquired by the Pennsylvania. It was acquired from the Canton company through the American Exchange Securities Corporation, an affiliate of the Irving Trust Company. The Irving Trust Company did not reveal the name of its principal in the transaction and the Pennsylvania has made no comment on its acquisition. However, inquiry in railroad circles disclosed that the Pennsylvania was the purchaser.

The purpose of the Pennsylvania's acquisition is two-fold, in its scheme to disrupt the merger plans both of the B. & O. and the Van Sweringen interests. Acquisition of the Canton railroad takes it out of possible control of the B. & O. Further, it makes it possible for the Pennsylvania to transfer the line to the Wabash, which it controls, and which, like the Pennsylvania, is opposing the merger plans of the B. & O. and Van Sweringen-controlled C. & O.

The Pennsylvania-controlled Wabash will file with the Interstate Commerce Commisson next week a plan for mercing with itself the Western Maryland, already sought by the B. & O. To bridge the gap between the Wabash and the Western Maryland there would be required the Pittsburgh and West Virginia and the Wheeling and Lake Erie. William H. Williams, chairman of the Wabash, and Frank A. Taplin, chairman of the P. & W. Virginia conferred in Mr. Williams's office on Wednesday and the immediate filing of the Wabash brief is laid to the result of the conference.

As there are outstanding 112,500 shares of Chase stock, the consummation of the deal calls for the issue of 253,125 additional shares of Kennecott Copper stock, which brings the total outstanding up to 9,632,998 shares. Application has been made by the Kennecott Copper Corporation to list the additional capital stock issue for the purpose of that exchange. In that application the corporation submits a report of the Chase companies for three years, 1926, 1927 and 1928, respectively, and also for the first four months of 1929

TONE IMPROVES ON STOCK MART

Moderate Gain Recorded in Sales Volume

Easing of Credit Conditions Spurs Trading

Utility Group Again Leads Buying Activity

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—The stock market shook off to some extent the stagnation of recent sessions today, and moved forward with renewed vigor, under the impetus of more plentiful money. Total sales once more rose above 3,000,000 shares, a moderate turnover in comparison with past bullish performances, but about 5 per cent larger than previous sessions this week.

Public utility, steel and chemical shares led the advance, which was rather selective in character, and failed to include many of the coppers, oils, rails or motors. Much of the upturn was attributed to short covering, but the belief that many issues had reached bottom continued to grow, and it was rumored that some of the more powerful investment trusts were adding to their holdings.

The ease in money, which sent call loans from 6 to 7 per cent, and time loans to a flat rate of 8 1-4, from 8 1-4 to 8½ for the shorter maturities yesterday, was attributed to temporary conditions, resulting from the piling up of funds here against midmonth settlements, and bankers still warned that higher rates must be expected before the end of the month.

The Federal Reserve condition statements, which appeared after the close of the market, however, were interpreted in some quarters as indicating that the Federal Reserve authorities for the first time in months are now acting in a manner which would prevent any serious flurry in call money rates. The New York Reserve institution showed a gain of approximately $10,000,000 in bankers' acceptances purchased, and a gain of $22,000,000 in government securities.

In quarters close to the bank, however, it was insisted that no change in the tight money policy was indicated, that the gain in acceptances was the result of repur-

"LUNATIC LEGISLATION"

A contributor to the magazine Plain Talk, writing under the caption "Lunatic Legislation," says that in Maine a law prohibited the wearing of spiked shoes in public, another the leaving of a sample of patent medicine on anyone's doorstep, another the circulating of advertisements in the form of bank bills and another the selling of a box of candy purporting to contain a prize. But are these laws as useless, or were they as useless when passed, as the writer appears to think them?

Take the law of the spike-soled shoes. The author of the magazine article might read with profit Holman Day's poem descriptive of the performances of the lumberjacks who came out of the woods wearing the shoes that were death to plush covering on the seats of railroad cars and reduced floors to toothpicks. The law was enacted to abate what at the time was a nuisance. Perhaps it has outlived its usefulness. There is a new generation of workers in the woods. But there were good reasons for its passage. So with the law dealing with the samples of patent medicine on the doorstep. It followed complaint that children had "sampled" some of the samples with unfortunate results. And why should not a householder be protected against this kind of annoyance? The reasons for the other two Maine laws mentioned are self-evident. These enactments do not properly fall in the class of the legislation regulating the length of sheets on hotel beds.—[Boston Transcript.

"Cussing" Plate Found

Among the recent archaeological discoveries recently displayed in an exhibition at University College, London, was a small lead plate, dating from Roman times, and known as the "cussing" plate. It is believed to have been nailed up in some London pagan shrine for the attention of the presiding deity. On it an anonymous individual solemnly "cusses" Titus Egnatius Tyrannus and Publius Cicerius Felix, who had evidently done him a bad turn. In case some meddler rubbed the inscription off the front of one of these plates the writer repeated it on the back, where it could not easily be reached.

Eleven more boxes are being gathered and will soon be ready for shipment. Wilson, an old-timer here, recalls the day when the peach industry was the mainstay of this section of the valley. "We called this area the home of the peach," he said, "and we made a lot of money. Then the subdividers came, and what once were scores of peach orchards are now paved streets flanked on each side with home dwellings, business and apartment-houses."

chase agreements, and the increase in government securities, merely incident to the new Treasury short-term financing. But regardless of the Federal Reserve policy, it appeared that member banks had purchased new government securities in order to have them for collateral against additional rediscounts. The New York banks increased their borrowings by about $13,000,000 and the Reserve Bank showed a similar increase in bills discounted, which were secured by government obligations.

Other pleasing features in the credit situation were the extraordinary announcement of no change one way or the other, in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, and the fact that, as expected, the New York Reserve Bank made no change in its rediscount rate. Both sterling and Canadian exchange fell well below the incoming gold point, and a large importation of gold from Montreal was said to have been arranged.

UTILITIES LEAD

The utilities were still feverishly bought in today's market under the impetus of further reports of bringing together practically all of the important power companies in the East into an alignment sponsored by J. P. Morgan & Co. The Associated Press index of twenty utilities rose more than 7 points to a new high record. American Water Works, American Power and Light, Commonwealth Power, North American and Public Service of New Jersey were among issues reaching new high ground, gains running from 3 to 9 points.

Auburn Auto again was a high-flyer, mounting 18 points further into new high territory. Such old favorites as American Telephone, American Can and United States Steel rose from 4 to 7 points, the first-named drawing strong support on announcement of record sales of its subsidiary, Western Electric. General Electric rose 11 points to a new high record, but a fraction under the 300 mark.

NEW HIGHS SCORED

Bethlehem Steel, Allied Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Johns Manville, National Distillers, Union Carbide, United States Industrial Alcohol and Youngstown Sheet and Tube were among other issues reaching new peaks. Although oils were generally sluggish, Wall street remained optimistic over the prospect of eventual production control, and prices held steady. Lago was an exception, rising 4 points to a new top. Hoe & Co. was better supported than for some time past, rising about 4 points to a new 1929 high at 22 3-8.

Air Reduction ran into profit-taking, falling back 3 points, and Burroughs, Marlin Rockwell, and Sparks Withington were soft spots, losing about 5 points each. Barnet Leather, National Surety, Penn Dixie preferred and Peerless dropped to new lows.

In the commodities, wheat rose nearly 3 cents on a better outlook for farm relief and bullish Canadian advices, but later reacted on favorable harvesting reports and closed a cent or so net higher. Corn was firm on bullish Iowa reports and unfavorable weather. Cotton was steady, closing around 50 cents a bale higher.

Foreign exchanges were fairly steady, save for sterling cables, which fell to $4.84 3-4, around the low of the year, and the Canadian dollar, which sagged to near 99.15 cents.

Wheat Turns Up on Rejection of Debenture Plan

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Shattering of debenture plans went hand in hand today with higher prices for grain. Wheat and corn each rose about 3 cents a bushel and then reacted because of an outburst of selling to realize profits.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ¼@1¼c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed at ⅛@1⅛c net advance, with oats unchanged to ⅛c up and provisions unchanged to a rise of 22 cents.

Highest prices of the day in all the grain pits came about in short order after announcement of the vote at Washington by which the House put on record a decisive rejection of debentures as part of the pending farm-relief bill. The outcome of the voting was foreseen generally among traders and from the outset today was made the basis of spirited buying at times. There was also expectancy in most quarters here that the debentureless farm bill would quickly become a law, possibly tomorrow.

Under such circumstances the wheat market showed an evident upward trend the greater part of the day, but outdid early gains by jumping 1½ cents a bushel more after word came that the knock-down and drag-out of debentures apparently had been accomplished, so far at least as the farm-relief bill itself was concerned. The final bulge in prices, however, led to much increased selling, mainly to collect profits. As a result, the day's top prices failed to hold, the market losing a good share of the gains.

Contributing to action in favor of wheat price upturns here today were Liverpool quotations higher than expected, together with advices of urgent need of rains in parts of Canada and of continued deficiency of moisture in Argentina.

Corn was all but swamped by heavy profit-taking sales in the late trade. Oats reflected the action of other cereals.

Provisions advanced owing to upturns in hog values and grain.

THIRTEEN FRIDAYS

Thirteen Fridays in every year falling on the thirteenth of the month will be one of the curious things which will happen if the plan for a thirteen-month calendar, advocated by George Eastman, is adopted. Dividing the year into thirteen equal months of twenty-eight days each, however, will put money in our pockets and give us more time for worth-while leisure, Mr. Eastman declares, explaining the proposed calendar reform in the June issue of Popular Science Monthly.

Every month would begin on Sunday and end on the fourth Saturday thereafter. Monday would always be either the 2nd, the 9th, the 16th or the 23rd of the month. The new thirteen month would be placed between June and July and be given the name of Sol.

In the new calendar there would be an extra day every year and two extra days in leap year. The annual, or extra, blank day, to be known as "year-day," would fall between Saturday and Sunday, December 28 and January 1, and would be celebrated all over the world as a holiday.

NEMESIS RIDES THE ETHER

For the first time since the transmission of pictures has been made possible the ether has been utilized to prevent the escape of criminals. Within the last few days a radio photograph of a German fugitive from justice, charged with a fraud involving $180,000, has been put on the air, together with a warrant for his arrest. The police of Berlin are proceeding on the theory that the man has sailed for America, traveling on forged passports. Before he lands in any American port the local immigration and police officers will be supplied with his photograph. The police will be able to take him into custody if he attempts to enter the country.—[Exchange.

IN PRAISE OF A MILKMAN

Ordinarily there is nothing exciting in the life of a milkman. The sober routine of his life is broken only when people lean from the windows of apartment-houses and ask him to leave another pint this morning, or reprove him for rousing them from their slumbers by the needless rattling of bottles. Day by day he follows the same route, beginning before sunrise and returning to his home, weary and footsore, many hours afterward. True, he often gets a pretty fair line on his clientele by observation of their homeward journeys in the cold gray dawn. But he keeps that to himself. Rarely is he called in rebuttal when a character witness has been put on the stand to testify for or against a party to an action in law. The milkman's short and simple annals are seldom recorded in the public press. Not often does adventure or romance come his way.—[New York Herald Tribune.

When in Rome

Askum: So you have been to Rome. I suppose that while there you did as the Romans do?

Tellum: Not on your life. I took a bath every day.

A Valve Needed

"Yes I like the room but the neighbors can hear everything we say."

"Well, I shall be pleased to hang a heavy tapestry on the walls."

"But then we can't hear what the neighbors says."—[Pele Mele.

DISAPPEARING GYPSIES

The gypsies, a fast disappearing race, now number in all countries only about 7000 or 8000, writes a contributor in the Cincinnati Enquirer. They are most numerous in Asia and in northern parts of Europe.

Various opinions have prevailed at different times as to their origin. That they came originally from Egypt was the popular belief for a long time and this procured for them the name "Gypsies." For nearly 500 years they have been a wandering tribe, yet neither time nor place has succeeded in changing them in any way. No matter where he may be the gypsy, whether in Africa or Northern Europe, is always the same. It is now generally agreed that the gypsies as a race came from Hindustan. Their language apparently has changed so little even after the lapse of centuries, during which they have been scattered through many countries, that nearly one-half of their words are precisely like those of Hindustan. Very little variation is found between the language of the gypsies in Turkey, Hungary, Germany and those of England and America.

A DEFINITE 9-YEAR
CONVERSION PRIVILEGE OF GREAT POTENTIAL VALUE . . .

"At what price?" and "How Long?" are the questions every investor should ask before investing in convertible bonds. For the price at which a security may be converted and the length of time in which the option may be exercised are the principal factors determining the potential value of the conversion privilege.

These two important features are combined to a highly favorable degree in our recent offering of California Dairies, Inc. 6½% Debentures. Each $1000 debenture of this issue is convertible until June 15, 1938, into Western Dairy Products Company Class "B" Stock (voting trust certificates) at $33.33 per share. The value of this privilege is readily appreciated when you learn that this stock, which is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, has already sold as high as $34.87½ thus far in 1929.

From many other standpoints, this issue presents an exceptional investment opportunity.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Merger plans of J. P. Morgan & Co. brought a rush of buying into public utility stocks on the curb market today, carrying heavily half of issues to record prices for all time. Trading in one stock—Commonwealth & Southern—established a sales record for a single stock in one day—884,600 shares changing hands. This was followed by about 5000 the previous maximum by Canadian Marconi.

Activity in the utilities imparted a buoyant tone to the general list, although several weak spots cropped out. Oils were steady and aviation shares were mixed and the motors broke sharply.

Advances in the public utilities ranged up to 10½ points, but many of these were scaled down by profit-taking. St. Regis Paper, which controls Northeastern Power, made the extreme rise, but closed at 100 for a net advance of 8 points on the day. Commonwealth & Southern after selling down to 32¾ its low price, closed at 33⅝ for a fractional gain. Electric Bond & Share, and Electric Investors closed at 174½, a new high record, and a net gain of 9½. Electric Bond & Share was strong on publication of assets of nearly $700,000,000.

Chrysler Corp., Curtiss, and Paramount Cab fell to a new low on announcement Ford was to enter the New York taxi field.

Rainbow Luminous Products spurted ahead nearly 10 points. Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator sealed a new peak. Libby Owens Sheet Glass shot up more than 12 points. Tubize Artificial Silk in the early trading made a new high and a new low at 31⅞, but snapped in the final hour to close at 350, off 3 points on the day. Curb oils were under pressure. Gulf and Humble rallied gains.

Western Auto Supply cut up to a new high but Silver Seal Products and Mohawk Hosiery dropped 5 and 1¼ points, respectively.

The closing price is omitted when same as the last; and both low and close when same as the high.

FIVE OUT OF TEN

In support of his argument for appropriations by the Federal government for construction of roads across forest reserves, Indian lands and public domains in the West Representative Don C. Colton of Utah, chairman of the House Committe on Public Lands, recently prepared a table showing receipts from gasoline taxes and expenditures on roads for ten Western States in 1927. Income from the gasoline tax amounted to 23 per cent of the expenditures on roads in Nevada, where 85 per cent of the land belongs to the government; to 97 per cent in Montana, where the public domain forms a smaller proportion of the whole area. In the other States the ratio of tax receipts to outgo ranged between the two extremes.—[New York Sun.

THE FLYING WINDMILL

The Cierva autogyro seems to be meeting over American soil the expectations it aroused in its successful hop of the English Channel a year ago, says a New York Journal. In its demonstrations at Langley Field it has shown that it can take off with a relatively short run and rise much more nearly vertically than the standard type of plane. Its descent, however, is the most surprising feature of its performance. This is described as a drop like that of a parachute, but only half as fast, permitting the strange machine to land without a jar in any space big enough to hold it.

The common notion that the horizontal "windmill" on which it depends for buoyancy is rotated by mechanical power is erroneous. The autogyro contains only one motor, of the Wright Whirlwind type, which is mounted in the nose of its fuselage and turns its propeller. It is the backwash of wind from the propeller that causes the "windmill" to spin, but not more swiftly than an ordinary windmill. The astonishing thing to spectators is that this device, with its four thin blades, like long, slender paddles, turning lazily in the air, can so competently support the two-seater fuselage and its 200-horsepower engine; for the only other means of support is a pair of tiny wings, each about ten feet long by two and one-half feet wide, which stick out laterally and are used for purposes of direction and balance.

PERSONAL LOANS

In May, 1928, the National City Bank, of New York, inaugurated a personal loan service, under which sums from $50 to $1000 were lent at 6 per cent discount, without collateral or any service charge. During the year, 51,203 applicants received loans totaling $16,529,805.

The bank now reports that losses on these loans were few and small. In less than 1 per cent of them was it necessary to bring legal action for collection.

The bank's plan for repayment of the loans is considered one reason for the prompt meeting of obligations by borrowers. The bank arranged that deposits be made in a compound interest account each week or month, so that the money would be on hand at the end of the year. On these deposits, interest of 3 per cent, compounded monthly, was paid. More than 97 per cent of all deposits were made regularly.—[Exchange.

COUNTY RATE TO BE HIGHER

Tax Prospect Made Known at Courthouse

Rise to Advance Despite Various Economies

Decision by Supervisors Set for Next Monday

Various economies effected by heads of departments of the county government, the county budget, which is to be completed next Monday, will show an increase over last year that will result in an increased county tax rate. This was disclosed at the Courthouse yesterday.

The county tax rate last year was $1.60 for each $100 valuation. It is at least 10 cents next year, according to sources close to the county board of supervisors. This rise is necessary, it is said, by new appropriations for land to be acquired for the Civic Center, and for the opening and widening of Spring street. The Spring-street project is estimated, will cost the county $2,000,000 and various purchases of land for the Civic Center more than $1,500,000 more.

Another large increase in the county budget will be Los Angeles county's share of the old-age pension fund authorized by the last Legislature. The Supervisors have provided $120,000 to be paid to aged persons at the rate of $30 a month for each individual.

The new county budget, which is to be published Monday, it is stated, does will be no provision for the purchase of beach land for county parks, although the county recently purchased a considerable sum in land for county beaches at Hermosa and Santa Monica.

A report from W. E. Kerr, registrar of voters, that the county purchased 89 voting machines had not been acted on at the last meeting is to hand.

EFFORTS TO SUBDUE OIL FIRE START

Test Fight to Conquer Inside Fe Field Blaze to Center on McKeon Well

Subsidiary work toward the control of the two blazing oil wells in the Santa Fe field started yesterday with a crew began cutting down the lead pipe from McKeon well, which flared when ignited by explosion and resultant fire on Dec. 1 on Monday.

Engineers in the McKeon well are confident before any attempt is made on the other well, officials of the McKeon Oil Company said yesterday, and all work for the next few days will be centered on this well.

Two huge clouds of dense black smoke continue to hover over the burning area as the two wells in the heart of the fire has diminished greatly and crews are said to be within working distance without suffering from the intense heat which was thrown out when the fire first started.

There is no danger of further spread of the flames, according to officials surrounding the burned zone, as all inflammable material not burned in the first outburst has been removed. Dismantling will not be started in the near future, it is said, on account of the possibility that the plan to halt the flames might, on account of unexpected area and the damage might result so near by derricks.

BOARD OPENS BIDS

Architectural Committee Named On Furnishings of Rooftops

Bids were opened yesterday by the Playground and Recreation Board on the lease of the new Griffith pavilion now under construction. The pavilion, which is to cost from 10 to 15 per cent of the amount and were referred to the committee on finance, ways and means.

Reports reported that beach attendance last week averaged 18,702 persons.

Director Hoyt reported that the Griffith Park golf course and swimming pool have been completed and will be open for the season tomorrow.

Recommendation that the proposed Community Art Association be accepted was approved. P. M. Read- [illegible]

CLUB WOMAN FIXES DATE OF MARRIAGE

Mrs. James Henry Ballagh

WIDOW OF BALLAGH TO WED AGAIN

Southland Social Leader to be San Diegan's Bride; Nuptials Set for 26th Inst.

Mrs. James Henry Ballagh of Glendale, prominent clubwoman and widow of James Henry Ballagh, pioneer real estate operator, and Frank Edward Farmer of San Diego, executive of the Bell-Lloyd Corporation, will be married on the 26th inst., it was announced yesterday.

Sixty close friends and associates have been bidden to the wedding, which will take place at 8 p.m. at the Glendale home of Mrs. Ballagh, 306 North Louise street, with Rev. Lincoln Ferris of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Santa Barbara officiating.

The romance which links the name of Mrs. Ballagh, founder of the Matinee Musical Club and well known for her philanthropies in the promotion of musical endeavors, with that of Mr. Farmer had its inception about three years ago when the couple met at Mrs. Ballagh's country home, Ballagh Lodge, on Malibu Road.

Mrs. Ballagh will be attended by Miss Alma Dorothy Priester, maid of honor, and Mrs. Paul C. Heydenreich, matron of honor. Fred Poor, 4 years of age, and Lucile Poor, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Poor, will act as ring bearer and flower girl, respectively. Roy A. Ballagh, son of Mrs. Ballagh, will be the best man. Miss Lillian Bowles of the Matinee Musical Club will sing.

The musical club colors, red and white, will prevail at the wedding. At an indefinite date following the ceremony the couple plan a honeymoon tour of either Canada or Honolulu, Mrs. Ballagh said. Another son, Courtney Ballagh, will be unable to attend the ceremony, due to his forced absence on a trip to Alaska.

Although recognized as wealthy following the death of her husband in May, 1925, Mrs. Ballagh engaged further in real estate operations with success.

Before coming to Southern California more than twenty-two years ago she was president for three consecutive years of the Schumann Club of Chicago, composed entirely of accomplished musicians. She is a member of the Friday Morning Club, Ebell Club, National Society of Colonial Dames, Daughters of the American Revolution, Wa-Wan Club and a number of other organizations.

FIREWORKS PERMITTED

The Fire Commission yesterday granted the request of the Lincoln Heights Commercial and Industrial Association for permission to give fireworks displays at Lincoln Park July 4 in connection with the celebration it plans. The displays will be given from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

FITTS STRIKES AT TWO CAFES

Permanent Injunctions to be Sought Next Week

Both Accused of Operating as Bootleg Places

Blow Aimed at Owners of Misused Property

Striking directly at property owners who permit their premises to be used for the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor, Dist.-Atty. Fitts yesterday obtained temporary injunctions against two asserted bootlegging establishments restraining them from operating until a hearing can be held next Wednesday in Department 5 of Superior Court to determine whether or not the order shall be made permanent.

At the hearing Wednesday the owners and tenants are ordered to show cause why an injunction padlocking the places shall not be issued. Unless they can disprove Dist.-Atty. Fitts's contention that the cafes have been dealing in intoxicating liquor persistently over a period of many months, the court will issue a permanent injunction covering a period of at least a year, according to the District Attorney.

The cafes mentioned are Tony's Cafe at 901 East First street, and the Elkhorn Cafe at 3428 West Sixth street.

In the injunction against the Elkhorn Cafe Julius Freid, asserted owner of the building, John Panzich and three "John Does," are named as defendants and cited to appear in court.

The injunction against Tony's Cafe names the Title Guarantee Corporation as trustee of the property for Lloyd Mead, Charles Mead, Earl Pitzel, Louis D. Pitzel, Frank W. Wheeler and Tony Panzich, asserted owners and tenants. All are cited to appear.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts charges that repeated efforts by officers to close the places involved have failed and strong action became necessary.

HOLLYWOOD LURE WINS ZIEGFELD

Noted Stage Producer to Make Talkies Here With Samuel Goldwyn

Samuel Goldwyn and Florenz Zeigfeld yesterday formed a company in New York City for the joint production of musical shows for the talking screen.

According to the plans Zeigfeld will arrive in Los Angeles on January 1, next, at which time the first all-color, all-talking picture by the new company will go into production. The famous stage producer stated that at present he has no intention of abandoning the stage.

Zeigfeld issued the following statement:

"I was influenced in making my decision to enter the talking-picture field with Mr. Goldwyn by the tremendous opportunity the audible picture affords to bring to many cities and towns throughout the country such musical presentations as only the greater population centers have hitherto seen. Samuel Goldwyn has done wonderful things in motion pictures and my decision is induced by warm personal admiration for his achievements."

"Nothing in my entire screen career has filled me with such gratification as this new association. In my opinion the coming of Mr. Zeigfeld to the picture industry marks the newest and greatest step forward for the films, and in many ways the whole future of audible pictures will be influenced," Mr. Goldwyn stated.

STATE DAY AT SCHOOL

Today will be California Day at the Cheremoya School, Cheremoya street and Franklin avenue, where the pupils will participate in a pageant depicting the successive periods in the history of the State. Preceded by a luncheon, arranged by Mrs. Frederick Grinham, the pageant will begin at 2 p.m. and be followed by a series of exhibitions by the Western Rangers, a boys' organization. The program will be under the supervision of Camilla Griffin, of the faculty.

BRIDGE RUBBER COSTS $2600

At Least Playwright Loses Auto Worth That Much While Winning Game

Eugene Walter, widely known playwright and film executive, literally paid $2600 to win a rubber at bridge. This fact became known yesterday when Walter reported the theft of his automobile to the Hollywood police.

The playwright, now an executive at R.-K.-O. studios, parked his car Wednesday night at Franklin and Whitley avenues to attend a bridge party with friends. He won the rubber. But then when he went out to go home he discovered his machine gone. It hadn't been recovered yesterday.

JUDGE RAPS CITY POLICE COMMISSION

Reinstating Officer Tried for Theft of Liquor and Cleared Brings Reproach

Severly censuring the Los Angeles Police Commission, Superior Judge Doran yesterday granted J. J. Sullivan, a former police officer, two years probation after the latter had been convicted in his court of a charge of burglary.

Sullivan was tried with Axtell Merritt, another officer, on May 23, last, at which time Merritt was acquitted and the disposition of Sullivan's case was taken under advisement.

The two men were accused of entering the home of Henry Riggs at 1120 West Forty-ninth street August 12, 1928, and, after showing their badges, searching the house for liquor. According to Riggs, the officers found and confiscated four cases of bonded whisky which had been purchased by a friend before prohibition and which had been stored for several years in the Riggs residence.

In granting Sullivan probation, Judge Doran bitterly denounced the Police Commission for reinstating Merritt following his acquittal because Sullivan had implicated him as his accomplice in an asserted confession.

"In view of the fact that there was only a partial identification of your co-defendant, Merritt, technically the court had to find him not guilty," Judge Doran said; "but of the two, he was the most culpable, in my mind; I think he is the leader of both of you, and I think it is an outrage that he should have been reinstated on the police department and should now be wearing a policeman's uniform and should have received any back pay. I have heard many reflections cast upon the police department, but I never heard of such an outrageous step taken by anyone responsible for the reinstatement of policemen as was taken in his case."

GLADIOLI ATTRACT THRONGS

Thousands Attend Show at Biltmore

Madeline Wimsett Displays Some of Beauties

THOUSANDS of flower-loving Angelenos are crowding the Biltmore to see the fifth annual Gladioli Show, where thousands of beauties fill the ballroom.

Colors range from pale yellows to the deep purples and include scarlet, crimson and rose. Growers from as far north as Berkeley are represented, as well as the fields of Encinitas, Carlsbad, Sawtelle and Santa Monica.

Among the California horticulturists whose originations may be seen today is Elizabeth Briggs of Encinitas. Notable among these are her Winged Victory and her Coronado. W. H. Phippa, a flower originated by Richard Diener, is another first-prize winner in the display of Clinton Pedley.

C. E. Houdyshel's Los Angeles holds its own among the newer gladioli. Rancho Santa Fe shows a curiously formed gladioli orchid. The miniature gladioli also originated by Dr. Sprague are delicate in form and color. San Vicente Gardens shows gladiolis that are oriental in coloring, taking a first prize for a basket.

King George, a new deep crimson form, is exhibited for the first time. Aggeler & Musser have a fine display. Clifford Moore exhibits some rare varieties grown by Carl Salbach of Berkeley.

Among the new exhibitors is P. A. Renton, Jr., who shows some beautiful gladioli from the Holland house of Von Konynenaberg & Mark and other foreign-born gladioli—among which are Forest Fire, Orange Queen and Mother Machree.

So many are the entries that the judges have had a difficult time. The show is open all day today and will close tonight. Besides the awards of the judges, which include bronze and gold medals of the California and the American Gladiolis Society, a silver vase is awarded for the best display, donated by the Miller Floral Company and which for three successive years has been won by the Briggs Company. A popular vote is to be taken for the best flower of the show in the visitors' opinion.

Hirsch Funeral to Be Tomorrow

Funeral rites will be conducted at the Little Church of the Flowers at 2 p.m. tomorrow for John Hirsch, local merchant and civic worker, who died at sea two weeks ago while en route to Germany to attend a Schlaraffia convention. Interment will be in the Masonic section of Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Hirsch, who was 67 years of age, came to Los Angeles from Germany a quarter of a century ago. For the last twenty years he had been owner and proprietor of John's Pipe Shop on South Spring street. His home was at 1131 Magnolia avenue. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Katie Hirsch, and two daughters, Maria and Viola.

FIRE-SWEPT SCHOOL TO BE REBUILT

Plans Discussed by Board for Starting Owensmouth Structure at Early Date

Plans were discussed yesterday at a meeting of the Board of Education for the immediate rebuilding of the Owensmouth High School, gutted by fire of undetermined origin Wednesday morning.

A question developed at the meeting as to whether it would be advisable to utilize portions of the building left standing, or whether it would be better to tear down all of the building and build an entirely new structure.

As there was no opinion as yet available as to the condition of the parts left standing, the matter was referred to William E. Record, business manager for the board, for investigation and report.

Figures produced at the meeting indicate that approximately $100,000 was lost to the school district by the fire. The twenty-five-room building cost more than $200,000 fourteen years ago and 50 per cent insurance was carried on it.

Classes were held as usual yesterday at Owensmouth, the pupils being gathered in the cafeteria, gymnasium and other small buildings not touched by the fire. Some classes were held in the open air.

Walshe Firm Will Manage New Building

Announcement was made last week by Luther T. Mayo, builder and owner of income properties, that the new Santa Monica Professional Building, Wilshire Boulevard at Seventh street, will be under the management of the J. M. Walshe Organization, Inc.

The Santa Monica Professional Building is a six-story, Class A structure, planned and constructed by Luther T. Mayo, Inc., for professional tenants, and embodies modern features of professional offices.

MILLIONS ADDED TO SCHOOL COST

Board of Education Passes $35,062,753 Budget

Automatic Salary Increase Accounts for Part

Miss Green Named Dean of New Junior College

Los Angeles City School District will require $35,062,753 for its elementary, kindergarten, and high school expenses during the coming year, according to the budget approved by the Board of Education yesterday afternoon.

The increase over last year is $2,461,341, the budget for 1928-29 being $32,601,412; but this increase will not raise the tax rate, Robert L. Burns, chairman of the finance committee of the board, declared yesterday. The tax rate last year was $1.56, and the increase in the budget for the coming year, will be taken care of by increased assessed valuations.

SALARY TOTAL HEAVY

Salaries of teachers and principals will total $34,376,936 during the coming year, as against $32,866,273 for 1928-29. This increase is not due to the additional number of teachers, but rather to the automatic increases in salaries for those now employed. Total salaries, which includes clerks, janitors, watchmen and others, are $28,096,003.

Included in the budget is more than $1,000,000 for the new Los Angeles Junior College, of which $500,000 is for buildings, and the balance for maintenance, operation and other expenditures.

Almost another $1,000,000 will go to the additional teaching staff needed for the Bret Harte, Bancroft, and Audubon Junior High schools, and for several elementary schools to be opened next September.

Capital outlays during the year, which cover land, buildings, and equipment, will reach $4,806,000, an increase of $994,397 over requirements of last year.

MISS GREEN NEW DEAN

Miss Bertha Green, vice-principal of Hollywood High School, yesterday was appointed by the Board of Education as dean of women for the new Los Angeles Junior College, which will open on the Vermont avenue site of the University of California at Los Angeles next September.

Miss Green has been associated with Hollywood High School more than twenty-two years. She first began her work there in 1907 as a teacher of Latin, creating the Roman Banquet as a stimulus to the study of Latin and which has since spread to every school in the district. She became vice-principal in 1921 and has continued in that work since that date.

Miss Mary Ann Tucker will succeed Miss Green as girls' vice-principal at Hollywood High School, and Ralph Winchester will fill the office of vice-principal for boys left vacant through the promotion of Louis Frank Foley, who replaced Dr. William H. Snyder, principal of Hollywood High School, recently appointed as director of the new Los Angeles Junior College.

Roger Van Pelt was appointed vice-principal of Lincoln High School pending the filing of his administrative certificate. He will succeed Louis Woodson Curtis, who will spend a year in European travel and study.

Woman Found Dead From Gas

In a fit of despondency, Mrs. Bernice Mously, 30 years of age, yesterday ended her life, according to a police report, by inhaling gas at her home, 1108 South Kingsley Drive. The owner of the cottage, Mrs. G. Landstrom, who lives in a house in the rear, told police she saw Mrs. Mously ironing in the morning, but did not see her after noon.

When the woman's son Paul, Jr., 13, returned from school, he was unable to enter the house, all doors being locked. He appealed to Mrs. Landstrom for a pass key. Together they entered the house and found Mrs. Mously dead on the kitchen floor. Gas was flowing from all the jets of the range. The body was removed to the County Morgue.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THIS is the story of a little Navajo Indian girl. She told it to my traveling companion, Mr. Frederick Simpich of the National Geographic Magazine, who used to be on The Times.

He found her waiting on the table at a railroad eating station on the edge of the reservation. She told him that she had been educated at the Sherman Institute at Riverside.

When she graduated a very kind Los Angeles woman gave her a fur coat, a patent leather suit case, some nude silk stockings, a lovely hat and her blessing.

COMING HOME

"I sent word to my people that I was coming home," she said. I had some sort of dim idea that I would be met by an automobile. I waited for three days and nights at the station. Then my brother came with a burro for me to ride home. I got on the burro with my silk stockings; my high-heel shoes, my new hat and my patent leather suit case.

"When night came, I looked around for a bed such as I had been used to; I had forgotten that the members of the family slept in the hogans on the ground—with a sheepskin for a mattress. The next morning my father sent me out to the hills in my silk stockings to herd the goats. I stood it for three days. Then I ran away and here I am. I want to be a dressmaker; but they didn't teach us that at the school."

WANTED—A HUSBAND

Simpich asked her why she didn't get married.

"To whom?" she asked with a pitiful dry smile. "To you or to the manager of the mine? That isn't possible. Marry an Indian and go back to herd goats and sleep on the ground? Or maybe to a bus driver who would live with me a few months as long as I was an amusing animal; then he would go away and leave me with a baby—as they do Indian women."

KIT CARSON

All through the country in which I have been traveling, Kit Carson assumes the proportions of a national hero.

In Taos, they show you the house where he lived with the beautiful Josefa. In the old mud town of Cimarron, they show you the remains of the trading post, where he traded with the Indians coming from the passes of the Rockies with furs.

In California, we have forgotten him. Yet he meant a great deal more to California than to any other place. His terrible run from Escondido to San Diego to get help from Stockton for Kearney at the Battle of San Pascual gave California to the Americans. He never recovered from that experience.

BEEFSTEAK

We stopped for lunch at a funny little cafe which still looked like the border days at Cimarron.

The little waitress asked us with a timid but important air if we would like to have the beefsteak dinner.

"What other dinner is there?" we asked.

"There isn't any other," she said weakly.

"Then we will take the beefsteak dinner," we replied.

SALESMAN HELD HERE

Nathan H. Daniels, 44 years of age, a salesman, 3511 South Vermont avenue, yesterday was taken into custody by Detective Lieutenant Houston on a grand theft warrant for the Sheriff of Imperial county. The Sheriff telephoned he was sending an officer for Daniels.

RELIEF OUSTER PROTESTED

Notable Psychiatric Experiment Halted by Discharge of County Charities Officers

BY ALMA WHITAKER

The action of W. H. Holland, superintendent of county charities, in eliminating the executives of the county outdoor relief department, has caused dismay in many circles, since an important progressive experiment is involved.

Six months ago, Dr. Thomas J. Orbison, who ranks high in the medical profession here, undertook to give two days a week of his time to personally examine, physically and mentally, that alarmingly increasing number of seemingly unemployable people now supported, at great cost, by the county charities. The question sought to be answered was: Why, in the richest country of the world, were so many families apparently incapable of self-support? It was thought that a thorough mental and physical examination in each case might aid tremendously in solving the problem.

Two civil service employees, R. R. Miller and Emily Wooley, of the outdoor relief division, co-operated eagerly in the plan, steering those cases to Dr. Orbison which they believed could be helped to become self-supporting. Dr. Orbison's services were entirely gratis.

JOBS ABOLISHED

On Tuesday morning these two welfare workers were informed by William H. Holland, superintendent of county charities, that their jobs had been abolished and their services no longer needed. This automatically closes Dr. Orbison's clinic, development of which was being watched by welfare workers all over the country, by colleges and women's clubs, as a valuable experiment designed to save the county a great deal of money besides rehabilitating the indigent persons involved.

Dr. Orbison yesterday expressed himself as deeply regretting this action by Supt. Holland. He has, he said, examined over 100 persons in the six months, discovering that 17 per cent were cases of defective mental development; 23 per cent were constitutional psychopathic inferiors; 34 per cent were tubercular cases; 11 per cent neurosis; 12 per cent psychosis and the rest scattered. As a result of his diagnoses and recommendations he cited nu-

JUNGLE'S PIED PIPER VISITS

English Youth Has Just Completed Expedition in Celebes and Sumatra in Which He Trapped Numerous Specimens of Rodents and Reptiles for British Museum

There is nothing in the appearance of Ivan T. Sanderson of London to suggest adventure, jungle trails and encounters with wild beasts and reptiles. Rather, he suggests the bright-eyed American youth just out of high school and seeking a vocation.

But nevertheless, Sanderson, at 22 years of age, is an official representative of the famous British Museum and a man in whom government institutions place confidence. He has just completed four months' work in the jungles of Celebes and Sumatra, where he was engaged in trapping specimens of the jungle rats of those islands, and reptiles native to that island group.

Last month he shipped more than 1000 stuffed specimens of jungle rodents to the British Museum, together with more than 100 jars containing snakes in alcohol. And, for good measure, he sent along some 2000 specimens of jungle insects from Singapore.

These specimens are to be studied by British scientists engaged in the task of stamping out Bubonic plague. Martin Hinton, England's greatest authority on rodents and reptiles, will be among those who will study Sanderson's specimens.

"There are several hundred types of rodents in Celebes and Sumatra, running from the little chaps, no larger than the domestic mouse, up to those long-whiskered, huge-eyed fellows as large as a fox terrier," Sanderson explained, at the Biltmore yesterday.

"I was assisted by native Malay

GRIMES CASE NEARS END

Jacobson's Apparel Features Final Summing Up in Trial of Six for Asserted Conspiracy

Counsel for the prosecution and defense of Mrs. Callie Grimes of Beagle street and five present and former police officers accused of "framing" the Councilman's arrest, yesterday devoted seven hours and thirty minutes in argument to the jury, in which the trousers of Councilman Jacobson played a conspicuous role.

Meanwhile, the District Attorney's office made preparations to present to the grand jury next Tuesday, in conformity with instructions from Superior Judge Wilson, trying the case, evidence which tends to show that Councilman Jacobson, who says he was struck over the head and robbed of his trousers in Mrs. Grimes's house, sought to induce the woman, through Mrs. Ida Russell, her sister, to tell a story before the grand jury to agree with his version.

WILL CONTINUE TODAY

The arguments last night stood uncompleted. It seems likely that the torrent of words will continue to descend on the jury all today, with a night session as well, indicating that Judge Wilson will give the legal instructions tomorrow morning, thus completing three whole weeks in the trial of the case, which was submitted to a jury last April, with a disagreement as the result.

The opening statement for the prosecution was made by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Bush. He contended that the evidence shows a well-laid plot, a conspiracy, on the part of the policemen and Mrs. Grimes, whereby the woman lured the Councilman to her home, with the outcome that he was thrown in jail for a violation of the morals ordinance. Bush spoke for nearly three hours, going over the testimony which he said shows that Jacobson fell victim to a scheme designed to end his attacks on vice in Los Angeles.

Attorney Joseph Ryan, for Captain of Detectives Williams, made a short argument for the veteran police officer, emphasizing the fact that he was not present when the raiders broke into the Grimes house and that if there was a conspiracy he had no knowledge of it.

BOUGHT AND PAID FOR

Leo Daze, for Mrs. Grimes, addressed the jury for the remainder of the afternoon. He was particularly careful to show that the woman's testimony before the grand jury, when she "confessed" it was all a plot, was "bought and paid

State-Wide Search Opens for Auto of Tallman, Accused as Murderer of Mrs. Patty

OFFICERS LINK CAR TO FLIGHT

Slayer Suspect Believed to be Using Machine

Cousin Tells Police That Roadster Was Sold

Taxi Driver Reports Trip on Fatal Night

Police throughout the State last night began a search for a small roadster automobile which William L. Tallman, sought as a suspect in the murder of Mrs. Virginia Patty, is believed using in his flight to dodge the law.

Records of the Division of Motor Vehicles show that a 1923 model Ford roadster registered under the name of William Loren Tallman, 1533 Seventy-eighth avenue, Oakland, the home of his father, and bears a 1929 license number 6-G-1063, and motor number 10-467-939, according to Captain of Detectives Sisten.

DESOTA CAR HERE

In 1929 the car was registered by Tallman in Portland, Or., according to his father, I. L. P. Tallman, who told the Oakland police he has not seen the automobile since May 19, 1928, when the missing man drove it to Los Angeles.

Tallman is believed still to be in possession of the car, police say, but a cousin of Tallman, Joseph Rutledge, says he understood Tallman sold the car in Southern California.

In connection with the search C. L. Thompson, a taxicab driver, reported that he had two passengers, one of whom may have been Tallman, on the night Mrs. Patty is believed to have been killed when he asserts apparently abandoned a small roadster in the neighborhood of the 1300-block on North Main street. Search there failed to disclose the car.

While every means and method to apprehend Tallman were being pursued by the authorities, Chief of Detectives Cline yesterday began broadcasting thousands of posters bearing Tallman's photographs, his description and announcing a $2000 reward in the case.

FOREIGN PORTS WATCHED

Cline said the posters are to be broadcast by every available means to all parts of the United States and important seaports abroad, on the theory that the radio man may be aboard a ship at sea and attempting to escape to a foreign country.

Fingerprints of an intruder who entered the Hollywood apartment of Mrs. Harry Stern, 1760 North Wilcox avenue, Wednesday night indicate that the prowler and robber is not Tallman, Cline announced yesterday.

In reporting the strange case to the police in which she said she was bound and gagged by the intruder, Mrs. Stern gave a description which hinted Tallman, and she further identified a photograph of the radio man as a likeness of the robber.

Police fingerprint experts, however, obtained several prints of the Hollywood case and their report to Cline was the basis for his announcement that the man is not Tallman.

TALLMAN BELIEVED HIDDEN IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13. (Exclusive)—Indications that the police believe "Handsome Bill" Tallman, accused of the "brickbat murder" of Mrs. Virginia Patty, is being hidden in San Francisco were seen today in orders issued in San Francisco by Captain of the Detective Bureau Matheson to place every known friend of the young radio man under intensive questioning and surveillance.

Capt. Matheson ordered a concentration of the investigation on radio operators and seafaring men, particularly after he had read the reports of the arrival of the steamship Admiral Benson with Tallman's staterooms empty. In these reports the captain of detectives professed to see that there was no disposition to help the police on the part of anyone on board while the ship was being searched for the radio operator.

BODY TOO SHORT

Joseph Lanegrin, a youth who attempted suicide last Monday, was reported by Emergency Hospital authorities to bear a striking resemblance to Tallman. But when he was measured he was found to be nine inches too short.

Tallman's father is sure his son is alive and is being "wrongly advised to stay in hiding." The father is still convinced the boy is innocent, basing this belief on Tallman's apparent lack of effort to escape while sailing on the Admiral Benson from Los Angeles to San Diego and back to Los Angeles.

The young radio man, the father thinks, became panic-stricken when the wireless was received ordering his arrest, fled the ship and now is afraid to go home.

SEARCHING SHIP

The Admiral Benson is due back in San Francisco at 7 a.m. tomorrow, with Detective Michael Desmond of the San Francisco police on board. He has been conducting another search of the vessel on the passage down from Portland.

Police yesterday said that the headless body found floating in San Francisco Bay a few days ago, which momentarily was connected with the Tallman search, has been identified as Herman Dryer, second mate of the Coast Guard cutter Sequoia. The officers said it was a case of suicide.

English Writer and Wife Visit Here

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Woon

TEN years ago yesterday Basil Woon, English journalist and humorist, married Fleurette De Cabrieres in Paris. The newlyweds decided they would come to Southern California for a honeymoon, but assignments came so fast for Mr. Woon that it was not until yesterday—their tenth anniversary—that they arrived here from Panama aboard the Panama Mail liner Ecuador.

In the interim, Mr. Woon has deserted journalism for the field of the humorous novel on travel topics, his two latest books being "The Frantic Atlantic" and "When It's Cocktail Time in Cuba." He is here, he says, to gather material for a travel book about these shores of the Pacific, to be called "The Wet Coast."

"This is my first visit to Los Angeles in fifteen years and I pride myself that I am the first writing man to arrive here in many moons who is not looking or hoping for a motion-picture contract."

Mr. and Mrs. Woon, who are stopping at the Ambassador, will spend three weeks here before going to Alaska for an extended tour, returning to Los Angeles for a lengthy stay.

POLICEMEN WARNED TO SHUN PULL

Soliciting Influence to Obtain Better Assignments Will Bring Dismissal

Chief of Police Davis yesterday issued an official warning to all officers that soliciting influence of department heads or playing politics on the force to obtain more desirable assignments or transfers will not be tolerated.

The publication of the warning in the official bulletin declared that any officer failing to heed the command will be summarily disciplined. Chief Davis asserted that assignments and promotions within the department must remain strictly within the bounds of the civil service demands.

Chief Davis's order follows:

No members of this department will solicit influence from any source whatsoever outside of the department for the purpose of obtaining a better assignment, transfer, or any other action that is strictly departmental concern.

Any officer who does thus solicit outside influence will be summarily disciplined.

The Los Angeles Police Department is strictly a civil service organization from the top down. Appointments and promotions are made on the basis of competitive examinations. Assignments are made on the basis of individual performance, efficiency and particular qualifications for special lines of work. Departmental executives have more complete and direct information relative to the qualifications of members than any outside person could have.

It is highly destructive of efficiency and morale for officers to make appeals for outside influence of any description. For the good of the service this practice is strictly forbidden from this date forward.

JUNGLE'S PIED PIPER ON VISIT

boys in my hunts through the jungle. The work not only was exciting but difficult. We would lay a series of traps, about eight feet apart, for a mile. And then we would make regular trips along the trap line, taking out the victims. We took no live specimens, except two little cubs, which I kept for a time as pets," he said.

"I was not after the larger snakes of Sumatra and Celebes. Rather, we captured and put in spirits only those small and rare specimens of interest to science. Of course there were many of the larger ones too. The pythons and the cobras are plentiful but we left them strictly alone."

Arriving at San Francisco on the Sumatra Maru recently, Sanderson, his work done, came to Southern California to visit, he explained. A schoolmate in England of George K. Arthur, screen comedian, Sanderson plans to visit him while here. Then, after a visit to Chicago and New York, he will sail for England, he said.

for," Mrs. Grimes did not take the witness stand.

The night session was devoted to the argument of Paul Schenck on behalf of Detective Lieutenant Lucas, one of the raiding officers.

Mr. Schenck concentrated his argument on what he termed the absurdity of Jacobson's account of the raid. Judge Wilson directed the bailiff to still the laughter among the auditors which followed some of the attorney's sallies.

This morning Joseph Palmer will argue in behalf of Special Investigator Harry Raymond and Patrolman Frank Cox. After he has completed, Paul D'Orr, as attorney for Captain of Detectives Wallis, will close for the defendants. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison then will make the final address for the prosecution.

EURYTHMIC TABLEAUX PLANNED TOMORROW

A series of eurythmic tableaux especially created for the occasion by Michio Ito, Japanese dancer, and arranged by the famous artist himself will be offered to the public by the California Art Club at its garden theater, Barnsdall Park, tomorrow evening. Fantastic lighting effects and special music will be provided.

Firemen's New Platoon Plan Will Be Tried

Under the initiative ordinance which carried in the recent election, the change of working hours under the double platoon system for city firemen will begin tomorrow for a ninety-day trial, after which it will be left to the firemen themselves whether they desire to continue the system. This was the decision of the Fire Commission yesterday.

The new system provides for twenty-four hours on duty and twenty-four hours off, alternately, with three full days off each month. Chief Scott explained that a majority of the firemen sought the change in the working hours, while a minority were opposed. While the ordinance leaves the decision as to working hours up to the commission, the latter is in favor of allowing the firemen to take a secret vote on whether they want to continue with twenty-four hours on and twenty-four hours off.

Under the measure by which the double platoon system was first voted, the working hours were fixed arbitrarily for one shift working ten hours from 8 a.m. and the other fourteen hours beginning at 6 p.m. It was necessary for the voters to approve any change in the working hours.

The hour for change of shifts daily will be 6 p.m.

Gold Fields of State and Nevada to be Visited

Air Testimony Planned in San Gabriel Case

For the next three days court practically will be held in the air in the condemnation proceedings brought by the Los Angeles County Flood Control District relative to gold claims on the site of the proposed San Gabriel dam and reservoir.

Superior Judge Stephens, presiding in the case, Attorneys Vincent Morgan and Roy Dowda, representing the plaintiff, and Attorneys John Martin and Alfred E. Dennis, counsel for the San Gabriel Canyon Development Company, owner of the claims, along with several witnesses, will take off at 8:50 a.m. today in a Western Air Express airplane from Vail Field for an extended trip over the gold fields of California and Nevada. They expect to be gone until Sunday night.

As dredging for gold and its cost is one of the main issues of the case it was decided by all concerned that a visit to various gold fields would be beneficial in reaching a decision. The trip in an airplane will cover in the course of several days what would take weeks to do by other means of transportation.

That court practically will be held by Judge Stephens while in the air is revealed from the fact that besides the judge and the attorneys in the case, several witnesses skilled in gold dredging and gold mining will be carried along on the trip and questioned while the plane is flying over the gold fields.

The party first will go to San Francisco and from there will fly over Yuba River fields, and others in the Sacramento Valley and then will proceed to Reno, Nev. After viewing fields in Nevada the ship will be headed for home, the party expecting to land here Sunday night.

It will be the first time, it is believed, that court has been held in the air.

The principal witness called yesterday in the case was L. D. Hopfield, gold dredge expert, who testified he made a survey of conditions in San Gabriel Canyon and it is his belief the sands there could be dredged for their gold at a cost not to exceed 6 or 7 cents per cubic yard.

Attorneys for the flood-control district contend that while there is gold in the canyon and bed of the San Gabriel River the cost of producing it is prohibitive. The owners of the claims, however, assert their claims are worth from $100,000 to $300,000.

PAIR PLAN CRUISE IN LAUNCH

A 10,000-mile cruise in an eighteen-foot boat will be taken by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kennedy, who will leave Los Angeles Harbor August 3, according to announcement made yesterday by Mr. Kennedy to members of the Los Angeles Outpost of the Adventurers of the World.

The cruise, which is expected to require more than a year, will take the Kennedys down the Pacific Coast, Lower California and Mexico, to Central America and through the Panama Canal, then along the Gold Coast of South America to Trinidad. Then the party will proceed up through the Lesser Antilles and West Indies, including Cuba. From Havana Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy will go to Key West and along the Atlantic Coast to New York City.

The boat will be equipped with a fifty-gallon gasoline tank, a small sail to take advantage of favorable winds, cameras and motion-picture equipment.

Funeral Rites for Mrs. Storrs to be Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Corcelia Storrs, 1050 South Manhattan Place, will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Little Church of the Flowers, followed by interment in Forest Lawn Cemetery. President G. W. McCune of the Los Angeles Stake of the Mormon Church will officiate. Mrs. Storrs died Monday in St. Vincent's Hospital, ending a three-years' illness following a paralytic stroke. She was the wife of George A. Storrs, owner of gold mining properties in California and coal properties in Utah, and one-time warden of the Utah State prison. Mrs. Storrs had made her home here for the last seven years, coming from Salt Lake City.

She was born in Springville, Utah, and was 63 years of age. She leaves her husband, five sons, Leland, and Layne of Los Angeles, J. Russell, Louis and Fred O. Storrs of Utah, and two daughters, Mrs. Beulah Storrs Lewis, president of the Cadman Creative Club, and Mrs. Nan Shanklin of Burbank.

STUDENTS TOLD NEED OF THINKING

Von Klein[illegible] Addresses Christian College Class on Educational Aims

"The signal purpose of an institution of learning should be to make students think, even though thinking may lead them to break away from tradition and previous ideas," Dr. S. B. Von Klein[illegible], president of the University of Southern California, spoke to the graduating class of California Christian College.

While holding high the value of scholarship and training in the past, that the world is being solved by educated men, Dr. Von Klein[illegible] said he has confidence that education should be directed toward greater understanding and better use of the forces of nature than in the past, and toward greater progress in human race development in connection with its environment.

Congratulating California Christian College upon its growth, Dr. Von Klein[illegible] pointed to the fact that the institution, founded 25 years ago with nine students and two instructors, now has a faculty of twenty-five members and a student enrollment of 161.

More than 300 persons, students, alumnae, friends and others, were given in the college dining hall last night and more than 500 are expected to attend the banquet and business meeting of the alumnae today at 807 West Seventh street.

TUDENTS TOLD NEED OF THINKING

Von KleinSmid Addresses Christian College Class on Educational Aims

The signal purpose of an institution of learning should be to make students think, even though thinking may lead them to break away from tradition and preconceived ideas," Dr. R. B Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, yesterday told the graduating class of California Christian College.

While holding high the value of scholarship and voicing the opinion that the world's greatest progress will be achieved by educated men and women, Dr. Von KleinSmid told his audience that character should be built upon higher than degrees, that spiritual understanding is better than knowledge of relative things and that the greatest progress is possible only as the whole man race develops its heart in combination with its intellect. Congratulating California Christian College upon its growth, Dr. Von KleinSmid pointed to the fact that the institution, founded eight years ago with nine students and two instructors, now has a faculty of twenty-five teachers and a student enrollment of 516.

More than 300 alumni and students attended the banquet given in the college dining hall last night and more than 100 alumni are expected to attend the breakfast and business meeting at 9 a.m. today at 907 West Seventh street.

Ties on Trial in Federal Conspiracy Case

Law Officers in Court to Protect Attorney

The several hours of testimony of Harry ... cross-examination, ... T. Noland, in charge of the ... Coast Guard cutter Imp, yesterday ... the trial of Maurice Sugarman, ... Carewe and six others accused of a rum-running conspiracy, ended his evidence by telling of ... of liquor and capture of the ... boat Crowley in San Diego ... in 1927.

... direct examination by ... U. S. Atty. Armstrong and ... Commander Noland ... one of the defendants, ... Morley, and Sugarman ... to pay him 75 cents ... each case of liquor landed on ... Southern California coast. He ... told talks later with a number of the defendants and "played ... along" only to bring about ... arrests.

GUARDS AT TRIAL

The trial was featured yesterday ... extra guards, placed in and near ... courtroom because of asserted ... threats over the telephone to ... U. S. Atty. Armstrong. In ... of the prosecution Mr. Armstrong treated the threats as merely ... product of a crank.

... testimony of Noland and of Commander Covell, who in 1927, when the arrests were made, was commander of the Coast Guard in Southern California, was presented to tie up the defendants to a plot to land 27,000 cases of liquor in this district.

Noland was subjected to severe cross-examination by Samuel King and Eddie Simpson, of defense counsel. He repeated his account and told in detail of conversations had with some of the defendants.

WOMAN TESTIFIES

Mrs. Ione Beck, owner of a ranch two miles from Sunset Beach, testified that she saw Frankie Cornero, who is a brother of Tony Cornero, several times at the ranch, which she leased out, and that numerous trucks and automobiles were seen at the same place. It is contended by the government that the asserted rum ring was planning to land large quantities of liquor near the ranch and use that place to transfer it.

Eddie Richards, a defendant who pleaded guilty, is expected to take the stand today on behalf of the prosecution.

TRADE DIPLOMAS AWARDED

Class of 1800 Graduated by Frank Wiggins School at Shrine Auditorium

Future hairdressers and linotype operators, dressmakers and plumbers, milliners and cornice makers worked side by side yesterday afternoon in the Shrine Auditorium demonstrating the trades they had learned at the Frank Wiggins Trade School which presented diplomas to 1800 students last night. John B. Beman, president of the Board of Education, awarded the diplomas.

More than thirty-two trades were represented among the graduates with janitorial engineering leading all others in numbers.

The booths where dressmaking, millinery and cosmetology were demonstrated drew the crowds. Many of the dresses and hats were beautifully designed and fashioned, the demonstrators working upon the more difficult phases of their trade. Especially interesting to the women were the examples of angora wool decoration on the hats, a novelty that has been shown only in a very few of the hat shops of the city.

The auditorium was thronged during the afternoon by men and women, and later by boys and girls from the high schools, many of whom will enter the school as students next September.

Advisory committees of the Frank Wiggins Trade School inspected and passed upon the proficiency of the graduates before the program opened at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Beman made the chief address to the graduates. Earl R. Carpenter, former president of the Los Angeles Motor Car Dealers' Association, introduced the representatives of the advisory committees.

SILENT CLUB AT COOKING EXHIBITION

Mrs. Wyman Demonstrates Food Preparation Before Group of Deaf Persons

More than forty members of the Silent Club of Los Angeles, a social organization composed of deaf persons, watched a special cooking demonstration by Chef Wyman of The Times last night in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway. This is said to be the first time such a demonstration has been given in California.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gesner, a teacher of deaf children in the Los Angeles public schools, interpreted for Mrs. Wyman. Mrs. Hazel Schneider, president of the club, an expert lip-reader who speaks clearly, expressed to Mrs. Wyman the thanks of the club for the demonstration. Mrs. Wyman dclared that she had never had a more attentive audience.

Porter Decides to Delay Return From Mountains

John C. Porter, Mayor-elect, upon the advice of his physician, will not resume his residence in the city this week-end as previously intended, but will continue to rest in his mountain retreat, it was stated last night by Albert E. Sherman, his personal representative.

As a result the banquet scheduled in his honor at the Biltmore next Monday night and several other functions have been postponed.

Mr. Porter has expressed to the committee on arrangements and the reception committee his appreciation of the work that has been done and of the spirit that prompted the citizens to plan the banquet.

During a recent trial in London the judge decided that a coal peddler shouting "coal," was a lesser nuisance than the noise made by an automobile.

POMEROY ADDRESSES SALAD-DRESSING MEN

County Health Officer Pomeroy yesterday addressed a meeting of salad-dressing manufacturers at the Hall of Justice, and requested their co-operation in conforming to the new definition of mayonnaise passed by the United States Supreme Court and adopted by the Federal Department of Agriculture. Jonathan Kirkpatrick, chief food investigator, announced that any deviation from the Federal standard prohibits the use of the word "mayonnaise" or any form or spelling of this word on labels. Robert C. Wray, State Department of Agriculture, warned that use of mineral oil changes the name from mayonnaise. R. J. Abernathy, legal chemist of the county health department, stated that enforcement of the ruling will clear the market of so-called mayonnaise containing as high as 50 per cent of starch.

MYSTERY MAN SEEKS AID

Supposed Amnesia Victim May be Long Beach Publisher Missing for Three Months

With his mind beclouded and unable to account for his movements of the past three months, except that he had just arrived from Phoenix, a man believed to be L. C. Bibbens of Long Beach, and scion of a well-to-do family of Syracuse, N. Y., yesterday walked into the police missing persons bureau and asked Capt. Allen to help him solve his identity.

Without funds and shabbily attired, the man was able to explain only that the police of Phoenix found him wandering on the streets there several days ago. A search of his pockets, he said, revealed a sealed envelope bearing the words, "Dear Mother." Within the envelope were five blank letterheads of the Young Men's Christian Association. The Phoenix authorities, he declared, placed him on a Los Angeles-bound bus, and he arrived here Wednesday, going to a hotel at Sixth street and Central avenue.

L. C. BIBBENS ?

Subjecting him to a search, Capt. Allen found only an automobile operator's license, bearing the name of L. C. Bibbens, 517 Cedar street, Long Beach. From the Long Beach police Allen then learned that L. C. Bibbens, until three months ago, had owned and published the Long Beach Broadcaster Press, with offices at 1734 Atlantic Boulevard. Selling the paper for several thousand dollars, they stated, he disappeared and has never, to their knowledge, returned to Long Beach. They declared the man's hair was of a pronounced brown shade, whereas that of the supposed amnesia victim is iron gray.

Groping as if to pierce the veil that conceals his past, the man told Capt. Allen he believes he has a wife, Ione, and a mother, Mrs. Clara A. Bibbens, living at 42 Paine avenue, East Aurora N. Y., and that he is a member of the Syracuse Masonic Lodge. Pending communications with authorities there in an effort to determine his identity, he was sent to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for observation. That the man had been given knockout drops was the opinion expressed by Captain of Detectives Seager, in charge of the police narcotic squad.

Carewes Will Wed Secretly on Trip East

Hollywood, after all, isn't going to be a witness to the remarriage of Edwin Carewe, motion-picture producer and his divorced wife, Mary Akin Carewe, former screen actress, it wa slearned yesterday. Last night Mrs. Carewe slipped quietly out of Los Angeles, eastward bound, without confiding her exact destination. On Wednesday Carewe departed from New York and was in Chicago yesterday.

Somewhere between Los Angeles and Chicago the wedding is to take place, but just where Mrs. Carewe declined to say before her departure. All she would say was that she is going to be gone about two weeks and it appears they are planning a secret honeymoon trip.

Prior to her leaving last night Mrs. Carewe did admit, after considerable questioning, her departure is to meet Carewe for the marriage ceremony. Their friends had thought the event was going to take place here. She said she did not care to say where she will meet her former husband.

It was almost a year ago that Carewe went to Mexico to obtain a divorce. Recently they were seen together in Hollywood, and finally admitted a reconciliation had been effected. They have two children.

Mrs. Hopkins Wins Divorce

Mrs. Lucia Sloan Hopkins, St. Louis society and club woman, was granted a divorce yesterday from Henry M. Hopkins by Superior Judge Bishop on the grounds of desertion.

Mrs. Hopkins's first move for a legal separation was a suit for separate maintenance which later was substituted by one for divorce.

A settlement of community property which includes securities valued at $140,000 was made out of court.

THREE BOND ELECTIONS APPROVED

City Council Paves Way for Vote of Residents on Trio of Improvements

Ordinances of intention were adopted by the City Council yesterday to call special bond elections in three municipal improvement districts. The largest of the three issues is $140,000 and would be used for the improvement of Devonshire street between Santa Susanna and Zelzah avenues, for which Municipal Improvement District No. 67 was formed. The election is scheduled for July 23 but protests against holding it will be heard by the Council on the 28th inst.

An election on the issuance of $100,000 of bonds to acquire and improve land for a park in Reseda to be known as Reseda Park is scheduled by another of the ordinances adopted yesterday, to be held in Municipal Improvement District No. 68 on July 24 and the Council will hear the protests against it on the 27th inst.

The third of the districts, which is No. 69, was formed to pay for the construction of a water supply system in Hollywood Knolls. The election is scheduled for August 20 and the Council will hear protests on July 2. The amount of the projected bond issue is $82,000.

PAVING WORK UNPROTESTED

There were no protests registered with Council yesterday against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of Sanders street between Ninety-second and Ninety-seventh streets. The way is now open for adoption of the final ordinance.

Gentlemen's Estates!

Successful manufacturers, business and professional men who may be thinking of retiring from active business life and building a country estate in some inviting locality where they may most fully enjoy the fruits of their labor, will be especially pleased with

VISTA

California's most inviting subtropical empire in northern San Diego county, which, for the past few years, has been rapidly developing into a great orchard and country home place.

Vista's most salient advantages, briefly, are: an Ideal climate; charming residents; a natural, beautiful environment which probably is unequalled in Southern California; dependable supply of highest quality water; proximity to metropolitan Los Angeles and San Diego; fascinating topography; and, last but not least, attractively low acreage prices.

Among recent estate developments at Vista are those of A. M. Crawford of Crawfordsville, Ind.; Andrew Schmidt of Cleveland, Ohio; W. A. Smith of New York, and the community home of S. C. McCurdy and Lindley C. Morton of Birmingham, Alabama. In addition to the fabrication of beautiful residential homes each of these estates has been materially enhanced in value through the orderly development of a permanent citrus or avocado orchard.

In addition to enjoying life to the fullest extent in this fascinating clime one may also add to his accumulations in planting citrus or avocados. Think it over, then send for descriptive illustrated Vista folder. No obligation.

UP A TREE
We are to have a city forester, but it is understood that the City Hall district is not on his beat. The timber there is all of a political character.

AIMING TO PLEASE
More mechanical marvels. Now they have a device whereby one may drop a penny in a slot and get a cigarette already lighted. Handy thing for our little schoolgirls.

NEEDS A NURSE
The Democratic National Committee has hired a press agent and indicated a purpose to carry on. Yet it would seem that a trained nurse is really what is needed.

THE NET RESULTS
Bill Tilden and Francis Hunter, both Americans, contested for the tennis championship of Switzerland and Tilden won. They are liable to play for the championship of Zanzibar next month. But anyhow, the Swiss can beat the American stars at yodeling. These boys, however, can mop up the rest of Europe on the courts to get even with the judgment of Paris.

COUNTING NOSES
Not much party spoil in the Census Bureau, but the politicians will get all they can. There will be about twenty supervisors in a State like California and these will each draw $2000 for about five months' work. In the whole country there will be about 100,000 enumerators and these will get from $5 to $8 a day, although none will be needed for a full month. It is figured that most of the work will be finished in two weeks. It looks as if the enumeration would be of November 1, instead of May 1, so that the scorers will be fall guys instead of spring lambs. But there are few snaps in the bureau.

THE UNDESIRABLE
Now that they have a Labor administration in England Trotsky bobs up with a petition to enter that country and perhaps make his home there. At present he is in exile in Constantinople and nearly all governments have denied him admission. He has always been a disturber and the sober sentiment of the world is that his room is better than his company. There is quite a feeling in British labor circles favorable to the recognition of Russia. Trotsky is at outs with his own people, but he is still considered as an apostle of the commune. Now it will be seen whether England will make room for the radical.

ETIQUETTE OF THE FLAG
This being Flag Day it is well that every patriotic citizen should refresh his memory as to the right and the wrong way of handling our nation's emblem. The following rules have been promulgated by the United States Marine Corps and are generally accepted:

The flag should never be raised or lowered by any mechanical appliance. It should never be raised while furled. Unfurl, then hoist quickly to the top of the staff.

Where used as a banner the union should fly to the north in streets running east and west and to the east in streets running north and south. Public decorators often fail to observe this rule.

Where the national flag is displayed with State or other flags, it should be given the place of honor on the right. Place no objects on or above the flag. Sometimes articles are placed on a speaker's table covered with the flag. This is wrong usage.

Always let the flag hang straight. Do not festoon over arches or tie in a bow knot. When flags are used in unveiling a statue or monument they should not be allowed to fall to the ground, but should be carried aloft. Take every precaution to prevent the flag from becoming soiled.

Before being placed at half-mast the flag should always be raised to the top of the staff. Before lowering it should likewise be hoisted to the top.

Flags of friendly nations should not be displayed one above the other. They should be placed on staffs or halyards of equal size and on the same level.

MAGNIFYING MISTAKES
While mistakes on the part of prohibition enforcement officers are not to be defended, especially when overzeal results in the death or injury of innocent citizens, such errors are strictly comparable to the similar errors of other classes of peace officers and there is no occasion to get more excited about them. Local police officers, in the course of their duty, occasionally wound and even kill peaceful, law-abiding citizens. Such cases are judged on their individual merits, and there is no national clamor about them.

There seems to be a good deal of overemphasis for wet propaganda purposes of such regrettable affairs as the slaying of Jacob Hanson at Niagara Falls and of Henry Virkulla at International Falls, Minn. If either man had been killed by a policeman who mistook him for a burglar, the case would have been dismissed, so far as national public interest is concerned, in a few lines of print and it is inconceivable that it could have become a subject for Congressional discussion. Men have been slain even by Department of Justice agents in pursuit of automobile thieves without demands by wet newspapers that Federal officers cease trying to enforce the law by the same methods employed by all peace officers. The wet press is rabid when a prohibition officer uses a weapon on a rum-runner; when a policeman shoots a robber, however, it is for covering him with medals.

Congresswoman Kahn, a wet member from San Francisco, has introduced a bill providing Federal compensation of $25,000 for the families of men killed mistakenly by prohibition officers. Its restriction to a particular class of victims indicates its real purpose—wet propaganda. There is no reason whatever for making any distinction among innocent victims of any kind of law enforcement where firearms must be employed.

That complaints that Federal prohibition officers are habitually criminally careless are largely unfounded is indicated by the court records of a number of officers tried before disinterested tribunals and almost invariably acquitted. There have been, if press reports are accurate, only two convictions, in a single case arising in Kentucky. It makes no difference that such cases are tried in Federal courts; Federal juries are drawn in the same manner as other juries, and vote convictions and acquittals, like other juries, with due regard for the evidence. It is a fair inference that if the evidence presented in these various cases warranted conviction, the cases would have so resulted.

There is no point in the argument sometimes heard, that violations of the prohibition law are not capital offenses and that there is no justification, therefore, for killing even the most hardened rum-runner. Neither is burglary a capital offense; but to shoot a fleeing burglar is everywhere considered justified. The liquor-peddling fraternity are members of the criminal class, and must be dealt with as such; in the majority of cases they are armed and dangerous. They are entitled to no more exemption from the probable consequences of their misdeeds than any other criminals.

There are already regulations which forbid prohibition agents, in company with other law-enforcement officers, to use weapons except in self-defense or to prevent the commission of a felony. To impose further restrictions would be to nullify and make impossible enforcement of the law. This, of course, is what the wet propagandists want.

No sensible person maintains that the present system of prohibition enforcement is the ideal one; neither is any other law-enforcement system which requires the employment of armed men, prepared to meet violence with violence, and where occasional misuse of such authority is bound to occur. It would be idle to argue that prohibition policemen are any more free from liability to error than other policemen. There are probably as many boneheads in one class as the other and the mistakes of both are about equally numerous. In both cases lawbreakers are being dealt with in the manner which, in the present stage of social evolution, appears most practicable. To strip the prohibition forces of their only means for meeting criminals on their own ground and with their own weapons would be to make inconsistent our whole system of law enforcement as it exists.

Prohibition officers are not to be set in a class apart. They have their duty to perform, as other officers have, and they must be given as much power and as much privilege. Their acts are to be subjected to the same kind of scrutiny as the acts of other officers.

To magnify their mistakes, while condoning the errors of others, is basically unjust.

THE LEE'S FERRY BRIDGE
An old trail will be given modern importance today when the fine new steel and concrete span across the Grand Canyon near Lee's Ferry is dedicated and thrown open to the public. This bridge is not yet reached by a good road, but road construction to both ends is certain to follow and in a few years the span will be at its full usefulness.

Cardenas, believed to be the first white man to view the Grand Canyon, probably glimpsed its wonders from a spot not far away. This is not certainly known, but it is certain that Fray Escalente, in 1776, camped at the mouth of the Paria, just above where the new bridge stands, on his way back to Santa Fe. James Pattie, a trapper, passed that way in the 1820's. The Mormons established the first ferry there and it received its name about 1870, when it was operated by John D. Lee, a fugitive afterward executed for his part in the Mountain Meadow massacre.

The survey which located this bridge was one of the shortest on record. It was made in about half an hour in 1923, by a Geological Survey expedition on its way down the canyon. The party was anxious to reach a camping ground two miles farther on before dark, and its chief put every available instrument and engineer to work on it, even the cook and boatman helping with rod-readings. The month was August and the temperature was 120 in the shade.

The bridge, which stands 672 feet above normal water level, is the second highest in the United States. It is 833 feet long and the center span is an arch of 618 feet. The roadway has a clear width of eighteen feet.

In the ceremonies today citizens and public officials, the United States Bureau of Public Roads, the Indian Bureau and various motor clubs will take part. This befits its importance as the only highway bridge of the Colorado in 600 miles, from Topock on the south to the junction of the Green and Grand rivers on the north, and the only north and south connection between Arizona and Utah.

EX-NEWSBOY'S RISE
Once again we have proof brought prominently before us that in California there are no rewards or honors beyond the reach of youth, ambition, ability and specialized training. Very few public positions rank higher than that of president of a great university and no university in the world ranks higher in prestige than the University of California, nor, with one possible exception, has any educational institution so large a student body.

The elevation of Robert Gordon Sproul to the presidency of our State University reflects every credit on the judgment of the Board of Regents. Mr. Sproul has climbed to this leadership because he has demonstrated in subordinate positions the qualities that make for success in every field of American endeavor. At the time of the San Francisco fire he was selling newspapers to support himself and later worked his way through college, thus conforming strictly to the democratic tradition.

He was a graduate of the university over which he now presides, has made good as an efficiency expert and has for years been connected with the business side of education, all of which points have weight in every modern educational system.

Mr. Sproul's promotion also emphasizes the growing trend in choosing university heads to consider business and executive ability rather than the qualification of scholarship alone. In a way it is a triumph for the business principle in competition with the university degree. A modern university has so many departments, so many branches, so many purely business interests to attend to that its successful management demands a well-rounded executive, who should be a practical educator first and a college professor afterward.

This is not to say that Mr. Sproul is wanting in scholarship. A Ph. D. degree was once regarded as a sine qua non in a candidate for the presidency of a university. Conditions have changed and the requisites for that high position have changed with them. Mr. Sproul has a fine academic background, he is the youngest man to receive the distinction conferred on him by the University of California, he is a proven executive and promises to advance in every way the multifarious interests of our great State institution.

Incidentally, it is worthy of note how many of our most successful Los Angeles citizens made their starts in life as did Mr. Sproul, by selling newspapers in the streets, another proof that the best training for a youngster is to have to hustle for himself.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.
By Lee Shippey

NEARLY every man who swings on to a city street car at once begins straining his eyes so hard for a seat that when he slips into one he immediately becomes blind to crippled old ladies and tired young mothers with babies in arms. But there are some thousands of suburbanites who daily ride the red cars to town, the same cars back home at night, piloted by the same conductors, who have organized Rear-Platform Clubs and wouldn't take a seat if it were thrust upon them. Night after night they board their trains downtown, while there still are vacant seats, but instead of slipping into them they gallantly and immovably cling to the rear platform, cheerily greeting each other, hailing each member of the club who boards the car after they do—and blocking the passage devotedly and unflinchingly, though night after night their feet are trodden and their ribs elbowed by passengers struggling past and between them.

Really Enjoyable Club Life

To them, the homeward trip is not tiresome, but the crowning event of the day. They have innumerable private jokes which must be good, to judge by the way they laugh at them. And they seem to get better with age. They have debates and discussions which continue from day to day. They smoke each other's cigarettes with the easy camaraderie of a fraternity house, and settle many of the great problems of the world between stations. Some are men of large affairs, and some only clerks, but in the Rear-Platform Club they meet in absolute equality. For there every member must be in good standing. They are coming from big offices in a big city, but they enjoy all the social pleasures of a slow train in Arkansaw.

Another Chance for Fortune

With skirts the way they are, the great need of the times is a folding car step, similar to those railroad porters put down for passengers to step on, which automatically will let down as street cars stop and fold up as they start again.

A Glendora car was going so fast that it almost failed to stop at Las Rosas station for two elderly but stylish women and instead of stopping at the regular stopping place went about thirty feet past it, where the ground falls away so that the step up is nearly twice the usual height. The women hurried up to the car, but there they stopped. The conductor waited a moment, then called:

"All aboard, ladies! Please step lively."

"Conductor," said one of the women, "it's absolutely impossible for us to step that high in these skirts."

Everyone on the car heard the answer, including the motorman, who was craning out of his box to see what was causing the delay. He looked at the skirts critically.

"She's dead right, Jimmie," he called to the conductor. "Gimme three bells, and I'll back up."

MORE NITRATES
Valuable deposits of nitrates are now reported in British South Africa and they may help the mother country a lot. Most of the world's nitrates are supposed to be in Chile and Americans take the full output. They supply American farmers with the bulk of their fertilizer. Folks who thought that the telegraph companies had a monopoly on nitrates are foolish.

THE BIGGER MONEY
They say that Mabel Walker Willebrandt will receive $30,000 a year as counsel for the Aviation Corporation, with the right to make other legal engagements. This is a bigger noise than Uncle Sam can make in the money mart. No wonder the lady found that her connections could be improved.

NO TROUBLE AT ALL
By James J. Montague

A highly intelligent scientist finds
That our nerve force we steadily tax
And constantly put too much strain on our minds
Because we can never relax.
The race he regards as beyond any cure,
We never shall do our full best
Because, he contends, we can never endure
To rest.

Some urge for achievement is always astir,
He says, far deep down in the brain;
Aspirations, though often neglected, recur
Again and again and again.
And man in the future will probably fall
To the lowly estate of the oaf
Unless he can sometimes do nothing at all
But loaf.

I know that some people are constantly keyed
To the uttermost pitch of endeavor
And never are moved by the urge or the need
Of any time off whatsoever.
With the flame of ambition they steadily burn
And keep on the job till they drop.
They perish untimely because they can't learn
To stop.

But if I were not trailed by the wolf at my heels,
Which is never a great way behind,
I, I need not take thought for my bed and my meals
And was wholly at ease in my mind,
Could I give up forever the soul-racking quest
Every thought of ambition forget
And devote all the future to nothing but rest?
You bet!

Are Free Meals Doles?

BELL (Cal.) June 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Having had over twenty-five years' experience in handling the unemployed I heartily indorse your editorial and Sir Gilbert Parker's article on the dole question in England, and yet the reports of our city missions show that they practice the dole method to hundreds in giving free beds and meals to able-bodied men. The whole system is unscientific.

In 1890 I took charge of the Bethel Mission of St. Paul, Minn., which was filled with this class of men. I got a carload of wood and required them to saw for an hour to pay for a meal or lodging. They fled like the morning mist. In the panic of 1893 the city was flooded with hundreds of the unemployed. I took charge of caring of the homeless at no cost to the city. Not over 15 per cent were willing to work.

The tramps claim that Los Angeles is a very heaven for them. The missions and churches should unite with the city and furnish a clean place for these homeless people, but also work so they could pay their way and not be objects of charity. If every city would do it, it would do away with most of the petty crime.
(REV.) DAVID MORGAN.

Burning Over Lots

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There is an ordinance in this as well as other cities requiring owners of vacant lots and vacant acreage to clean up weeds on and in front of said vacant property.

Does "burning off" destroy the weeds? It does not. Does a burnt-over lot add to the scenery—not from my viewpoint. Wherever you cast your eye over the landscape, and this is more pronounced on hillside lots, you see charred ruins. Trees are burnt by the careless handling of the fires, wild flowers are destroyed, buildings are often set on fire, and next season sure as fate the so-called weeds are with us again. Not so the wild flowers or the tree whose bark has been scorched.

For years we have been preaching "Help prevent fires." Yet our officials set the example by "starting a fire."

If you must destroy the weeds, weed them out or cut them down before they have a chance to reseed.
JULIAN LEVEY.

Used in Other Cities

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Yesterday, for the how many times I do not know, in driving east, I was "stopped" by traffic signals in five successive short blocks east of Main. I attained a speed of .twenty-twenty-five miles in the middle of each short block. The sixth and seventh I got the "Go" sign. Why not install the control that is used successfully in other cities? Let the traffic run one way all at once on all streets say from Figueroa to Central avenue and from First to at least Tenth, even if they run for thirty seconds each way only? But whatever zone is covered permit no left turns. Try it and you will use no other. H. S. C.

Very Poor Advice

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I beg to take issue with the writer of a letter under the caption of "Defining a Snob."

The writer apparently agrees in substance with Prof. Rogers, who recently in a talk to a body of students in one of our colleges dwelt on the importance of "snobbishness" and pointed out that this quality of mind would, in his opinion, be of immense advantage to them in their future careers. He seemed to imply that if they wished to succeed in their life's work it would be highly essential that they become snobs.

It seems to me that advice of this kind to our young men and women in particular is not only erroneous but very filly chosen. One rarely finds in any successful men or women, or those who have risen to prominence in world affairs, the quality of snobbishness; on the contrary, they are usually of humble nature, and kindly toward their fellow-men. Gentility is an asset, snobbishness a liability.
EDWARD W. ORTMANN.

Would Tan Thin-Skins

HERMOSA BEACH, May 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The letter signed "A. L. C." in today's Times, and headed "Not Always Divine," misses the point entirely. Those of us who "prefer near-nudity" (!) do not seek to enact petty laws for the purpose of enforcing our preference on the public, as do the morbid folks who are so irritated by a glimpse of sunburned skin.

Intelligent persons are coming more and more to realize that no law should be placed on the statute books unless it is necessary for the protection of the persons or properties of our citizens; that there should be no restriction of the individual liberties except for the control of actions that threaten an actual injury to other people. And we very much doubt whether even a thin-skinned person like A. L. C. has ever been seriously injured by any of the sights that are to be seen on our beaches.

THE FLAG OF LIBBY PRISON

BY JENNIE VAN ALLEN

"Oh, God, how I want to see the flag before I die!"

Like an echo came the quivering cry from the cracked and bleeding lips of twenty-four gaunt, barefooted, unkempt creatures who had once been Union soldiers, but were now more filthy than swine.

"Oh, God, let us see the Flag before we die in Libby Prison!"

"Do you care enough about the Flag to give your shirts for it?"

"What do you mean?"

"We could make a flag out of our shirts and the blue army overcoat."

Desperate was the need of every garment in that foul prison where the cold bit like an adder. But the men stripped and stood naked to their waists as they tore their faded, dirty shirts into broad stripes of red and white.

They cut the skirt of the overcoat for the field of blue. Treasured string was pulled from the pockets of their tattered trousers and threaded into a rusty darning needle.

Slowly and clumsily they stitched the pieces together until at last the wretched rags became the precious Flag of Libby Prison.

The guard passed.

The prisoners threw their flag over the low rafters of the old tobacco warehouse in Richmond and the half-starved men circled around it whispering:

"We'll rally round the Flag, boys!
We'll rally once again!
Shouting the battle cry of freedom."

In terror they pulled it down as they heard the guard returning.

"Oh, God, we've seen the Flag again!

"Our hands have made it."

"We have saluted it!"

"We have sung our flag songs!"

"But where shall we hide our flag?"

"We dare not put it among the rags that make our beds!"

"Oh, where will we keep it?"

"Boys, we can hide it on our bodies!"

"How?"

"Rip it to pieces and wrap the red and white stripes around our legs and arms. We'll sew the pieces back into the overcoat. We've made a flag. We've seen it! We've handled it! We must be satisfied."

They cut the coarse stitches and gave each man a strip. Again and again the guard passed the prison door. Again and again he chaffed:

"That's right, Yanks! Tie up your sore legs and arms."

When the war was over, one of the prisoners sent a secret letter to each of his comrades who gave their shirts to make the flag of Libby Prison.

"Dear Comrades: If you have a piece of the flag you carried away when we were exchanged, please send it to me that it may take its place among the battle flags of America."

Many years passed before the last piece was sent to the soldier. A maker of flags stitched them together and mounted them on a long hickory pole. Again the soldier sent a message to the veterans:

"A quarter of a century ago we parted at Libby Prison, each carrying away a piece of the hidden flag."

Twenty-four prisoners of war stood reverently by their stained and tattered emblem. Again they marched around it. Again their voices were husky whispers as they sang: "Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching."

WHERE CAN I LEARN
Bricklaying?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address, Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Those desiring to enter the trade of bricklaying are privileged to study free at the Frank Wiggins Trade School, during the day; and those already in the trade and wishing to acquire greater efficiency may study free in this school in the evening, from 7 to 9.

The day school is from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Those who wish a general fundamental training before they become apprentices spend six months, of forty hours per week, studying here; and then enter industry. A second group are the indentured apprentices, who return to school four hours per week for two and one-half years, at the same time working on the job for forty hours per week.

The evening school makes a special effort to give instruction which will help those in the trade. There is repetitive training until the student develops speed. Then there is much time spent in laying out the more intricate kinds of work, including fireplaces, arches, windows, door jams, sills and similar work.

In addition, all students learn to read blue prints, make sketches, lay out geometrical figures, and understand the chemistry of materials.

There is always a waiting list at this school, so those wishing to study should apply early, in person. The school is on Venice Boulevard, between Hill street and Grand avenue.

RUNNER TO GET WATCH IN HOLLYWOOD RING

Veterans Fete Marathon Star With Card of Bouts; Fitzgerald Faces Paul De Hate

BY PAUL LOWEY

Clarence De Mar, the celebrated Melrose (Mass.) marathoner, will be part of the main event menu at the Hollywood fights tonight. Although the eastern athlete is not down on the program as one of the gladiators he will step into the ring to receive acknowledgement by Post No. 43 for his marvelous running attainments.

Following out a commendable custom of honoring outstanding men in the world of sports Post No. 43 of the Hollywood American Legion will present De Mar with a wrist watch. De Mar is a Legion man, and always runs under the colors of the Melrose Post.

CLARENCE DE MAR.

The first man to receive a watch from Hollywood Post was De Witt Van Court, the grand old man of California boxing. His name heads a list which includes such famous figures as Benny Leonard, Jim Corbett, Fidel La Barba, Ace Hudkins, Babe Ruth, Frank Wykoff, Knute Rockne, Howard Jones and many others.

RUNS TOMORROW

De Mar is here to run in the first annual Times pre-Olympic marathon tomorrow, and Hollywood Post, No. 43, promptly took occasion to honor the man who has six times won the Boston A. A. marathon and has been a member of three different American Olympic Games teams.

But in addition to De Mar there will be several other new faces at Hollywood tonight.

Freddie Fitzgerald is making his first start as a main eventer at the film city stadium and meets Paul De Hate, the hard-hitting Compton boy, over the ten-round route.

De Hate is the favorite because

DE MAR IS FAVORITE IN GRIND

Melrose Marvel Expected to Triumph Tomorrow in "Times" Marathon

Although the popular belief seems to be that either Clarence De Mar or one of the Sherman Indians will finish first in The Times pre-Olympic marathon tomorrow afternoon it might not be a bad idea to keep an eye on this fellow Robert M. Angier, who copped the East Los Angeles gallop of twelve miles last week.

SID POSTER.

De Mar, because of his great experience over the marathon route, is the logical favorite. He has been a member of the United States Olympic Games team three times. He has won the historic Boston marathon six times, his first victory dating back to 1911.

Local track experts who felt that the change of climate might bother De Mar had this suspicion pretty well dispelled by his announcement that the hotter it is the better he likes it.

There are many who believe that one of the Sherman Indians will hit

HASSLER HERO AS DUCKS WIN

Portland Shortstop's Home Runs Beat Stars, 6-5

BY BOB RAY

Joe Hassler, Portland's recently acquired shortstop from the Athletics, made himself a hero out at Wrigley Field yesterday when he belted one of Buzz Wetzel's pitches over the left center-field wall in the eighth inning to give the Ducks a 6-to-5 victory over the sagging Stars from Hollywood.

"BUZZ" WETZEL.

Hassler's homer was clicked at a time when the score was tied in a 5-to-5 knot, which lent considerable timeliness to its arrival from the Portland standpoint. However, Joe didn't acquire the hero laurels solely on the strength of that clout, the Duck shortstop also walloping a home run in the first inning, a double in the second, and a single in the sixth. Hassler drew a walk in the fourth inning so he enjoyed what the boys are wont to call a perfect day at the plate, but it was a very damaging afternoon as far as the Stars were concerned.

GAVUZZI HOLDS LEAD IN DERBY

Ties Salo for Second as Umek Lap Victor

BY BRAVEN DYER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, June 13.—Unless something unexpected happens tomorrow or Saturday the winner of C. C. Pyle's second annual transcontinental footrace will not be known until the last lap is run at Wrigley Field Sunday night.

PETER GAVUZZI

Peter Gavuzzi, whose bearded physiognomy has harbored many a cootie in this long and arduous grind across the country, finished in a dead heat again today with his nearest rival, Johnny Salo, thereby maintaining the lead of 19m. 58s. which he has held for the last two days.

The runners covered 78.5 miles today in what they described as the most gruelling lap of the entire journey. Starting at 5 o'clock this morning from the little town of Jacumba the first of the pack did not reach San Diego until after 5 o'clock this evening.

UMEK WINS

Guisto Umek, who is so Italian he speaks only half a dozen words of English, was first into the control established in the lobby of Patrick Francis Shanley's hotel, the Waldorf. Umek has been going like the proverbial prairie fire of late and if the race were to run two weeks longer he might be biting at the heels of Gavuzzi and Salo.

Umek finished more than an hour in front of the two leaders today and was given a tremendous cheer by the immense throng that jammed the streets surrounding Mr. Shanley's hotel. His time of 12h. 50s. for the long grind was exceptionally good considering the fact that he and the other runners climbed a full 1000 feet in their jaunt today.

It is too bad for Umek that he didn't start his sprint two weeks ago, for as it is he stands no chance of beating Gavuzzi and Salo to the prize money unless they should suddenly go nutty and try swimming to Los Angeles instead of running. Inasmuch as both Salo and Gavuzzi seem to be in good command of their faculties, there is little likelihood of this, although both admit a little wa-

Daglia Scores Eleventh Victory of Year; Reese Leads Acorn Attack

OAKLAND, June 13.—Pete Daglia turned in his eleventh pitching victory of the season today at Emeryville and the Oaks beat the Angels for the third straight time, 5 to 1.

PETE DAGLIA.

The highly touted, hard-hitting crew from the south managed to touch Daglia for eight hits, but the big fellow had good control of the situation throughout, although there were some spots when it was somewhat doubtful. He held on, however, and found his own club coming back in the closing innings to make the day safe for Oakland.

Carl Holling was touched for fourteen hits, several of them for extra bases. The Oaks got at least one hit in each of the eight innings and Jimmy Reese

DAWSON QUARTER-FINALIST

Chicago Golfer Thumps Two Scotchmen in British Amateur Championship

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

SANDWICH (Eng.) June 13. (AP)—John Dawson, smiling young American, tonight still had his chance to win one of the rarest golfing trophies his home land has ever seen, the British amateur championship crown, which only W. J. Travis and Jesse Sweetser have taken away from Britain.

Having beaten an Irishman and a Scotsman yesterday, Dawson added two more Scots' scalps to his belt today, beating Edward Kyle and S. L. McKinlay, and is among the select eight remaining for the play in the quarter-finals tomorrow morning.

JOHN DAWSON.

A. J. Evans, London barrister and Kent county cricket star, will attempt to stop Dawson's rush toward the final. Should Evans fail, either a Scottish carpenter named John Smith or the titled Michael Scott will oppose the Chicago youth in the semifinal tomorrow afternoon. If the American can stage another victorious day he probably will find his opponent in the finals, the

WASHINGTON, June 13. (Exclusive)—Howard Maple, the former Oregon fullback star, who reported to the Chicago White Sox a week ago has been sent back to Chicago. Schmeling Says He Will Combat Paulino's Defense Style With Stiff Left Ha

GERMAN HEAVY TO TAKE REST

Plans to Start Final Drive for Match Saturday

Uxcudun Crashes Society at Hoosick Falls Camp

Timid Old Ladies Pass by to Shake Basque's Hand

BY JACK FARRELL

LAKEWOOD (N. J.) June 13. (Exclusive)—Although his fight with Paulino Uxcudun is still weeks off, Max Schmeling revealed today that he has at least a vague idea of what he intends to do when he steps into the ring at the Yankee Stadium on the night of June 27.

He will combat the defensive style of Paulino by the use of a left hand. It was decided early this morning to permit Schmeling to rest from boxing today and tomorrow and on Saturday launch into the final two weeks of training for the Basque.

"I once fought a man of the same defensive tactics as Paulino," said Schmeling, "and I beat him by blinding him with a left hand, then knocking him out. I would rather, however, have Paulino employ an open attack against me for that would only make matters easier. Paulino will have to relinquish his defense to deliver a punch, that is the only way to win a fight, and when he does I will swing into action."

UP-SIDE-DOWN PLAYS GOLF AND "CUSSES" BALL

HOOSICK FALLS (N. Y.) June 13.—The remarkable thing about big-time prize fighters nowadays is the elevated social circles which they are able to crash. There is no better example of this condition than that of Paulino Uxcudun.

No sooner had the former barefoot ax-man of the Spanish mountains reached the isolated confines of Hoosick Falls than he became the idol of the local society, such as it is, and his gigantic, hairy paws are now shaken every afternoon by timid old ladies, while rustic grandees come down from their homes in the hill country roundabout to make his acquaintance.

The estate upon which he now lives and trains and entertains the Basque minstrels was visited in the past by Jenny Lind, the Swedish nightingale. The late J. Pierpont Morgan used to cruise up the Hudson in his yacht and drive through the beautiful countryside to this old house, accompanied by his Pekingese dog.

But Uxcudun can be counted upon never to go Gene Tunney. Although he played golf this morning, he did so with wild gestures, such as were never seen before, perhaps, at a social country club, and he cussed the ball with torrid oaths possibly never heard before upon a golf links.

Quinn Seeking Trophy Points in Night Race

Following his victory at Banning on Decoration Day, which materially added to his point total toward the Simplex piston ring trophy, symbolic of the 1929 automobile racing championship of the Pacific Southwest, Francis Quinn is out to capture new honors and their attendant point credit in the inaugural A.A.A.-sanctioned night automobile racing this Saturday night at the American Legion Speedway on Valley Boulevard near Lincoln Park.

Leading the standings at this time is Mel Keneally, with Ernest Triplett second. William Spence was third in line for the championship at the time of his fatal crash at Indianapolis in the annual 500-mile classic there this year. Quinn, though down the list a number of places, is confident he will be among the leaders following tomorrow night's events.

Included among other well-known drivers who will face Fred Wagner's starting flag tomorrow night at the American Legion Speedway are Kenny Stoddard, Art Boyce, Dewey Skipworth, Harry Jaques, Fred Mermey and Arval Brumier. The first race will get away promptly at 8:30 p.m., according to H. A. Marow, track manager.

MERCURIES BATTLE IN HANDBALL MATCH

The doubles handball championship of the Los Angeles Athletic Club will be decided at noon today in a match between Maynard Laswell and Gordon Bleckner and Ira Courtney and Joe Powers. These two teams are the survivors of the big handicap tournament which has been in progress at the Mercury Club for the past five weeks.

Although the tournament has been a handicap affair today's final match will be played from scratch by both teams.

HOLLYWOOD PADDLERS SHATTER RELAY MARK

The Hollywood Athletic Club 300-yard medley relay team shattered the world's record for the distance in a race against time last night. The Movie Club paddlers negotiated the distance in 3m. 6 2-5s. The record is held by the New York Athletic Club at 3m. 9 4-5s. The Hollywood swimmers plan to officially break the mark next week. They equaled the record once before in practice.

HAYWOOD, BARRY BATTLE TO DRAW

Jack Haywood and Johnny Barry battled ten slashing rounds to a draw in the ten-round main event at the Pasadena arena last night. Dud Eads won a six-round decision over Dick McDaniels in the semi-wind-up. The other results: Kenny Johnson outpointed Oriel Astudillo, four rounds; Billy Hall and Cliff Hottinger, draw, four rounds; Paul Chaney and Tiger Napoleon, draw, four rounds.

Golfers Give Joe Turnesa Nice Present

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Joe Turnesa, a member of the American Ryder Cup team and winner of the Manchester Guardian Cup in England, has $2000 more to add to the spoils of European golf victories. The purse was presented to him last night at a dinner in his honor given by the Elmsford Country Club.

STRATFORD IS VICTOR ON COURTS

Former California Player Conquers Bates in Tennis Match at Berkeley

BERKELEY, June 13. (AP)—Gerald Stratford and Wallace Bates, both former University of California tennis stars, met in a quarter-final match of the Pacific Coast tennis championships at the Berkeley Tennis Club today, with Stratford emerging victorious in a hotly contested three-set battle. The scores were 6-3, 5-7, 6-2. Stratford took the first set, scoring repeatedly on net rushes that finally gave him the victory over the more cautious Bates.

Stratford, by virtue of his victory, entered the semifinal bracket. He will meet the winner of the Cranston Heiman-Nell Brown match Saturday.

Mrs. L. A. Harper, one of the leading contenders for the women's singles crown, vacated by Edith Cross, easily triumphed over Anne Cook, 6-1, 6-0.

Mrs. Harper, paired with her sister, Mrs. Lucy McCune Yates, also scored an easy victory over Mrs. W. Brown and Mrs. H. Hoskinson, 6-0, 6-1. The winners are title-holders in the women's doubles events and are regarded as probable repeaters.

HUSKY SHELL PICKED TO TRIM WISCONSIN

MADISON (Wis.) June 13.—The University of Washington crew, which has been training here since Tuesday, rules a slight favorite over Wisconsin in their two-mile race at 7 o'clock tomorrow night. The Huskies were clocked at 10:43 for a two-mile workout yesterday, when the Badgers' unofficial time was two seconds slower.

Coach Al Ulbrickson of the western shell and Mike Murphy, Badger coach, are former Washington strokes. Great rivalry has developed between the two shells since the Pacific Coast boat had its first spin on Lake Mendota.

The junior varsity crews of the two schools also will meet over the two-mile course. In the event of rough water, the races will be held Saturday morning.

MRS. PRESSLER IN GOLF FINAL

Defends Southland Title at Virginia Today

Faces Mrs. Lifur in Eighteen Hole Battle

PUTTS TO SAFETY

On the eleventh hole, Mrs. Pressler sliced one, and found herself stymied by a tree. Miss Lawson poked one down the middle, but dubbed her second shot. Taking her putter, the San Gabriel golfer socked the ball down the fairway and played a perfect pitch shot to the pin. Miss Lawson also chipped dead, and again missed a short putt, while Mrs. Pressler holed hers for a 4 to square the match.

The twelfth and thirteenth were halved, Mrs. Pressler going into the lead on the fourteenth, when she played three fine woods to the green and was down in two putts for a 5. Miss Lawson came right back to square the match on the fifteenth, a 157-yard par 3 hole. She was on the edge of the green, putted perfectly to the pin and sank a short one for a 3.

The young Wilshire golfer should have had no worse than a half on the sixteenth, but missed a short putt and dropped the hole with a 5 to a 4 for Mrs. Pressler. They halved the seventeenth and Mrs. Pressler took a 5 on eighteen to win.

Here are the cards:

Par (Out)	443	444	244—34
Mrs. Pressler	455	555	255—42
Miss Lawson	554	455	354—40
Par (In)	345	453	443—37—71
Mrs. Pressler	345	554	455—40—82
Miss Lawson	455	563	556—44—84

Mrs. Lifur and Mrs. Green also furnished a close battle, although Mrs. Lifur led from the seventh hole on. Mrs. Green was 2 down at the turn. They halved the first four holes coming in. Mrs. Green won the fourteenth but lost the next hole. She rallied again to annex the sixteenth, but Mrs. Lifur won the seventeenth with a 4 to end the match.

Here are the cards:

Mrs. Lifur (out)	554	464	354—41
Mrs. Green	554	555	455—43
Mrs. Lifur (in)	355	563	54x
Mrs. Green	355	554	43x

In the first flight semifinals, Mrs. F. M. Slade, the former Helen Converse, defeated Mrs. C. A. Barbour, 1 up, and Mrs. N. Howell defeated Mrs. Pete Daley, 1 up.

Mrs. D. P. O'Keefe entered the finals of the second flight with a victory over Mrs. G. M. Midgley, 3 and 2. Miss C. Wassen defeated Mrs. A. G. Lind, 4 and 3, in the lower bracket.

OUTBOARD PILOT REBUILDS HULL

Put out of the running by ill luck in both of the outboard programs already staged by the new Venice Motor Boat Speedway, when his Black Maria spilled on the north curve of the oval course in the final race of both Sundays, Al Thompson is making changes in his hull in preparation for the next program there, scheduled for Sunday, the 23rd inst. HERMOSA BEACH, June 13.—Anglers visiting the Red Star live bait boats and the Olympic barges operating out of Hermosa Beach report continued activity on the part of the barracuda. Halibut are also showing in sizeable catches on the pleasure fishing craft two miles out with an unprecedented run experienced by anglers on the Hermosa pier.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By Paul Lowdy

"PLAYBOY" MIKE COLLINS

"THE PLAYBOY OF BOXING." This is the handle Self-Defense, an eastern boxing magazine, hangs on Mike Collins. And to live up to his nickname, in a mild form at least, Mike is here on his annual tour. He was out here last year. And the year before. And several years preceding.

Mike is one of the outstanding characters of pugilistic history. As matchmaker, manager, promoter he has been through the mill from A to Z. He managed Mike Gibbons in the old days. He promoted the Dempsey-Tom Gibbons fight at Shelby. He is matchmaker, manager, promoter, boxing commission of the auditorium in Minneapolis at the current writing.

He had a successful winter season, and he's here to live up to his nickname. But only in part. Mike always combines business with pleasure.

This time Mike has the "next Jack Dempsey" in tow. You've heard that before. Some manager is always bobbing up with another Manassa Mauler. But Collins says this one is the best pugilistic prospect he has had since Mike Gibbons.

The lad's name is Jack Daniels. He is a light-heavyweight who has climbed from bantamweight stature in three years. He is nineteen and still growing. In two rounds he knocked out Mike Mandell, who had just kissed off Vigo Doman, once a top shot at Hollywood, in a single frame.

The boy's father has been his manager. Because he has some of the prospective great qualities possessed by Mike Gibbons the "Playboy" has taken him under his wing. And during Mr. Collins's play moments in Southern California Mr. Jack Daniels, the "next Jack Dempsey" is to be exhibited here. Heretofore Mike has confined these exhibitions to Minneapolis, but now Mike says young Dick is ripe for introduction in outside circles.

A WATCH FOR DE MAR

LEGION men all over are very proud of Clarence De Mar, the Melrose (Mass.) typesetter who has come all the way across the country to run in the first Times pre-Olympic Marathon tomorrow.

A big bunch of the boys turned out to greet their fellow Legionnaire when he arrived at the railroad station the other day, and tonight the Hollywood Legion post will present him with one of their famous wrist watches at the weekly fights.

This is a singular honor. Only outstanding characters in the world of sports are so honored by the Hollywood Stadium, and when Manager Tom Gallery stops the fights tonight to have De Mar introduced it will be because the visitor is recognized as the greatest marathoner over a period of years ever produced in this country.

I believe it was Lloyd Thomas, the University of Southern California's wonderful halfback, who received the last medal at Hollywood.

When Chick Meehan, New York University coach, was out here for the New Year's Day game he said the watch given him by Hollywood was one of his most treasured possessions.

Chick received his timepiece back in 1924 when coaching Syracuse. He brought his boys to the Coast late in the fall of that year for a game with the Trojans, which the latter won, 16 to 0.

GOOD DEMPSEY STORY

THE rumor still persists that Mr. Jack Dempsey with the promotional bee in his bonnet is going to stage a Walker-Hudkins battle for the middleweight title in this city.

It is a good story because Jack has the promotional itch and the contending parties have the battle itch, plus the fact that this is the only city in the country which wants this particular fight—and it is "hot" here.

UNITED STATES OPEN PAIRINGS ANNOUNCED

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Pairings for the first two rounds of the open golf championship announced today by the United States Golf Association, call for the first pair to leave the first tee at the Winged Foot Club, Mamaroneck, N. Y., at 8:30 a.m., Thursday, the 27th inst. For the second 18 holes of play Friday, the players who went out in the morning the day before will play in the afternoon.

LEGIONNAIRES HONOR DE MAR

he recently defeated Tommy Jones, conqueror of Dick Hoppe, but Fitzgerald has better boxing form and may surprise the boys.

Clyde Tudkins seconds De Hate these days and has instilled a lot of confidence into his aggressive two-fisted fighter.

Fitzgerald came here with the reputation of being a main eventer in the East, but took a couple of semi-wind-up fights at Hollywood to get a start. He is a tough rough and ready Irishman.

The semi-wind-up will show a newcomer in Poison Pisons, Filipino all-navy flyweight champion with a record of forty knockouts out of forty-three fights.

He is to tangle with Clayton Gouyd, who is nothing if not tough and a mixer.

In the special event two more new faces will be seen. Sailor Henderson and Bert Wagner, a pair of welterweights, are down for a six-round go.

The four-rounders are Willie Fausto and Haroid Morin in the second spot and Tommy Hoffman and Carl Carvthon in the curtain raiser.

GRAHAM WINS MOVIE CLUB SQUASH TITLE

Use Right Arm to Finish Drive

BY SOL METZGER

When the right hits straight through it's a straight right arm and you apply all the punching power you can with it, Bobby Jones, and he's a fine example to follow, never hit a golf ball well without having the sense of poking it with his straight right arm with all the power that arm could get into the ball.

Likewise George Von Elm. All the great players so hit the ball. And because their heads are down and chins in they have no sway of head at this point.

Note the sketch of Von Elm particularly. This smash through with the straight right arm has brought his weight into the shot, put it in behind the punch. So, the drive is, as said, a straight left-arm swing, a hip slide that keeps the hips ahead and a final straight right-arm punch that rolls the right forearm over and causes the wrists to uncock and add the maximum velocity to the clubhead. Tomorrow—the finish.

Sol Metzger has prepared a leaflet on some vital points to remember in Putting. He will send this to any reader sending him a stamped, addressed envelope. Address The Times.

ter travel wouldn't be half bad after so much arduous plodding.

It's hard to find out in one day which is the better runner, Gavuzzi or Salo. This writer is inclined to string with the former. Those with Pyle's troupe, however, state that there is really nothing to choose between the two and that one stands as good a chance of winning as the other.

Gavuzzi is twenty pounds lighter than Salo and appears to be a more polished runner. The Passaic policeman is powerfully built, having legs like a football tackle and shoulders that you generally find on an all-American halfback. Salo is married, has two boys, and is accompanied on the run by his wife, who admits she wishes the race were over, even if the finish will send her back to housekeeping in New Jersey.

There are still nineteen runners left in the race, but at a late hour tonight some of them had not yet come in. Today's grind was a terrific test of courage and stamina and it may be that some will not make the grade. If they do get in it won't be until midnight or after and then they have to start out again at 6 in the morning.

SAN JUAN NEXT

Tomorrow's lap is to San Juan Capistrano, a distance of sixty-five miles. Pyle originally intended to stop at a town made famous by a former Mayor of Seattle, but when the do, re, mi wasn't forthcoming, the route was switched. On Saturday the men run through Long Beach to Huntington Park.

The runners, at least the three leaders, appear to be in excellent shape. They jogged virtually the entire distance today and will probably do the same tomorrow. Salo and Gavuzzi are plainly saving themselves—if you call running seventy-eight miles a saving occupation—for that final spurt at Wrigley Field, and it should be a sight worth traveling miles to see.

Coast Moguls in Conference

SPOKANE (Wash.) June 13. (AP) Graduate managers of the Pacific Coast conference meeting here to arrange 1929 and 1930 sports schedules, exclusive of football, turned their attention to golf this afternoon after a short business session this morning when dates for annual golf and tennis tournaments were set. Football schedules were made up last winter.

The meeting was formally opened today with the arrival of southern division officials and will continue until Saturday. The officials voted to hold the conference golf tournament at Los Angeles next May 16 and 17 and the tennis tournament at Eugene, Or., at the same time. They also decided that four-man teams would compete in the two tournaments instead of two-man teams as in the past.

W. W. Monohan, graduate manager of the University of California and chairman of the committee investigating the plan of appointing a commissioner to supervise conference sports, announced that his committee would report at tomorrow's session. The committee was appointed at the winter session of graduate managers and has its report ready.

Northern division members have been working on a basketball schedule for 1930 which excludes the University of Montana. Several officials argued that Montana is too far away from other schools in the northern section of the conference before it was agreed to drop that school from the hoop schedule.

CORONADO TAKES SECOND STRAIGHT

BAKERSFIELD, June 13.—Coronado nosed out Bakersfield, 8 to 7, in an exciting eleven-inning California State League baseball game here today. McCabe, Coronado catcher, doubled in the eleventh, and scored on an error by Frank Elwood, Bakersfield first baseman. Both McCabe and Porter, the Bee catcher, hit two home runs. Score:

Coronado	3	10	7
Bakersfield	7	13	5

Cason, Laird and McCabe; Phebus, Joiner and Porter.

CONNALLY FARMED OUT TO DALLAS BALL CLUB

WASHINGTON, June 13.—George Connally no longer is a member of the White Sox pitching staff. After pitching in batting practice this afternoon he was notified that he had been released to Dallas of the Texas League. Connally's removal from the big-league ranks was caused by his inclination to take his labors too lightly. He first came to the South Siders in 1921, and after being farmed out several times was returned for a six-year stay.

MERTON NELSON LAST HURLER TO LOSE TILT

Merton Nelson was the last of the Coast League twirlers to meet with defeat this season. Nelson had won eight straight games when he suffered his first setback on Wednesday, serving as a relief pitcher, when the Mission Reds were defeated by the Seattle Indians. Nelson has pitched seven complete games, has finished up three others and has twirled a total of ninety-seven innings so far this season.

DADO TO BE BRIDEGROOM

Flashy Filipino Fighter to Marry San Francisco Girl in September

Speedy Dado, who headlines the Olympic mat [illegible] Delos Kid Williams, will marry a San Francisco girl next September, the little fighter made the announcement yesterday. The young lady is Miss Olga Soulle.

The Filipino boxer met his fiancee while boxing in the north about a year ago. Dado used to box week after week at one of the San Francisco clubs, refusing to travel although offered bigger matches elsewhere.

Frank Churchill always said that San Francisco promoters would not let the little fellow get away from them, but friends of little Dado suspected that perhaps Miss Soulle had something to say about the matter.

Dado has been boxing in Los Angeles almost steadily for the last six months. He came here to take treatments for his shoulder, the warmer climate being better suited for him than the changeable weather of the north.

DE MAR CHOICE IN LONG RACE

WON EASILY

Angier, who was a member of the University of Chicago track team in 1918, covered twelve miles in 1h. 19m. 5s. last week and was not pushed at all, the second-place man being three minutes behind him. He ran the distance in ordinary street shoes and plans to wear the same footgear tomorrow.

Angier's cousin, Milton, was a famous javelin thrower for the Illinois Athletic Club several years ago, at one time holding the national record.

The ex-Maroon distance star has lived in Los Angeles since the latter part of 1918 and makes his living as a short-story and essay writer. Like all writers he often strikes a dull season and at present is employed as a clerk at San Pedro.

To keep in shape Angier runs part of the distance either to or from work each day. Tuesday night he galloped sixteen miles and felt no ill effects. Wednesday night he added a couple of miles to that, and has since been tapering off.

Angier weighs 140 pounds and competed in the industrial meet here in 1926, winning the two-mile jaunt at that time. This race and the mile were his regulation events while at Chicago.

Coach B. A. Jamison and his Sherman Indians are slated to arrive here this morning from Riverside. They will be driven over the marathon route and then spend the day resting for the big test tomorrow.

R. H. Murray, who led the East Los Angeles marathon for the first six miles last week, may turn out to be a good bet tomorrow. He was running easily and enjoying a nice lead when one of his new shoes proved too tight for his hoof and caused the member to swell considerably. He finally finished with one shoe off and one shoe on.

ADDED STARTER

A belated entry was officially accepted by the executive committee yesterday, when the registration of Jose M. Padilla was sanctioned. Padilla is a native of Guatemala, and hopes to represent his country in the 1932 Olympics. He has been training for some months, working along the lines that enabled Paavo Nurmi to crack all Olympic records. Nurmi trained religiously for four years before making his first Olympic appearance.

All entrants must report to Clerk of the Course Kinter Hamilton at the Central High School Building, 451 North Hill street, sharply at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mr. Hamilton will give the runners their instructions and the numbers which they must wear, and from the high school building they will be taken to the starting point directly in front of the City Hall.

E BRIDEGROOM

to Marry San Francisco Girl September

...s the Olympic next Tuesday afternoon when San Francisco girl next September. The announcement yesterday. The young lady's name

Another boxing groom is due to arrive here Saturday from Chicago. He is Earl Mastro. The Chicago Italian was delayed there a few days following the Midget Miller-O'Dowd match. Mastro was supposed to have fought in Los Angeles shortly after he had tried in Los Angeles shortly after to beat Kid Francis.

Paddy Harmon is trying to line up an opponent for Mastro in an open-air July card. Just who Mastro will box has not been decided.

Mastro is coming for the Fidel La Barba reunion at the Doyle club on the 26th inst. La Barba is taking daily workouts at the Manhattan Gymnasium. The former flyweight king recognizes the fact that Mastro is an improved boy but is working as hard for this as he did for Chocolate in New York.

Williams, who is to oppose Dundee is not so much of a veteran as some think. He is only 26 years of age, it is claimed. He has been fighting a long stretch of years, however. Williams was in his prime in the days of Kid Herman and Jimmy Lynch.

His last Olympic appearance is said to have gave Kid Francis an almost even argument.

Thomas Gets Theater Job

Fox-West Coast Theaters has offered Lloyd Thomas, U.S.C. football and all-around athletic star, an executive position which Thomas has accepted.

The former gridiron hero started work yesterday at the Fox-Criterion Theater as assistant manager in charge of personnel.

The Fox theaters invited Thomas into the organization because it is their plan to recruit theater managers from the ranks of young university men. Thomas was particularly desired because he has had plenty of experience in that much-desired quality of "meeting the public."

The Oaks took the lead in the second by putting across two runs and sewed up the struggle by scoring three more times in the seventh and eighth innings. Score:

CHISOX COLLECT

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—After a four-run rally in the ninth inning had permitted the Washington Senators to overcome an early Chicago lead and tie the score, the White Sox came back in the tenth with three tallies to win today's game, 11 to 8.

Five pitchers were used and all were batted freely except Lyons. Ad Liska pitched the tenth for the Senators and lost the game. Score:

DUCKS TRIM STARS AGAIN

Hassler's Second Homer of Game Gives Portland Squad 6-to-5 Victory Over Hollywood

the gent with the high hard one, not only pitched a very effective brand of ball but also provided a timely home-run clout that wiped out a Hollywood two-run lead in the eighth inning. Mahaffey's drive soared into the center-field bleachers on a line and scored the agast Mr. Rego, who had singled from first.

CARLYLE CLICKS HOMER

Cleo Carlyle did his best to win the game for the Stars and apparently did cinch the victory for Hollywood in the seventh when he homed into the right-field stands with a couple of mates aboard the bases. That poke by Mr. Carlyle's son, Cleo, put the Sheiks out in front, 5 to 3, and only two rounds to go, but Wetzel pitched two too many home-run balls in the eighth and the lead went aglimmering.

The Ducks took a liking to Wetzel's offerings early in the game and landed on Buzz for one or more safeties during every inning of his eight-inning stay on the mound. A total of fourteen hits were collected by the visitors, with Hassler of course leading the attack. Walter Kinney blanked the Ducks in the ninth after Wetzel had been lifted for a pinch-hitter.

Mahaffey was touched for nine hits by the Stars, but it was loose fielding more than anything else that enabled the Hollywooders to do what scoring they did. The Ducks contributed three errors to the Hollywood cause and two of them figured in the Hollywood runs getting.

The Ducks took a two-run lead in first inning and the bases had the S. R. O. sign out when Wetzel finally got the side out. Hassler started the Portland scoring and his profitable day at the plate simultaneously by clicking one of Wetzel's fast ones over the garden wall. Bean then walked Keesey and Jahn followed with a single over second. Walters forced Jahn at second, Lee to Burkett, but the Duck left-fielder bunsped into Burkett hard enough to cause him to throw wild to first. Jahn's bumping tactics not only broke up the double play but enabled Keesey to score when Burkett's heave sailed past Heath. Singles by Bates and Richards filled the sacks, but Rego obligingly forced Richards at second to end the lengthy inning.

Hollywood filled the bases after two were out in the second, but Mahaffey retired Wetzel on a fly to Frey to prevent any scoring.

The Stars tied it up in the third, once more the trouble starting after two were out. Rollings's single to center began the excitement and Rumler walked. Carlyle singled over second to score Rollings, Rumler went to third and Carlyle to second when Bates's throw home got by Rego and went to the stands. Rumler scored the tying marker when Hassler picked up Heath's grounder and threw it into the dirt at first. However, in view of Mr. Hassler's subsequent achievements, that erro. was probably forgiven by the Portland players. Lee filed to Bates for the third out.

Portland went ahead in the fifth and it was all Wetzel's fault. With one away, Walters singled to left. Bates filed to Carlyle. While Wetzel was reposing peacefully on the mound, Walters made a dash for second. By the time Buzz threw the ball to Heath, Walters was three-quarters of the way to second. Heath made a hurried throw to Burkett and the ball squirted by the runner out to left field. Walters finally winding up at third. Richards came through with a single to center that brought Walters home and put the Ducks out in front, 3 to 2.

Ell Funk opened a successful campaign for Hollywood runs in the seventh by slapping a double to left. Burkett's infield out advanced Funk to third. Rollings hit to Richards, whose throw to Rego trapped Funk between third and home. The Portland catcher, however, ran Funk almost back to third and then messed up the play by throwing high to Walters. Funk arrived safely back at third and Rollings, pulled up at second on the error. Rumler hit to Hassler and this time Funk was nailed at the plate. Carlyle followed with his home run into the stands and the Sheiks were out in front, 5 to 3, but not for long.

HOMERS WIN FOR DUCKS

Lee threw out Richards on a brilliant play to open the eventful eighth, but Rego lifted a blooper single over the Sheik shortstop's head. Wetzel promptly grooved one to Mahaffey and the score was tied when the Duck pitcher walloped the ball into the center-field bleachers. Frey grounded out to Heath, but Hassler came through with his winning wallop and that ended the scoring for the day.

Frank Shellenback will try to tame the Ducks with his spitballs today, while Fred Ortman will be out to southpaw the Sheiks into submission. A double-header has been carded for tomorrow. Score:

HIGH ALTITUDE NO HINDRANCE

Cromwell Thinks Athletes Will Not Suffer

Concentration in Sprints Will Aid Clubmen

Mercury Athletes Working for Last Tryouts

Dean Cromwell, head coach of the L.A.A.C. track team for the national A.A.U. championships to be held at Denver July 3, 4 and 5, does not believe that the mile-high Colorado altitude will hinder the Mercuries in their drive for another national title.

The clubmen will concentrate their efforts on the sprints, hurdles and field events and the higher altitude will make no difference in these events, according to Cromwell.

Last year the Mercuries secured 41 points to win the national title at Boston. Charley Keppen, club athletic director, got busy with his pad and pencil yesterday and figured this year's team good for at least 35 points at Denver in the senior meet, which should be enough to win again. Mercury officials are expecting a hot battle from the Olympic Club of San Francisco, the Illinois A. C. of Chicago and the New York A. C.

Cromwell does not believe that it will benefit any athlete to train at Denver previous to the meet. "It will be team spirit that will win for us again and we can get that best by working together at home and going to Denver in a body," said Dean yesterday.

"It is best to arrive at Denver a day or two before the meet. Of course two weeks' of training at Denver would be a help, but one week will be of little aid."

Final L.A.A.C. team tryouts will be held at the Coliseum the 22nd inst. and the team will leave Los Angeles the 20th inst.

TUCSON MAY DROP OUT OF BALL LOOP

TUCSON (Ariz.) June 13. (AP)—The Tucson baseball club will withdraw from the Arizona State League at the end of the first half of the split season unless between $3000 and $3500 is raised in the meantime for the support of the cowboys, it was decided today at a meeting of the board of directors of the club.

The Tucson club is a farm for the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League, owned by William Lane. Lane was reported tonight as having said that he had not been notified of the directors' decision, and therefore he had nothing to say about the reported possibility of the Waddies withdrawing from the State League.

ELMER JACOBS HAVING FINE HURLING SEASON

Elmer Jacobs is enjoying one of the best seasons of his baseball career. In holding the Sacramento club to no score on Wednesday, the San Francisco twirler chalked up his eleventh straight victory. He has twirled fourteen winning games with only two defeats to mar his record. Jacobs has been used exclusively to start games. He has been worked harder than any other twirler in the circuit, pitching a total of 135 innings. He has pitched through thirteen complete games, giving way to a relief hurler in only three of the sixteen contests in which he has started.

ARMY-NAVY GRID FEUD GROWS

Vociferous Congressmen Cause Widening of Breach Between Service Schools; Army Needs Oratorical Backing as Britten and Fish Chirp for Navy

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, June 13.—The public desire for the resumption of the Army-Navy football game, stimulated every now and again by the agitated clamor of Congressmen Britten and Fish, eventually will drive the two academies together, but the longer the reconciliation is put off the more difficult it will be to convince those concerned that they all belong to the same nation. A dispute that began with a disagreement over the rules of eligibility has developed into something quite like a feud, and there is now, on the Army's side, and probably on the Navy's side, too, a disrespect that is altogether too grim for the first cause of the trouble.

Curiously, or perhaps I should say, naturally, the one element that has done most to embitter the quarrel has been the conciliatory offices of Congressmen Britten and Fish, partisans of the Navy side. They have gone at their conciliation in the natural manner of the politician which is not apt to conciliate anybody that lives almost entirely on pride. Their conditions for a resumption of the game would humiliate the Military Academy, and, while resumption on these terms might be regarded as a distinguished political feat, it would entail a proportionate sacrifice of morale where morale counts most.

OFFICERS SILENT

Officers of the Army and Navy are extremely cautious in their remarks about Congressmen, because a vindictive member of parliament with any influence at all can retard any officer's career and inflict on his family inconveniences which amount to hardships. Some Congressmen like to treat officers as they would letter-carriers, so these remarks about the Army-Navy football affair are offered on information and belief and not on the authority of any officer.

So far as the football teams are concerned, it would be possible to resume the series next fall on some post-season date and if the Army only had one brazen and garrulous Congressman to agitate the other side of the dispute the thing could be done. The Army team will be kept in training after the close of the regular season in order to play the return game with Stanford in California and the Navy team could be held together long enough to play, perhaps on a midweek day early in December. I know this is a scandalous proposal, because the regulations say nothing about such a departure from custom. But the suggestion of a trip to Chicago a few years ago was even more shocking at first, and still the two regiments made the journey and the nation managed to muddle along.

Lacking a Congressman of appropriate type, the Army has seen its side of the original fuss obscure and forgotten, but a fairly noisy advocate could soon refresh the public memory on these points:

First, that the Navy broke an agreement with the Army.

Second, relations were not severed by mutual consent, the Army insisting to the last that West Point wished to play on the terms of the original contract.

Third, that the Navy's reason for quitting, as one of the high officers of the Navy expressed it, was because six classes of midshipmen had been graduated without seeing a Navy victory.

Since then Britten and Fish have demanded that the Army retire some of its best players from varsity competition and go on with the series on the Navy's terms, but nobody of similar nature has ever risen to insist that the Navy abandon its own rules of eligibility and agree to play the game with both sides at full strength.

The Navy's complaint, it may be recalled, was that the Army permitted cadets to play three years of academy football regardless of their previous football experience elsewhere. The Navy had adopted the intercollegiate rule allowing a midshipman only three years of varsity play, all told. A midshipman who had played two years on the varsity at Yale, for instance, would be allowed only one year on the Navy team.

SCORNS RULES

Judging by the development in the Big Ten Conference of the Middle West, where ten universities mistrusted one another and adopted rules which amounted to mutual aspersions on the sporting honor of all, there is no reason why the Army should adopt these conditions. They were broken and evaded and when the Big Ten awoke to a drowsy recognition of this fact it was decided to do nothing much about it because any consistent enforcement would have reduced the Big Ten to a Big Two, or, at most, a Big Three.

As matters stand, the Army not only insists that all cadets must be allowed three years on the "A" team, subject to the usual internal rules of the academy, but in the absence of any specific waiver reserves the right to proselyte.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Rokoff had seen enough to convince him that Tarzan would not be the one to lie dead this night. He telephoned the police. Arriving, they found Tarzan like a wild beast standing at bay. Before they could arrest him, he sprang to an open window, leaped across the walk to a tree and disappeared upward.

Quickly climbing the tree, Tarzan found its top opposite a roof. The muscles that for years had sent him hurtling through the tree-tops of his primeval forest quickly cleared the distance. From this building he swiftly leaped to another, then slid to the ground, and soon was safe at home—and asleep.

Lieut. d'Arnot had succeeded in obtaining for Tarzan a commission in the diplomatic service. It required great physical courage and was a secret mission. Tarzan was overjoyed, for it promised adventure. And so it came that he bade his friend and Paris adieu and crossed to Northern Africa.

A certain officer had stolen information of great value, which his government suspected a rival power desired. A noted Parisienne, in a jealous mood, had caused suspicion to rest upon him. To obtain these documents and keep an eye on the traitor was Tarzan's task when, disguised as an American traveler, he arrived in Algiers.

Boosters Plan Ceremony When Service Begins on Cross-Country Venture

Representtives of business and civic organizations yesterday attended a luncheon given at the California Club to formulate plans for the inauguration of the forty-eight hour coast-to-coast plane and train service to be established July 8, next, between Los Angeles and New York.

Elaborate ceremonies are expected to be held in connection with the beginning of this new service under the direction of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., and its affiliated rail lines, the Santa Fe and Pennsylvania. On the same date a westbound schedule between New York and Los Angeles will become operative.

After the luncheon, H. W. Beck, western traffic manager of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., said:

"We are going into this service after approximately one year of preparation and construction under the technical direction of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, chairman of the technical committee of the air line. The service will reduce the time now required between Los Angeles and New York by approximately thirty-six hours."

At the luncheon were John C. Austin, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce; Maj. C. C. Moseley, vice-president and director of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., and general manager of the Curtiss Flying Service; Don Thomas, executive secretary, and Jack Scanlon, publicity director of the All-Year Club; James B. Duffy, general passenger agent, Santa Fe; J. L. Maddux, president Maddux Air Lines; A. W. Poole, manager of the aviation department of the Chamber of Comemrce, and Mr. Beck.

CO-ED GETS LEADING TALKING FILM ROLE

Muriel Gould

Muriel Gould, until a few days ago a co-ed at the University of Southern California, is under contract to play a leading role in a talking picture.

Miss Gould came to Los Angeles several months ago and enrolled at the university. One of her courses was that of motion-picture appreciation. Becoming interested in the making of films she worked as an extra during spring vacation in "The Collegian" series at Universal studios.

A few days ago she received a call from a casting director. Following screen and voice tests she was signed on a contract by Columbia to play in a talking picture of college life.

How Messages Speed Across Sea Explained

Something of how the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, which operates the only cable across the Pacific Ocean, plays a part in overseas commerce was explained to the Foreign Trade Club at its weekly luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Messages from Los Angeles to Shanghai can be sped along the copper thread across the thousands of miles under the sea in eight minutes, Manager Charles A. Holser of the local Postal office told the members.

Its trans-Atlantic service has provided New York customers with Liverpool cotton exchange acceptances in two to three minutes and has provided New York with Chile service in four minutes, Holser said.

A message-sending and receiving machine, scarcely more complicated than a typewriter, was in the dining-room and demonstrated how messages from the room to Los Angeles business houses could be sent and answered within four minutes.

Robert Dorton, club president, presided. The Wiley B. Allen Company, introduced as a music exporter, provided music.

Shrine Provost Guard Awarded Silver Trophy

More than 100 members of Al Malaikah Temple's newest Shrine organization, the Provost Guard, was present at the weekly Shrine luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday when Potentate LeRoy M. Edwards awarded a sterling silver trophy to Al A. Comey, president of the organization, as the winning team in obtaining membership affiliations.

The drive wound up at the luncheon yesterday where Mr. Comey and his business partner, Noble Arthur C. Jones, furnished a seven-act vaudeville show for the Shriners and their friends. More than 1000 turned out and gave a noisy reception to Potentate Edwards for his work as director-general of the recent Shrine convention.

Chairman Robert S. Weaver of the luncheon committee announced that but two more Thursday luncheons will be held by Al Malaikah Temple's Shrine Club, when adjournment will be taken for the summer.

FUNERAL OF H. H. SCOTT TOMORROW

Civil War Veteran and Colorado Settler to be Buried at Forest Lawn

Funeral rites for Harry H. Scott, Civil War veteran and one of the early settlers of Colorado, who died Monday at his home, 190 South Ardmore avenue, will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the chapel of Bresee Brothers, 855 South Figueroa. Interment will be at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Scott, who was 91 years of age, had resided in Southern California seventeen years. He leaves four daughters and two sons. The daughters include Mary Scott of New York, national secretary of the Y.W.C.A.; Nelle D. Scott, teacher of mathematics in John Burroughs High School, Los Angeles; Lillian, wife of Raymond F. Walter, chief engineer of the United States Reclamation Service at Denver, and Edna, wife of Frank G. Tyrrell, Los Angeles attorney. The sons are Dr. James U. Scott of Harrisville, Mo., and Walter A. Scott, who lives on his father's old homestead in Colorado.

Born in Ohio, Mr. Scott enlisted during the Civil War in the Fifty-second Regiment, Ohio Infantry, and served three years, participating in Sherman's march to the sea. Later he settled in Western Missouri, but early joined the western pioneer movement and became a leader in the settlement of Colorado, taking up a large homestead near Fort Collins. His parents and other members of his family later joined him and established the town of Greeley.

"In this action the members of the board desire to co-operate with you in every possible way in furthering the interests of the citizens of Los Angeles in the many problems with which you will be confronted in the capacity of chief executive of the city, and at the same time please feel at liberty to call upon any member of the board or department under its jurisdiction for any co-operation or assistance you may require."

CITY LOSES USURY CASE

Rothman Acquitted When Prosecution Fails to Show Evidence of Illegal Julian Charge

Louis Rothman, charged with twenty-four counts of usury in connection with the Julian Petroleum debacle, was acquitted yesterday by Municipal Judge Pope at the conclusion of his three-day trial. Rothman was the second defendant to go on trial in the Julian usury cases, Myer Brown having been found not guilty on similar charges by Judge Pope last week.

In handing down his decision, Judge Pope declared that the prosecution had failed to introduce evidence to establish usury. He also held that Rothman's restitution of $3,000 to the Julian receivers could not be construed as evidence that he was guilty of usury, without the facts of the crime itself being established.

FAILURE POINTED OUT

Special Prosecutor Foster, the court declared, although given wide latitude, relied largely on the fact that Rothman had made restitution for his case and failed to show any contract for a loan or that the Julian Corporation had agreed to pay interest at a rate greater than the legal 12 per cent.

Nathan O. Freedman, defense attorney, argued that the transactions between Rothman and the Julian corporation officers were legal contracts for the sale and repurchase of stock and in its decision, the court upheld his stand. Freedman put up no defense, but made a motion to dismiss the charges against his client when the prosecution finished its case. The motion was granted.

REFUSE TO TESTIFY

Witnesses called to the stand yesterday by Foster included Ed H. Rosenberg and S. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Corporation. Both witnesses refused to testify on vital points on the ground that they might lay themselves open to charges of conspiracy to commit usury. Judge Pope upheld their stand. Lewis, however answered a few questions on minor points involved.

Charges against Samuel Forester, also accused of usury, were dismissed by the court on motion of Foster to that effect. The prosecutor declared that he does not have sufficient evidence to establish a case. Trial of C. C. Streeter on similar charges, set for yesterday, was continued until next Monday by Judge Pope.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, chamfering, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS REGARDING WHOOPING COUGH

Whooping cough is a miserable ailment for any child to suffer and a dangerous one for the small baby. When it breaks out in any neighborhood, it runs riot because mothers are all too often careless about keeping their children separated from other children during the first week or so of a cold. At this early period the whoop isn't present, though the child may cough some, and it is at this time that most authorities believe it to be most contagious. As soon as the child begins to whoop, it is a very careless and ignorant mother who would expose other children by letting her own child run wild, so that probably most of the cases of whooping cough are caught during the early weeks.

The disease is caught by direct contact with someone having the disease. It is not possible for a second person to carry it, so it is said. The worst stage is the "vomiting period" when the child has difficulty keeping anything at all on his stomach.

The mother will find that the average child can retain food if given directly after one of these vomiting spells, and that six small meals a day are more easily retained than three heavier ones. The food should be the same to which the child has been accustomed.

The use of a snug binder about the abdomen is of great comfort to the child. It mustn't be too tight, but the support it gives is helpful to the child who is coughing and vomiting excessively. Drugs should be given only upon the advice of a doctor. To dose a child with patent cough medicines at this time is a dangerous practice.

Morse, Wyman and Hill in their book, "The Infant and Young Child," have this to say of whooping cough: "It is a general principle in medicine that, when a great many different drugs are recommended and used in the treatment of a disease, there is no one of them which is particularly efficient. It can be said, however that in most cases whooping cough is somewhat benefited by drug treatment and the spasms made less severe. There is, however, no drug that will cure whooping cough. Once developed, it must take its course, and all that can be done is to treat the child symptomatically, and, if possible, to diminish the number and severity of the paroxysms. All children with whooping cough should be kept out of doors as much as possible, as children who are out of doors all day undoubtedly do much better with whooping cough than those who are not. The parents of children with whooping cough must be very careful to remember the rights of others, and should keep their children away from other children. They should not take them in public conveyances or public places. Children with whooping cough should wear a conspicuous arm band or some other designation, so that other mothers can keep their children away."

One medium-sized chicken, one-half a pound of veal, six strips of bacon, three hard-boiled eggs, and can of mushrooms, two tablespoonfuls of butter, salt and paprika, chopped parsley, stock and one egg; cut the fowl into small joints, season with salt and pepper, slice the veal thin, line the bottom of a baking dish with this, place on top of it a layer of the chicken, cut the mushrooms in small pieces, add a layer of them, then a layer of hard-boiled eggs, then a layer of thin slices of bacon, a seasoning of salt, paprika and chopped parsley; continue until the dish is full; fill the dish three-quarters full with stock; place a strip of pastry around the edge of the dish, dampen slightly with water, cover with a short pie pastry, press down tightly, make an incision in the center of it, brush with beaten egg, place in a moderate oven and bake for one and one-half hours.

CHERRY ROLY POLY

Roll out pie pastry or a baking powder biscuit dough very thin, sprinkle with sugar, and dot heavily with ripe stoned cherries, roll up like jelly roll, wet the edge of the dough with a little water and press as tight as possible, tie in a floured cloth and steam for one hour; remove from the cloth, place on a hot platter and serve with the following sauce:

One-half a cupful of butter, one cupful of powdered sugar, the yolk of one egg, two tablespoonfuls of sherry flavoring and the whites of two eggs, cream the butter, add the sugar, yolk of the egg, and the sherry wine, place in a double boiler and cook until thick, remove from the fire; allow to cool slightly and add the well-beaten whites of the eggs.

FRENCH LEMON CREAM PIE

Four eggs, seven-eighths of a cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, five tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, beat the yolks of the eggs, add to them the sugar and the lemon juice, place in a double boiler, and cook slowly until thick, stirring constantly, beat the whites of the eggs until stiff, and fold half of the beaten egg whites into the cooked mixture; turn this mixture into a baked pie shell, make a meringue of the remainder of the egg whites and place on top of the pie. Bake in a slow oven for fifteen minutes.

EGGNOG PIE

Line a pie tin with a good pastry, and bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes, remove from the oven and pour in a filling made by mixing two-thirds of a cupful of sugar with two tablespoonfuls of sifted flour and stir in slowly one and one-third cupfuls of scalded milk, beat the yolks of four eggs, and two whole eggs, and continue beating, while adding the first mixture, flavor with one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half a teaspoonful of nutmeg and one-fourth of a cupful of sherry flavoring, or three tablespoonfuls of brandy flavoring.

CHICKEN CHOP SUEY

A. M., Los Angeles, Cal.: Place a small clean chicken in a pot, cover with water, bring to a boil and simmer until tender, lift out the chicken, remove the meat from the bones and cut in shreds, return the bones to the pot, bring to a boil, and boil until the liquid is reduced to one cupful, strain the liquid into a saucepan, cut half a pound of lean fresh pork, uncooked, place in a saute pan, after it has been cut in shreds and fry a nice brown, mix the fried pork with the shredded chicken and half a cupful of white celery, cut in thin slices, twelve dried mushrooms that have been soaked in warm water for half an hour, six thinly sliced water chestnuts, a half a cupful of parboiled bean sprouts, four tablespoonfuls of parboiled and chopped green pepper, a small piece of chopped fresh ginger, and the chicken stock, season lightly with salt, and two tablespoonfuls of soyu sauce, allow to simmer gently for twenty minutes, serve in a border of boiled rice.

Note: Your letter did not state what kind of chop suey you wanted, there are two kinds, the pork and the chicken. If you would like to have the other, let me know and I will print that.

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES

O. L. M., Los Angeles, Cal.: Three dozen cucumbers, nine small onions, one-half a teaspoonful of tumeric seed, or one and a fourth-tablespoonfuls of the powder, one quart of white vinegar, two cupfuls of water, one and one-half cupfuls of white sugar, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of celery seeds, two tablespoonfuls of whole mustard seed, two small sticks of cinnamon, one and a half teaspoonfuls of whole cloves, one and a half teaspoonfuls of allspice, slice the cucumbers around, and the onions, sprinkle lightly with salt, and allow to stand overnight, in the morning drain well, place the spices in a small bag, place the water, vinegar, sugar, in a saucepan, and add the spice bag, bring to a boil, add the cucumbers and onions and boil gently until the cucumbers are tender, place in sterilized jars and seal.

BAKED HAM

No Name, Los Angeles, Cal.: The nicest way to prepare a boiled ham is to cover it with an equal amount of brown sugar and bread crumbs, sticking cloves around the outside edge in the fat, placing it in a baking dish, and basting it with a mixture of sherry wine and water, half and half, baking slowly so as not to dry out too much for one hour, fifteen minutes before removing from the dish, lay slices of pineapple in the baking dish, sprinkle them with brown sugar, dot with bits of butter, and if you do not care to use the sherry, basting the ham with the pineapple juice.

Fill the squash with the mixture, replace the tops and place in a baking pan with a small quantity of water, not enough to cover the squash. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Rabies

Question: William H. O. asks: "When one has been bitten by a rabid dog, and has had the Pasteur treatment, when is one sure that the danger of infection is over? Is it true that there is not a time limit, and that the incubation of that is similar to tuberculosis.

Answer: As near as I have been able to observe, if the symptoms of rabies do not appear within a few weeks, or in three months after the Pasteur treatment, there is no possibility of trouble occurring after a longer limit of time. It is my belief that those cases supposed to be caused by rabies after one or two years from time of bite usually are caused by some other disease such as epilepsy and have no real connection.

Child Always Tired

Q.: Mrs. E. F. writes: "We have a little 3-year-old girl, seemingly in perfect health, but is always complaining of being tired. She cannot walk very far, and her appetite is very poor. She takes orange juice every morning, and a pint of milk during the day, but does not care for much else. What can we do for her?"

A.: Growing children must be given plenty of foods containing calcium, silicon and iron. All of the cooked and raw greens contain these important minerals, and without these the child cannot build bone and nerve cells. If you will have your little girl take a short fruit fast of about four or five days, and follow this with a well-balanced diet including plenty of nonstarchy vegetables, I feel sure that you will soon notice an improvement in her general health. She should be given one-pint enemas of plain warm water at least twice daily during the fast.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Diabetes

Question: W. R. D. writes: "What foods are the cause of diabetes?"

Answer: There are no particular foods which in themselves cause diabetes, which is a disorder of metabolism. In curing diabetes it is advisable to eliminate starches and sugars for some time, but this is also true in the treatment in most disorders. The sugar appearing in the urine is glycogen from the tissues, and does not come directly from the sugar you eat.

Superfluous Hair

Q.: Miss H. writes: "I am troubled with hairs on my face, but cannot afford the electric needle you suggest. I pull the hairs out every day but they keep coming back. I am only 18, and am so ashamed of my appearance. Can't you help me?"

A.: The electric needle is the only sure means of killing superfluous hair, but you will be able to somewhat discourage the growth of these hairs if you will use one of the rosin and wax preparations now on the market. This comes in a cake, and the warmed wax is put on the face where there is hair. As soon as it cools, the wax plaster is pulled off, bringing the hairs with it, and making a much better job of it than you can do with the tweezers. You will need to use this preparation only about once a week to keep down the growth, during which time it will gradually become less.

Vitamins

Q.: Housewife asks: "Are there any certain foods which contain all the vitamins?"

A.: Yes, there are a few foods which are thought to contain all of the vitamins. You will find them in tomatoes, fresh string beans, carrots, oranges, lettuce and milk.

Symptoms in Cancer

Q.: K. L. asks: "Will you kindly state some of the symptoms of a cancer in the stomach? Is there any pain or bloating?"

A.: Sometimes there is a certain amount of pain and some bloating, but in many cases the nerves of sensation seem to be cut off by the growth, and in these cases very little pain is felt. There is usually considerable bloating, especially through the intestines. You may be needlessly worrying over the symptoms of gastritis or stomach ulcer. Do not guess about it, and do not try to diagnose your own case.

BUSINESS GROWS

Since the recent reopening of the Granada Tea Room, on Lafayette Park Place near Seventh street, under the original ownership and management, business for that establishment has increased by leaps and bounds, it is reported.

In addition to a beautifully appointed dining-room, service is featured in an out-door patio of old-world architecture. The Granada caters to bridge parties and banquets, having several private rooms which accommodate either large or small groups.

ACTRESS HONOR GUEST

Accompanied by several popular cinema favorites, Duance Thompson, stage and screen actress, will be the honored guest at luncheon given today at Madame Helene's Paramount Tea Room, near the entrance of the Lasky studios, Melrose and Bronson. The event is one of a series of summer luncheon parties to take place in the tea room, which is a popular rendezvous of screen players, it is reported. Another favored place for cinema players and society leaders, is Madame Helene's Rose Villa at Flintridge.

RED LETTER OCCASION

Definite indication that "college night" in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood tonight, which will witness the premiere of Irving Aaronson's Commanders before the Southland's university folk, has been counted a "red letter" occasion by the younger set, is disclosed by an unprecedented advance reservation list, according to Eugene Stark, managing director.

In Hollywood direct from triumphs at the Club Richman, capital of New York night life, Aaronson's Commanders are here for their first engagement outside of Gotham and Paris.

DANCER RENEWS CONTRACT

Clarice Gannon, youthful tap dancer from Earl Carroll's "Vanities," has renewed her contract with the Pom Pom, Hollywood, and will be featured there in "Hot Sands," current musical revue.

Beginning tonight she will introduce the "Cinderella Strut," new broken tempo dance, with the Pom Pom girls appearing in her support in startling costumes of moonbeam chiffon and rhinestone slippers. She also will offer the "breakaway," new jazz routine and the "Louisiana Stomp."

Charity Needs of Many Jews in Europe Told

The lot of hundreds of thousands of Jewish families in Eastern Europe continues to be a sad one despite the fact that more than ten years has elapsed since the end of the World War, which played havoc with the thickly populated Jewish sections in Poland, Rumania and Russia, according to a letter just received by Irving H. Hellman, chairman of the United Jewish Welfare Fund Campaign, from Louis Marshall, chairman of the joint distribution committee, which has been carrying on the work of relief in Europe since 1914.

The appeal urged Los Angeles Jewry to hasten a remittance to help carry on the work of the organization.

More than $70,000 in subscriptions has been reported to headquarters by workers who are canvassing the Jewish residents of the city, according to an announcement by I. Irving Lipsitch, executive director of the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations, who also is secretary of the local campaign.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

IN THE CITY

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

"Sometimes I wish for Tommy's sake that we lived in the country. Poor lad, he misses so much that I had when I was a child. We youngsters fairly lived in the woods. There was nothing we didn't know about pollywogs and turtles, about the birds that came back to us each year.

"We even knew a good deal about the queer things that lived down in the bottom of our brook. But Tommy is missing all that. He wouldn't know a cocoon or a caddis-fly house if he saw one."

Tommy need not miss all the fun his father had. Real experience with living creatures can be his even if his home stands on a paved city street.

The tiniest back yard will hold a setting hen and later on her family of chicks. A city roof is a fine home ground for pigeons. In any but a very large city it is possible, during the summer months, to keep an observation beehive going full blast.

Such a hive with its sides of glass can stand upon the roof, in a window sill, or on a back porch. The bees will fly miles to gather their nectar and pollen, and they will carry on all their amazing activities under the fascinated gaze of your boy or girl.

From a day's excursion into the country you can bring home enough material to furnish an absorbing interest for weeks. Any one of many books on nature study will tell how to keep cocoons, turtles, newts.

They explain how to make aquaria not only for snails and fish, but also for pollywogs and the aquatic larval forms of insects which, within the glass walls of their captivity, will turn from grubby crawling creatures to the exquisite, iridescent winged forms that rise out of the water to dart along the surface of the brook on summer afternoons.

County Museum Entrance Plans to be Executed

An agreement between the city park board and the County Board of Supervisors was concluded yesterday, whereby the south entrance of the County Museum will be completed, after several months of discussion regarding the ultimate architectural form of the improvement.

The park roadway south of the museum will be curved away from the building to make way for the portico with steps which will be built according to the original plans.

The work has been held up because one member of the Board of Supervisors has contended the city should do extensive parking on the south side of the building, to make what he calls an appropriate setting for the entrance.

MEADOWS WILL PLEAD MONDAY

Past Prison Record May be Factor in Case

Athlete Arraigned Before Superior Judge

Blond Woman Now Sought in Quiz on Frauds

George Rush Meadows, charged with twelve counts of grand theft in an indictment returned by the grand jury last Tuesday, will face the additional legal jeopardy of having previously been convicted of a felony, which will increase the severity of his penalty should he be convicted, it was disclosed at the District Attorney's office yesterday.

This announcement was made by Dist.-Atty. Pitts shortly after Meadows was arraigned before Superior Judge Shaw. The defendant was ordered to return to court on Monday to enter his plea.

It also was announced that investigators under Blayney Matthews, acting chief of the bureau of investigation, are searching for a blond woman who once used the name of H. B. Hopper, for questioning in connection with Meadows's asserted frauds.

Officers assert that the woman's signature appears on a trust deed involved in an asserted questionable real-estate deal.

Meadows is accused of having obtained more than $36,000 from John E. Osborne, president of the Valhalla Memorial Park Association, his wife, and daughter-in-law for expenses in obtaining a commutation of sentence for John R. Osborne, a son of John E. Osborne, who is confined in a Federal prison.

PLEAS SET IN GIRL'S DEATH

After being arraigned before Superior Judge Shaw yesterday charged with the murder of Delphine Walsh, Hollywood dancer, who died following an asserted illegal operation, Dr. P. S. Traxler and Dr. R. S. Lanterman, Glendale physicians, were ordered to return to court next Monday to enter their pleas.

The girl, who died in a Glendale hospital a month ago, is asserted in a deathbed statement to have named the two physicians as the ones who performed the operation.

SHOWHOUSE DEAL NOW COMPLETE

Franklin Gives Word on Chinese Theater on His Return from East

Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theaters, returned from his New York conference with William Fox today. One of the matters that took Franklin to New York was the closing of the Grauman's Chinese Theater deal whereby Fox West Coast Theaters will operate this Hollywood motion-picture theater starting with "Hollywood Revue," next Thursday.

With Joseph M. Schenck of the United Artists, and Sid Grauman, Franklin and Fox completed all the details and the Chinese Theater definitely becomes a part of the holdings of the Fox national circuit, being the western end of the chain which has the Fox Roxy as its eastern terminus.

Franklin says that there will be no change in the policy of the theater as instituted by Sid Grauman, who has been acting in an advisory capacity with the new owners for the coming engagement of the "Hollywood Revue." Neither will there be any changes in the theater staff with the exception of the appointment of H. B. Wright as house manager.

Last Rites for Eagle Rock Man Will Be Today

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. today at the Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale, for Clarence L. Suits, native Southern Californian, who died Wednesday at his home on Maywood avenue, Eagle Rock. Rev. Earl W. Haney and Rev. Lawrence Dystra will officiate. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Born at Santa Monica, September 17, 1883, Mr. Suits attended Stanford University from 1904 to 1907, when the death of his father resulted in his withdrawal. He engaged in railroad work in Mexico, later transfering to the Palo Verde Water Company at Blythe. For eight years prior to his death he was secretary-treasurer of the Eagle Rock Hardware and Furniture Company. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, Al Malaikah Temple, Knights Templar and the Kiwanis Club of Eagle Rock.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Annette Suits, he leaves his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Suits of Santa Monica, two sisters, Charlotte and Helen Suits of Santa Monica, and a brother, Elihu Suits of Ventura.

Complete plans for the Greater Mount St. Mary's College will call for an administration building, hall of liberal arts, the science and music hall, St. Mary's residence hall and chapel, and the gymnasium. Plans also call for tennis courts, basket-ball grounds and a large swimming pool.

FIGHT WARM AT HEARING OF BUS PLEA

Request from Sawtelle and University Districts Taken Under Advisement

At the conclusion of a hearing on the application of the Bay Cities Transit Company for permission to extend its service in the Brentwood, Sawtelle, Westwood and University districts and purchase independent lines, the Board of Public Utilities yesterday took the plea under advisement, pending further inspection and investigation of the needs of the localities.

The hearing waxed warm at times, representatives of the West Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, Sawtelle, supporting the application on the ground that transportation facilities in Sawtelle are poor and that adjoining districts are not properly served; also that no service is contemplated for connection with the new University of California this fall.

Opposition to the application was made by representatives of the Pacific Electric on the ground that extensions and rerouting will affect its service. The Greater Pico Boulevard Association objected to the plan on the ground that it means additional busses on Pico street, to which objection was made. The Montemar Vista syndicate members said that the plan will stop any proposal they have in mind for a bus service between their tract and Culver City.

HUMANE BOARD DEFENDED

Commission President Calls Council Committee Inquiry "Farce" in Letter to Mayor

In an angrily worded communication to Mayor Cryer, Mrs. Warren McIntyre, president of the Humane Animal Commission, replied yesterday to the charges against the administration of the Humane Animal Department made Wednesday in a report by the City Council's Health and Sanitation Committee on an investigation it conducted. The report, which was unanimously adopted by the Council, averred that several members of the commission are not fit to hold their positions and recommended a reorganization of the commission.

The Council committee based its report on a series of public hearings on charges made against the department by a group of citizens. In her letter to the Mayor, Mrs. McIntyre characterized the committee hearings as "an absolute farce, in so far as ascertaining the facts are concerned." She charged the committee with "failing to exercise the most common rules concerning evidence."

Mrs. McIntyre charged further that most of the witnesses called were discharged employees of the department.

The citizens' committee which caused the investigation to be made by the Council committee was characterized by Mrs. McIntyre as "a group composed of an evidently disgruntled commissioner who was not reappointed by you last year, by another ex-commissioner who has fought the department through all the years, according to my information, since she left the department, and by an employee of an organization whose head has been outspoken in her dislike of Mr. Robeson, the general manager of the department."

The letter concluded with an assurance to the Mayor that an investigation by him of the administration of the department will be welcomed.

There is little likelihood, however, that the Mayor will pursue the matter any further. He never has believed that the Council committee had any legal right to conduct the investigation it made and he reiterated this view yesterday. He said he has not yet received a copy of the committee's report but he implied that when he does receive it he has no intention of following its recommendation of a reorganization of the commission.

TWO MORE JOIN EQUITY CRITICS

'Actors See No Occasion to Intrude Here

Norma Talmadge Defends Status Quo

Charles Rogers Declares Film All Right

Two well-known screen actors last night joined the rapidly growing army of film players who have declared themselves to be strictly against the so-called intrusion of Actors' Equity Association into the motion-picture industry. They are: Norma Talmadge, who has been in pictures for fifteen years, and Charles (Buddy) Rogers, juvenile player.

NORMA TALMADGE.

Miss Talmadge says she can see no reason for the recent action of the association. The question of long hours, which Equity seems to consider important, is not a matter for controversy among the picture actors, she states. The players receive salaries commensurate with the work they do, she says.

Rogers believes that Equity has made this attempt to enter the picture industry because so many of the stage people have deserted New York, former stronghold of the association, and new fields for its power must be sought. The statement follow:

NO SIMON LEGREE

"During the fifteen years I have been in motion pictures I have seen no Simon Legrees. I have yet to learn of one injustice being done an actor. I have yet to discover why Actors' Equity Association, of which I am a member, should attempt to force itself into the motion-picture industry.

"In vain I have attempted to learn what specific wrongs Equity seeks to right.

"The subject of hours apparently is the only specific one Equity leaders are able to discuss. But to us of the motion-picture industry the question of hours is a matter of indifference. The players who receive the larger salaries think nothing of working as the exigencies of production demand, and this is right. The lesser people in the casts are paid for the overtime they work.

ARTICLE QUOTED

"When the Central Casting Bureau was formed by the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Equity, the official organ of Actors' Equity Association, published an article which read in part as follows:

"'In other words the producers have gone out of their way in order to insure the existence of something which benefits thousands of persons other than themselves. That the producer will find some return via the greater efficiency route goes without saying, but this benefit is quite negligible when compared with the expense the producer voluntarily assumes and the untold good he bestows upon his army of employees.

"'Equity sincerely congratulates the Association of Motion-picture Producers upon their high-minded principles which led them to inaugurate this blessing for the film extras, in the survey for which the producers were assisted by the co-operation of the Industrial Welfare Commission of the State of California.'"

REGARDED INTRUSION

Equity is an intruder, according to Rogers. He has observed from the very start what he terms "unjustified" efforts of Equity to fasten itself upon the motion-picture industry.

"Equity wants a foothold in Hollywood for what seems to me a very obvious reason. Hundreds of stage people have deserted New York, stronghold of Equity, and Equity seeks new fields.

"Hollywood does not need Equity. Actors in pictures have always been treated fairly and have never seriously complained. We were all right before Equity came to Hollywood. We are all right now.

"It is quite possible that Equity might increase the cost of motion-picture production to such an extent that the cost of motion-picture entertainment would be very materially increased."

Fall of Bastille to be Observed

Arrangements were announced last night for a celebration by the French Colony of Southern California of the fall of the Bastille, at 2 p.m. Saturday July 13 at the T. V. G. Hall, 936 West Washington street, terminating with a ball in the evening.,

The committee includes Consul Henri Didot, president, Henri Brunache, Claude Ducos, Louis Roy, Marcellin Eyraud, Jr., Maurice Fog, Jean Grandjean, Andre Rouseyroul and A. Tourneux.

UNITED VETERANS SET NEW CONVENTION DATE

Russell Malcolm MacLennan of Hermosa Beach, departmental commander of the United Veterans of the Republic, yesterday announced that the organization's convention is to be held at Culver City on August 22, 23 and 24, next. This is the third and final date-setting, it was added. The first selection conflicted with the date of the national convention and the second choice was protested by members in northern counties who also wished to attend the State convention of the American Legion, just preceding the Culver City conclave.

WEST VIRGINIANS CALLED

All the West Virginians of Southern California are included in a final call to the annual picnic reunion in Sycamore Grove, all day tomorrow. Vice-President H. P. Maxwell will be in charge and will open county registers, supply hot coffee and silk badges. The register of the West Virginians may be seen at the office of the Federation of State Societies in the Rosslyn.

POLICE IN PARK MARATHON

Chase Half-Dressed Man Reported to Be Tallman

Hollywood police went marathon last night, when they received a wild report that W. L. Tallman, the Patty murder case fugitive, was at large in Griffith Park, running scantily attired. Detective Lieutenants Trosper, Warren and Page of the Hollywood division drove at top speed to the park, where they sighted a man running through the bushes in the dark. The three detectives abandoned their car to pursue on foot. Over hill and dale they galloped, puffing like three grampuses, until they had covered a three-mile course, mostly mountainous. They fired a few shots over the fleeing man's head to stop him, but only produced more speed on his part.

Finally they surrounded their quarry, who proved to be Robert Kirk, 721 Crockett street, training for The Times marathon race. He said he thought hold-up men were chasing him. The three lieutenants are convalescing.

NEW OFFICE STRUCTURE ANNOUNCED

Height-Limit Building to be Erected Immediately at Fifth and Beaudry

Immediate construction of a $3,000,000, height-limit office building on a $1,000,000 site, the southeast corner of Fifth and Beaudry streets, was announced yesterday by Duncan A. Killem, heading a syndicate of Los Angeles financiers.

The structure, with its thirteen stories, a basement and two sub-basements, will have a capacity of 435,000 square feet. This will make it the second largest office building in the city, exceeded only by the Subway Terminal Building.

The site is 216 feet on Fifth, 180 feet on Beaudry and eighty feet on Loomis streets.

Plans and specifications have been completed by Theodore R. Jacobs, architect, and the contract awarded to the William Simpson Construction Company. Paul Jeffers will be the structural engineer and Ralph Phillips the mechanical engineer in charge of construction.

The architecture will be straight-line modernistic, with reinforced steel and concrete forming the background for the terra cotta exterior. There will be nine high - speed elevators, ventilating system and iced drinking water for all offices.

The plans call for two large corner stores and five shops on the ground floor. There will be 524 offices above the mezzanine floor and room for 500 cars in the basements.

Associated with Mr. Killem in the syndicate are Thomas M. Christie, Robert E. Law and several others.

The site, valued at $1,000,000, was acquired recently by the syndicate, O. A. Vickery, president of the real-estate corporation of the same name, handling the deal.

Woman Given $2000 Award Over Beating

Because Mrs. Atha E. Caldwell was disabled for two years as a result of her fight with Mrs. Rose Schuster and Mrs. Rebecca Sweetow, she was awarded damages of $2000 by a jury in Superior Judge McLucas's court yesterday.

Mrs. Caldwell's husband Earl will get $1500 because he was deprived of his wife's domestic services for two years, as a further provision of the verdict.

Mrs. Caldwell testified that she had been beaten by Mrs. Rose Schuster and her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Sweetow, after an altercation in front of the Schuster store in Pasadena.

Mrs. Caldwell said she was passing the store one day when Mrs. Schuster accosted her and in a loud voice asked her why she didn't pay her bills.

Mrs. Schuster in combating the claims of the plaintiff filed a counter-charge asking $50,000 from Mrs. Caldwell, who had sued for $100,000.

NEGRO YOUTH JAILED AS BURGLAR SUSPECT

Raymond Ousley, 23-year-old negro who gave his address as 557 South Central avenue, yesterday was booked on suspicion of burglary as the result of an asserted attempt he made to force an entrance into the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Figlow at 5704 Fountain avenue. According to the police report, Figlow and his wife early yesterday arrived home to catch Ousley in the act of opening a rear window of the house. Figlow overpowered him and turned him over to the Hollywood police.

ASSISTANCE PLEA MADE FOR 'TRIANGLE' VICTIMS

Until a month ago, for the sake of her little boys, she had tried to be happy and had made the best of things. Then the "other woman" loomed and her husband went away, leaving her penniless with the children, one 4 years of age, and the other 6.

The furniture of their little three-room cottage was being bought on monthly payments and last week the credit company sent a van out and took everything back except a cot. Yesterday the woman's plight came to the attention of Mrs. Catherine Ell, whose name and charitable activities are known to the patients of the Olive View Tubercular Sanatorium in Van Nuys.

"There's a way out for this worthy little mother who does not wish to sit idly back and depend on municipal charity," said Mrs. Ell, "if a few people will bear her in mind before discarding their old furniture or selling it to the junk man. With a few odd pieces from here and there she can make two rooms livable and rent them, and that will enable her to keep herself and the two little ones provided with bread —and a roof." I'll see that she gets them."

Mrs. Ell lives at 1324 West Seventeenth street and her telephone number is ATlantic 6574.

MORE BUILDING PLANNED BY FOX

Movietone City to Get New Studio Structures

Work on $2,000,000 Erection Program Starts Soon

Paris Sidewalk-Cafe Style Will be Carried Out

Immediate construction of fourteen additional buildings at Fox-Movietone City, Beverly Hills, has been ordered by Winfield Sheehan, vice-president and general manager of the Fox Films Corporation, to accommodate the huge increase in production of all-talking pictures scheduled for the coming year.

More than $2,000,000 will be involved in the additions to the film city, which already represents an outlay of several millions.

The new structures will include a music hall, a cafe seating 500 persons, a wardrobe building, another double sound-proof stage, a Fox-Movietone engineering building, a dressing-room building, a scene dock and five bungalows of unusual design and purpose. The music hall will be the home of the Fox-Movietone symphony orchestra.

SIDEWALK CAFE

The Cafe de Paris, modeled after the sidewalk cafes of the French capital, will accommodate 275 persons in its main dining-room. Thirty persons in each of two private rooms, and more than 150 persons on the veranda, which will be covered and surrounded with removable glass panels.

The dressing-room building will be more like an apartment-house. It will contain sixteen star suites, consisting of lounging-room, dressing-room and bath. Although the exterior of this, as well as those of all other buildings in Fox-Movietone City, will have a Spanish motif, the interior of each apartment will be finished in accordance with the wishes of the star who will be its occupant.

ROGERS'S BUNGALOW

Work already has been started on an especially designed bungalow for Will Rogers. It will be called the Hacienda and will be typically old California in design.

First construction work at this 140-acre city started on July 28, of last year.

Police Asked to Hunt Girl Who Fled From Home

Police of the missing persons detail yesterday were asked to search for Mary Elizabeth Mang, 17 years of age, who is reported to have disappeared from the home of her grandmother at 1341 West Ninety-first street, last Sunday, and has not been heard from since.

MARY ELIZABETH MANG.

According to the girl's mother, Mrs. Catherine Layer of San Luis Obispo, who was spending the week-end at the West Ninety-first street address, the daughter went to bed as usual on Saturday night. Arising early Sunday, the grandmother and Mrs. Layer were unable to find either Mary or a note explaining her disappearance. Juvenile authorities broadcast a description of the girl.

Maps Will Show Probable Cost of Street Work

An exhibit designed to acquaint the public with the costs of street opening and widening projects was authorized by the City Council yesterday in passing a resolution introduced by President Bonelli which asked that the City Engineer be directed to prepare such an exhibit.

The resolution points out that the public is desirous of obtaining advance information regarding the amounts of assessments for prospective street widening projects, but that it is impossible to give any practical estimates since the payments for land condemned are fixed by referees.

The theory is advanced in the resolution that if the facts concerning a number of completed street widening projects are graphically presented to the public, they will have some means of getting an idea of the probable cost of future projects. Therefore the City Engineer was directed to prepare large wall maps of not less than six completed street-widening projects, showing the land condemned, the lots assessed and the amount of the assessment in large figures inside the lot. The maps are to be hung in the outer office of the Bureau of Engineering.

JERSEYITES WILL RALLY

President C. Newton Miller announces the annual June picnic rally for the New Jersey people will be held in Bixby Park, Long Beach, all day Sunday with basket dinners at noon. Tourists from that State are urged to attend.

RELIEF OUSTERS ARE PROTESTED

Discharge of Two Charities Heads Stirs Storm

Plan to Eliminate Causes of Indigence Killed

Noted Psychiatrist Calls It Poor Economy

merous cases now "out of the red" and self-supporting.

TYPICAL CASES

One was the case of an Italian from Alabama, married, family. He had made good money in Alabama. Investigation showed that he had had the most expensive Italian wedding ever celebrated there. Here he is "on the county." Why? They found he had a 9-year-old intellect and spoke poor English, but was otherwise husky and honest. A job was secured for him under an Italian foreman, who was told of the limitations which had kept this man from holding jobs. That family is now solvent, self-supporting, self-respecting.

Another was the case of two people with children—husky and able but unstable of judgment. The man could cook. It was arranged that all should work at simple employment, the department handling their money, with the promise that when they earned and saved enough they would be sent to the country, where the man could cook in a camp. They saved $160 in quick time and carried out the program to everybody's satisfaction.

Again there was a colored domestic with two children. She was honest, had no vices . . . but had a 10-year-old mind. The boy was an imbecile, but the girl was of first-rate mentality. So the mother was given a job under supervision, the boy put in an institute, and the little girl in charge of the family. They, too, are now "out of the red" and off the county. The little girl proved a whiss of a "manager."

REAL ECONOMY

Dr. Orbison feels that this sort of work is real economy from every angle, and the modern scientific way of dealing with such problems.

When asked for his side of the matter, Supt. Holland said that, owing to the many complaints reaching the Board of Supervisors against the welfare division, it had been decided the organization was "top-heavy." In the interests of efficiency it was deemed better to place this welfare division directly under his, the superintendent's, control, with the aid of his deputy. Hence the removal of the two welfare division workers. He added that no charges are preferred against the officers eliminated.

As to Dr. Orbison's clinic, it was, he said, inaugurated without his consent. When he discovered it in operation he advised the welfare division superintendent that he considered the department not properly equipped to handle it at this time. It would be necessary for the department to have psychiatric social workers trained to study such cases, he said. Besides this, the department always had access to the mental clinics at the General Hospital, when it appeared treatment for mental cases was indicated. Therefore, owing to lack of funds to employ the workers during the year, he had advised the welfare division to discontinue the work for the present. The fact that the work continued after this instruction was given is a surprise to him, he added.

Nevertheless, the fact that the action was taken with no apparent investigation has caused dismay among the numerous societies interested in watching the work Dr. Orbison was contributing to this most vexed of problems. They consider it unnecessarily arbitrary and not in the best interests of the economy and efficiency as claimed. The salaries saved, according to Mr. Holland, total about $7000 a year. The cost of maintaining the indigent families reinstated by Dr. Orbison's clinic would in time greatly exceed that amount, judging by the results achieved in the six months of the experiment. All the outdoor relief workers, says Dr. Orbison, have been enthusiastic about the results obtained in so short a period.

SHAW HEARS PROTESTS

A committee of welfare workers headed by Dr. Orbison and Dr. George Parrish, City Health Officer, called on Supervisor Shaw yesterday to protest against the removal of Miller and Miss Wooley. Dr. Orbison said that the removal of the two is unfair both to them and to the hundreds of indigent poor being helped to become self-sustaining by scientific occupational direction conducted with the co-operation of Miller and Miss Wooley.

Supervisor Shaw replied that he was "standing by" the head of the county charities department, W. H. Holland, and that if Mr. Holland is not satisfied with the workings of the outdoor relief department under Mr. Miller, the latter will have to be removed. By abolishing the positions both workers can be removed without the necessity of a civil service hearing, Supervisor Shaw said.

Miller stated that an effort had been made to find charges to prefer against him and that the action of the board in abolishing his position proved no such charges could be substantiated.

With Dr. Parrish and Dr. Orbison in the interview with Supervisor Shaw were John Steven, former secretary of the Civil Service Commission and now with the Municipal League; L. M. Storey, and Miss Marguerite Holdskom of the Los Angeles Anti-Tuberculosis Association.

BOULEVARD PROTEST HEARING DELAYED

Hearing of appeals against the confirmation of the assessments for the widening of Beverly Boulevard between Alexandria and Western avenues was again postponed by the City Council yesterday, the next hearing date being set as July 18.

FIRE APPARATUS ACCEPTED

On recommendation of Fire Chief Scott, the Fire Commission yesterday accepted three pieces of fire-fighting apparatus furnished by the Seagrave Corporation at a total cost of $36,910 under a recent contract. The apparatus consists of three combination chemical and hose cars at $8500 each and one triple combination pumping engine at $11,410. The equipment will be distributed among new stations in the city.

M.-G.-M. BUYS RIGHTS TO BIG PLAY

Miriam Seegar Likely to Become Paramount Star; Fox in Record—Signs Seventeen Actors in Day; Jocelyn Lee to be With United Artists

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

"The Sin Flood," one of the most widely discussed dramas of the present generation, has been purchased by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. It will be made as a talking picture, and while no director has yet been definitely assigned, we predict that either William De Mille or Lionel Barrymore will film it.

"Syndafloden," or "Sin Flood," was written by Henning Berger, noted German author. It was filmed several years ago by the old Goldwyn organization, with Helene Chadwick, and, I believe, Richard Dix, in the leading roles. At the time it received widespread notice, the story being a remarkable one from dramatic and literary standpoints, with its stars achieving triumphs.

MIRIAM SEEGAR WINS PARAMOUNT CONTRACT

Now that talking pictures are the vogue it looks as though the blond stage actress, Miriam Seegar, is to become a Hollywood citizen.

MIRIAM SEEGAR.

In fact Jesse L. Lasky announced yesterday that Miss Seegar has been signed to a long-term contract with Paramount, with the possibility of becoming a star.

Miss Seegar recently came to Hollywood from London and was assigned the role of the other woman in Adolphe Menjou's first all-dialogue film, "Fashions in Love." Her work in that production resulted in her contract.

Although Miss Seegar is best known for her stage and screen work in England, she is a native of Indiana. When 13 she joined a summer Chautauqua, a group of singers traveling over Redpath bookings, offering selections from Victor Herbert, Gilbert and Sullivan, etc. After three years she went to New York, where her work in musical shows brought her to Al Woods's attention. He placed her under contract and sent her to London, where her first work was the leading feminine role in "Crime." She divided her time threafter between the British stage and screen until she came to this country a month ago.

O. P. Heggie In It

O. P. Heggie, noted figure of the English and American stage, who has scored such a decided success in talking pictures under his contract with Paramount, has been assigned the role of Louis XI in the screen's first original operetta, "The Love Parade."

The actor's first part for Paramount was as the lawyer in the Jeanne Eagels starring picture, "The Letter."

Fox Has Busy Day

Jack Gardner established a casting-office record yesterday at Fox studios, where he is now acting as casting director, by signing no less than seventeen important players for various pictures.

Harry Mestayer was signed for a leading role in "The Girl From Havana," while other players signed were Myrtle Stedman and Peter Gawthorne for "Sunny Side Up;" Dot Farley, Ilka Chase, Laura Hamilton, Gordon De Main and Jed Prouty for "Why Leave Home?" Capt. A. H. Calvert for "Salute;" Ulrich Haupt for "Frozen Justice;" Stuart Erwin, Douglas Gilmore, Reginald Dandy, Evelyn Hall, Harry Schultz, Hilly Bletcher and Lelia Karnelly for "Married in Hollywood."

Jocelyn Lee With United

Jocelyn Lee, according to word just received from United Artists, has been added to the all-star cast of "Three Live Ghosts," which Thornton Freeland is directing.

JOCELYN LEE.

The actress began her stage career in Ziegfeld Follies, and subsequently appeared in numerous stage productions before a motion-picture contract brought her to Hollywood.

She is to play a feature part that of Lady Leicester, in the United Artists picture.

Georges Renevant at R.-K.-O.

That engaging young actor, Georges Renevant, who has been winning the feminine members of his audience in "Let Us Be Gay," at the Mayan with Edna Hibbard, is to go into talking pictures.

Renevant has just been signed by R.-K.-O. to play the featured role of Gen. Estaban in "Rio Rita," according to word received from the studio.

Hedda Hopper Engaged

Back from her jaunt in New York, Hedda Hopper has been secured by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to play the part of Mrs. Collingswood Stratton in John Gilbert's new talking picture, temporarily titled "Olympia," which Lionel Barrymore is directing.

HEDDA HOPPER

Miss Hopper recently finished an important role in Norman Shearer's "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," and it is said that her voice records so well that she is certain to win new laurels on the screen.

O. P. Heggie In It

O. P. Heggie, noted figure of the English and American stage, who has scored such a decided success in talking pictures under his contract with Paramount, has been assigned the role of Louis XI in the screen's first original operetta, "The Love Parade."

"IDLE RICH" BOTH HUMAN AND FUNNY

Loew's State Offers Good Talkie and Stage Show That's Diverting

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The "great middle class" family will accept no financial courtesies from the scion of the very wealthy family, even though he be related to them by marriage, and thereby hangs the plot of "The Idle Rich," the new all-talkie comedy at Loew's State Theater.

Here is a very clever piece of entertainment, and you will make no mistake going to see it. The weekly grind programs seldom bring anything as diverting. And as the feature attraction it is well supported and supplemented by the stage show, for which Fanchon and Marco are to be credited. Their new idea is called "Contrasts," and it justifies the title flashily.

Some several years ago "The Idle Rich" was a stage play known as "White Collars." No need to recall that it ran for two or three years at the Egan Theater, establishing the long-run record for this vicinity. The play was bound to come to the screen some time. It is just as well that the adaptation was delayed until the day of the dialogue film. Unquestionably, this is a story that requires conversation.

William De Mille directed the production and Conrad Nagel, Bessie Love and Leila Hyams are featured players, though no less prominent than any of these is Robert Ober in the role of Cousin Henry, which he created on the stage.

Miss Love takes the primary popular honors, as the flapper sister of the girl who weds affluence. She invests her performance with no end of life, and is apparently due to "carry on" with the success she won in "Broadway Melody." Many are the laughs in this new picture for which Bessie is responsible. Her closest rival is Ober.

I find Nagel a trifle too sveite in the character of the hero. It seems to me that the stressing of the eyebrow mustache and marceled hair is unnecessary. It is a question whether he is to blame for this. There is an overemphasis on refinement in the depicting of the young millionaire both in the character-drawing, and also in the handling of the situations in which he is placed.

That is one thing that the picture suffers from—unnecessary exaggeration. It is visible also in the overdone boudoir scene, where Nagel as the husband trips over valises, and finds the closet supershallow. Still even this exaggeration justifies itself by being very amusing.

There is plenty of fun in "The Idle Rich." It is the sort of picture in which people see themselves, their relatives and their friends. That is what made the Edith Ellis stage play, and in many respects the talkies is its equivalent, if not at times a trifle better. Certainly, the play is much like looking into the window of somebody's house at things really happening, and has the charm of being a sort of slap at conventional social prejudices.

Leila Hyams is pleasing as the girl, and James Neill and Edythe Chapman act capably. Paul Kruger, in some effective work, and Kenneth Gibson are the others. There are a few very bad lapses in the recording in this picture, during changing of reels or records, or what-not, and distinctness is lacking in livelier bits of conversation, notably in Miss Love's hysterical scene. This should, by all rights, be the big high spot of the production, but loses on account of defects, I think, mechanical.

The dancing of the eight old folks—jigs, clogs, buck and wing, and even acrobatics—proves a riot in the stage presentation. Old-fashioned dances weren't so far away from the modern in their pep, as the cavortings of these enthusiastic veteran steppers, with their nimble feet, go to show.

Costumes are highly contrasting in the Fancho and Marco offering. The Parisian ballet number, so-called, is one of the snappiest. The show closes with a demonstration of the Broadway. Individual performers are not so clever, except for a number in which Rube Wolf takes part with an eccentric comedienne. Lloyd George talks in the Movietone news reel.

In Line With "Broadway Babies"

Alice White

Is featured in the all-talking, singing picture which will usher in the Hillstreet Theater's first Saturday screen and stage show opening.

"JONESY" CAST ANNOUNCED

"Jonesy," the successful comedy bit which is to be Franklin Pangborn's next attraction at the Vine Street Theater, is assured of a brilliant and capable cast. This production, said to be Pangborn's greatest fun-fest, will open at the Vine Street the 23rd inst.

James Spottswood, known locally and in New York for his character portrayals, will be the father in the play. Jane Winton, prominent screen star, and a favorite with Vine Street patrons, will again have a leading role. Pauline Garon, petite blond, has been assigned a part consistent with her high spirits and acting ability.

"Jonesy," himself, will be portrayed by Kenneth Gamet, whose appearance and mannerisms, it is said, have won him favor wherever he has appeared. Charlotte Stevens will be Jonesy's sister. Others in the cast are Helene Sullivan, Carlyle Moore, Walter Bonn, Anne Anderson and Cyr Forrest.

Due to preparations necessary for subsequent Vine Street productions, Franklin Pangborn will not appear in the cast of "Jonesy," but will officiate as producer only. "The Ghost Train," now in its fifth week, closes the 22nd inst.

'BROADWAY' PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

Biltmore Schedules Gala Reception for Universal Production

Final preparations for the gala western premiere of "Broadway" at the Biltmore Theater on Monday evening, following the closing of "Show Boat" Sunday, are well under way and it is anticipated that the opening event will prove one of the really brilliant ones seen recently.

Enacting the principal roles in Universal's $1,500,000 picturization of the stage play by George Abbott and Phillip Dunning is a brilliant cast, headed by Glenn Tryon, Merna Kennedy and Evelyn Brent. Robert Ellis supplies the villainy in the plot, while Thomas E. Jackson and Paul Porcasi, from the original New York stage production of "Broadway" are seen in the film, which was produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr., in the roles they created. Others who figure prominently in the cast include Otis Harlan, Leslie Fenton, Betty Francisco, Marion Lord, Arthur Hausman, George Davis and Edythe Flynn.

Among the earliest names of celebrities purchasing tickets to the "Broadway" premiere Monday night at the Biltmore are those of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Joan Crawford, the three Brox Sisters, Sid Grauman, Sue Carol, William Seiter, Laura La Plante, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Edwards, Carl Laemmle, Carl Laemmle, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bergerman, Lois Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Lowe, Thomas E. Jackson and Otis Harlan.

Marilyn Miller Leads Warners Night Matinee

The midnight frolic to be held at Warner Brothers' Theater on Saturday night, in connection with the showing of "On With the Show," the first all-natural color screen musical comedy in its last ten days, has had an unusually heavy advance sale of tickets, according to the management.

A large cast of stars of both stage and screen will be present for the event, headed by Marilyn Miller, beautiful musical comedy star, who has scored in many of the outstanding successes on Broadway, such as "Sally," "Sunny" and "Rosalie." Frank May, who made a success of being master of ceremonies at the first of this series of late shows, has by popular demand been chosen to officiate in that capacity again.

In the cast of stars that will perform at this gala event are such names as Monte Blue, Armida, Patsy Ruth Miller, Alexander Gray, Harry Gribbon, Grant Withers, Alice Day, Lee Moran, Marion Byron, Tommy Dugan, Myrna Loy and Georgie Raft. There will also be the Larry Ceballos Girls, in some new dance routines by Larry Ceballos and Seymour Felix, who are working together in staging this performance.

BAGGAGE SMASHER PROVES AMBITIOUS

VICTOR McLAGLEN ASPIRATION INSPIRED BY LEATRICE JOY IN "STRONG BOY"

A white collar and a slick haircut don't mean happiness for a man reared to the hearty ways of those in overalls. A misfit can never go onward and upward.

Some such truism as this is the motivating force for the film, "Strong Boy," starring Victor McLaglen, which flashed across the screen of the Boulevard Theater yesterday.

The husky Victor is a happy-go-lucky baggage smasher, romping his way through the great open spaces of a metropolitan railroad terminal, when his best girl (Leatrice Joy) convinces him he should be ambitious.

Victor isn't inclined to do much about it. His is not an aspiring temperament, but then, quite by accident, he saves the life of the child of the vice-president of the railroad. Promotion hoves in sight. Victor chooses, as his first climb up the ladder, the post as head of the lost and found bureau.

Leatrice shakes her head. Such an ambition! Another lucky break wins him a second promotion. Leatrice picks the job this time. Victor must become a traveling passenger agent. This is terrible for the big man of the open spaces. He sneaks into a fireman's cap and job, which almost loses him Leatrice when he gets a chance to make a hero of himself once again by thwarting a daring train robbery. He is such a hero that Leatrice accepts him and his overall ways for better or worse.

While the story is far from a strong one and no doubt has been considerably slashed in the cutting-room or the conference chambers, a capable cast mounts the production. In addition to Mister McLaglen, and Miss Joy, Clyde Cook, J. Farrell McDonald and Slim Summerville have roles from which they extract the last ounce of acting energy. John Ford directed.

A feature of the new Boulevard bill is the presentation of the riotous Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy talking comedy, "Unaccustomed As We Are," lately seen at the Carthay Circle Theater. On the stage are the Boulevard Band and the dancing girls in a special revue.

Chinese Picks Conrad Nagel to Head Show

Conrad Nagel will act as master of ceremonies at the farewell midnight matinee tomorrow of "The Broadway Melody" at Grauman's Chinese Theater, to be marked by gala festivities celebrating the five months' record-breaking run of the production and Sid Grauman's prologue. The last performance of the entertainment combination will be staged Sunday night.

In officiating as ceremonial master, Nagel will introduce Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, widely known Hal Roach comedians, who will be special guests of honor, and the star guests extraordinary, including Charles King, Anita Page and Bessie Love, the trio of stars of "The Broadway Melody," who will participate in the impromptu presentations on the stage.

Other stage and screen celebrities will be presented as surprise features on the program of extemporaneous entertainment. Many of stageland and screendom's elite are planning to attend the frolic in compliment to Sid Grauman and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. "The Broadway Melody" has left all records for the run of a talking picture in Southern California far behind, it is said.

LAKE SELECTED

In a contest held by one of the larger eastern universities, Arthur Lake and David Rollins were selected as representatives of what college youths should be. Several others were prominently mentioned, but Arthur and David were far ahead when the votes were counted. Arthur's characterization of "Harold Teen" in the picture of that title, was chosen as the best portrayal of young America yet made.

"Eternal Love" Scheduled for United Artists

Daring in conception and spectacular in treatment is the ending of "Eternal Love," initial film directed by Ernst Lubitsch with John Barrymore starring, which is scheduled to follow "Alibi," at the United Artists Theater Wednesday.

The film is a highly emotional drama, set against the Swiss Alps, and Barrymore has the romantic role of a dare-devil mountaineer, whose reckless exploits are the talk of the community. The combined work of Barrymore and Lubitsch is said to be one of the most interesting films in the careers of both.

Camilla Horn plays opposite the star in the role of Ciglia, whose delicate beauty and sweet personality alone can rule the incorrigible mountaineer. Mona Rico is the vamp who lays a clever trap for Barrymore. Victor Varconi, remembered for his portrayal of Lord Nelson in "The Divine Lady," has a new type of role as the other factor in the love quadrangle.

On the same program with "Eternal Love," Clark and McCullough make their screen musical comedy debut in "Belle of Samoa," in which the team is cofeatured with Lois Moran.

Horton Stars in Talking Comedy

"Ask Dad," a short talking comedy by Joseph Jackson and starring Edward Everett Horton, now playing at the Million Dollar Theater, has been voted by the eastern trade papers as the brightest short subject made to date, it is reported. The piece was produced by Educational and is playing here in connection with the feature picture, "Syncopation."

"Thunderbolt" Achieves High Ranking as Product of Sound Medium

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

The "Thunderbolt" that struck down into the Paramount Theater yesterday is an extraordinary talking picture. The initial excursion into the new medium of a director and a star who together have provided more than their share of electrifying moments in the silent films, it evidences a mastery of the technique of audibility, which has not been equaled, it seems to me, in any play yet written directly with it in mind. Here are suspense, pathos, thrills, surprises and a characteristic mordant humor, blending and flowing smoothly in an aural-visual arrangement which keeps the listening spectator on the qui vive for the one hour and twenty minutes it takes to unfold. Where the ear leaves off, the eye carries on; and always one's senses vibrate to the news that here is great drama.

The director is Josef Von Sternberg; the star, George Bancroft. Ever since "Underworld," the first product of their joint abilities, the enthusiasts of cinematic melodrama have waited for another vehicle which would cram that one's sweeping, primitive wallop into an evening's entertainment. Neither "The Drag Net" nor "The Docks of New York" succeeded in the effort, but I believe "Thunderbolt" does. More, even, than succeeds; its climax, unlike that of "Underworld," grows naturally out of a sequence of events; its mechanics are all but invisible.

"Thunderbolt" is the nickname of a killer who was born James Lang. The picture is concerned with his betrayal by a woman whose love for him has died, and the hours he spends in the death-house of a prison, awaiting execution. It is upon these latter scenes that the director has lavished his genius for highlighting; for bringing out, ruthlessly, remorselessly sardonically, the way of a man condemned to die. "Thunderbolt" Jim Lang asks no quarter and gets none—on the screen; but the onlooker knows the stark beauty of his final sacrifice of vengeance, and wishes him, in the end, godspeed.

The potent power of music to create moods is not neglected in this picture. Its inclusion is, in the main, logical; only once, I thought, when the "high-yaller" girl sings at the Black Cat Cafe, is the relentless progress of this moving drama impeded for the sake of a mere tune. In contrast, the introduction of the familiar "torch ballad"—with the bitter implication of its "There she goes, my old gal; there he goes, my old pal, and here am I, broken-hearted"—takes rank as a stroke of sheer brilliance. It was pleasant, too, to discover that overture called "Poet and Peasant" in this grim house from which, according to the warden, nothing ever goes out; for it is possible we have heard the last of it now.

Bancroft's debut as a celluloid speaker is little short of a triumph. Unlike so many of our stars, he retains his exact status in our ears that he has in our eyes. Richard Arlen is responsible for a splendid portrayal of the boy on whom the killer's revenge so nearly falls. Fay Wray makes a convincing Ritsie, the girl loved by both. In the distribution of honors, one can but touch on the names of James Spottswood, Eugenie Besserer, Tully Marshall, Robert Elliott, Fred Kohler, E. H. Calvert, Mike Donlin and George Irving. Additionally, it must be said that Marshall's warden is a triumph of characterization; and that those scenes between Arlen and Miss Besserer as his mother achieve a naturalness seldom duplicated in a make-believe world.

Also—anticlimactically, perhaps, but essentially—one must mention a cat and a dog. In the absence of program credit for the former, I may mention that the dog's name is King Tut. Here, gentlemen, are troupers.

"Thunderbolt" was written by Charles Furthmann and Jules Furthman, with screen play by the latter. Dialogue is credited to Herman Mankiewicz.

"A Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic," with Eddie Cantor, is being offered currently as a short subject. It succeeds rather astonishingly in losing nine-tenths of the Cantor personality. There are also a Paramount News, a musical divertissement and a Milton Charles organ solo or two. But "Thunderbolt" is the whole show.

Noted Actress to Appear in Local Theater

Ethel Barrymore will be seen in Los Angeles for a season of four weeks beginning July 15, it was announced, appearing with her New York cast in "The Kingdom of God," by C. Martinez Sierra, and "The Love Duel" by Lili Hatvany. The name of the theater in which Miss Barrymore will appear will be announced later. The announcement is made by Lee Shubert.

The two plays are of marked contrast, it is said, and will prove ideal selections. The original announcement of Miss Barrymore's decision to tour the principal cities of the country was made in December.

ONCE PERT MING TOY IN DIFFICULT ROLE

Fay Bainter's last appearance in Los Angeles was in "East is West," as the mincingly dainty, but pert Ming Toy. Her first was as a child actress of 5, with but two words to utter, at the Burbank Theater in the Oliver Morosco regime. Later this led to a full-fledged stock engagement for this talented native daughter.

As Valerie, in the A. H. Woods novelty, "Jealousy," now playing at the Mason Theater, Miss Bainter has by far the most taxing and difficult role of her entire career.

ROBARDS IN NEW ROLE

Jason Robards, favorite of the screen and stage, who is just completing one of the featured roles in Irvin Willat's all-talking production "The Isle of Lost Ships" for First National, has just been re-signed by this company for another leading role in support of Irene Bordoni in her first production for Vitaphone.

Gun Case Bail Set at $10,000

Clifton M. Shirley, former Los Angeles police officer, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ambrose yesterday on charges of possession of a machine gun. His preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday and bail fixed at $10,000.

Shirley's arrest Wednesday night was a sequel to the arrest a week ago of Mrs. Myrtle Cohen on suspicion of counterfeiting. The former police officer, who is local agent for the California Arms Company of San Francisco, is asserted to have sold the machine gun to Morris Cohen, in whose apartment police say they found it on the 6th inst. when they raided the place and discovered, according to their report, $800 in assertedly counterfeit $20 bills.

BUS FARES REDUCED TO NUMEROUS POINTS

Substantial reductions in fares between Los Angeles and the numerous points on its system were announced yesterday by the Motor Transit Stages, operating a network of lines throughout Southern California. Authorized by the State Railroad Commission, they aim at stimulating summer travel by motor stage during the excursion season and will remain in effect until December 1, next. The new rates constitute a reduction of practically 25 per cent, officials of the company stated.

ACTRESS PLANS TO WED SOON

Anita Stewart Back From Stage Tour

She's Glad to Be Home Again
Mrs. Lucille Murphey, George Converse and Anita Stewart

GLAD to be back in Southern California after a successful stage tour of the country, Anita Stewart, stage and screen actress, arrived on the Golden State Limited yesterday with the announcement that she soon will be the wife of George Converse, successor to the New York Converse family millions.

With Miss Stewart as she stepped from the train was her husband-to-be, who declared himself the manager of the screen favorite on her recent tour.

"The marriage probably will take place in Hollywood some time next month," Miss Stewart stated, "but until then I'll rest up a bit from my recent exertion."

Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Lucille Murphey, sister of Miss Stewart and widow of the pilot of the ill-fated air liner which crashed with an army plane at San Diego recently, were among the welcoming delegation that met the couple and their party as they stepped from the limited.

GIRL DIES AFTER POOL RESCUE

Child Mysteriously Stricken While Swimming at Beach Plunge

After having been saved from drowning, Katherine Molinore, 13 years of age, of 8515 Tobias street, Van Nuys, died yesterday at her home, less than a day later. The girl had been taken with some sort of seizure Wednesday afternoon while she was swimming in the Crystal Plunge, and sank to the bottom.

She was rescued from the water and sent home, where she died yesterday of causes to be determined by the Coroner. An inquest is ordered for 1 p.m. today at the Van Nuys Funeral Parlors.

SQUIRREL RABIES VICTIM

Boy Bitten by Animal That Attacked Children and Dogs Receives Pasteur Treatment

Severely bitten by a grey squirrel, which ran amuck while suffering from rabies and bit another child, chased a little girl into her home, bit several dogs and chased a cat up a tree before it was clubbed to death by a neighbor, Lloyd Reeks, Jr., 11-year-old son of Dr. Lloyd D. Reeks, of 1800 South Westmoreland Boulevard, is being given the Pasteur treatment and the city health department is making a check in the neighborhood.

It is the first case of a squirrel with rabies to come to the attention of the health department. The brain of the animal was examined in the laboratory by Dr. F. B. Gage, veterinarian in charge of rabies control, who announced that the squirrel had been afflicted with the dread germs.

Young Reeks, according to the report made to the health department, was standing in the driveway of his home, when the squirrel, apparently a pet from some home in the neighborhood, ran up his clothing and bit him on the left hand, cutting an artery and then bit him twice on the scalp and escaped.

A little girl in a residence across the street ran screaming into her home when the animal chased her. Another girl, whose identity is being sought by the health department, was reported bitten. Dogs and cats were bitten by the squirrel, which apparently tried to attack any moving thing. Becoming aroused, people in the neighborhood gave chase and one man killed it with a club.

Dr. Reeks is personally administering a double dose of the Pasteur treatment for rabies to his injured son.

The squirrel ran amuck and was killed Tuesday. Discovery that it was afflicted with rabies was made yesterday.
